New Chessman Death Date Set; Capital Fight Looms

Execution On May 2 Due; He'll Appeal

A ninth Caryl Chessman execution date of May 2 was set by a judge in Los Angeles yesterday.

Chessman at San Quentin Prison said today that an appeal will be carried to the California Supreme Court against such action by a court during the period of a governor's reprieve.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown granted the convict-author a 60-day reprieve on the last date set for his execution, Feb. 19. Superior Court Judge Clement D. Nye set a new May 2 date yesterday against contentions by attorneys George T. Davis and A. L. Wirin that this was an attempt at judicial incursion into powers of the executive.

STICKS TO POSITION

Chessman said today that he sticks to his position that the court fight for a new trial seems to be ended, but that this is "not a matter of litigation involving the merits of my own case."

"A serious question of legality is involved which goes beyond my personal fate," he said. "If this precedent is allowed to stand it could have serious repercussions later.

"The matter should be decided by the state Supreme Court as the ultimate judicial voice in this state."

HEARD NEWS

He heard the news of Judge Nye's action over the prison radio just before 4 p.m. yesterday, Chessman said.

Chessman took issue with a recent statement by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk that the Chessman case has cost the state more than a million dollars.

"Figure the cost of keeping a man in San Quentin at $2,000 a year—or allow for inflation and say $3,000," he said. "That means they could look after me 33 years for $100,000."

Bill Ending Death Penalty Introduced In Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP) — San Quentin Prison's gas chamber was closed down temporarily and the legislative stage all set today for debate on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's plea to repeal the death penalty.

In rapid order:

1. Six Democratic senators yesterday introduced the administration's bill substituting life imprisonment, without possibility of parole, for capital punishment. It would spare 24 men awaiting execution, including Caryl Chessman.

2. Brown signed temporary reprieves for three prisoners scheduled to die this month. He indicated, at the time he spared Chessman for 60 days, that he would declare a moratorium on executions while the Legislature decided the death penalty issue.

HEARING SET

3. The Senate Judiciary Committee set a hearing on the abolition bill for 9 a.m. next Wednesday. Chairman Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville) said it will be a one-day hearing, even if it takes until midnight.

An Associated Press poll of the 15 members turned up only three who would commit themselves for the bill. It's generally expected that no more than six would support it. Regan gives the measure scant chance.

The governor's reprieves extended the lives of:

Veron Atchley, 43, who shot and killed his estranged wife in Gridley.

Brubaker was due to die March 10, Hooten March 18, Atchley March 25. Their dates were moved to April 1, 8, and 15, respectively.

Arraignment Of Kendrick Slated Today

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — James Kendrick, 29-year-old San Quentin Prison escapee, was to be arraigned in municipal court today on charges of killing a California Highway Patrolman.

Sheriff Frank Bland said Kendrick confessed yesterday that he shot and killed Patrolman Richard Duvall, 26, on Feb. 23, when the officer stopped his speeding car on a lonely stretch of U.S. Highway 66, about 11 miles east of Victorville.

Bland said Kendrick told him he thought Duvall was pursuing him because of a market holdup he had pulled earlier. Bland said Kendrick admitted the holdup and said he abandoned the stolen car he was driving shortly after the slaying.

Bland said Kendrick faced more questioning, particularly about his association with Raymond A. Reese, 23, of Riverside, and Reese's girl-friend, Sherlyn Jones, 21, who were arrested last Saturday at a Lake Tahoe, Nev., cabin they shared.

Reese admitted he was involved in some of Kendrick's crimes, but denied any part in Duvall's killing. He and his girlfriend were held on suspicion of burglary and robbery.

Reese and the girl implicated Kendrick as Duvall's slayer. Kendrick, who escaped from San Quentin Dec. 7, was captured in a gun battle Monday night at a San Luis Obispo motel.

Mill Valleyan Seeks Schultz Post On Board

J. Walter Blair, self-service laundry executive and engineer, today announced he will seek to unseat Mrs. Vera Schultz of Mill Valley from the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Blair, 56, lives at 81 Cascade drive, Mill Valley, and has been a resident of Marin 16 years.

He castigated what he called "control by group" on the board of supervisors.

WANTS CHANGE

"After many years of residence in Marin County and observation of its political picture I have come to the conviction that it is time for the voters of Marin, and particularly of the 3rd Supervisorial District to end this type of government in our county," he said.

Blair, who will take out nomination papers for the June 7 election, said, "It is time to put a stop to control of the board of supervisors by a tight little combination guided by the not-so-hidden hand of one member."

Commenting on the county civic center controversy, he said the voters should repudiate "the cynical flouting of their will."

'FANTASTIC'

He said the board has found a "way to circumvent the people and the normal legal procedure for capital expenditures by building piecemeal this fantastic development."

Blair said Mrs. Schultz has been "the emotional advocate, the bleeding heart of this scheme. She and her complacent followers . . . have committed the taxpayers to the present spending" of more than four million dollars.

Calling that only the down payment, he said he envisions "a year-by-year drain on current revenues which will amount . . . from 10 million to 15 million dollars."

EYES TAXES

Blair, for years an engineer with the Arizona Edison Co., and former member of the staff of the War Production Board, also appraised the county tax rate.

He said that while the assessment roll "had gone up 23.27 per cent over the fiscal year 1956-1957, the tax rate in (recent years) has been reduced by (only) seven cents, or 3.04 per cent."

Referring again to Mrs. Schultz, Blair said, "It was this

Marin Loses N. Bay College; State Chooses Cotati Site

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin lost the North Bay State College yesterday. The state Public Works Board voted unanimously to locate it at Cotati, Sonoma County.

In a two and one-half hour session, the board argued mostly about what part of Sonoma County should get the college. It was evident almost from the start of the meeting that Marin, Napa and Solano Counties had small chance.

Marin's position was stated by State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael on behalf of a large Marin delegation. He presented a resolution from the new City of Novato urging establishment of the college on the Freitas' Ranch, just outside the city limits. Then McCarthy presented engineering studies prepared for the Marin County Industrial Development Foundation which showed that cost of the 220-acre site would be substantially less than the state had figured.

According to state figures, the property would cost $7,055 per acre to purchase and develop. Engineers for the foundation estimated this cost to be $5,775 per acre.

McCarthy also pointed out that state Department of Education figures showed that 1,700 more students would be served by the Novato site than any other of the 11 sites proposed.

NEAR ITS LIMIT

After McCarthy's presentation, however, little more consideration was given the Marin proposal. The board decided that students south of San Rafael probably would attend San Francisco State College, rather than the North Bay college.

This decision was made although Dr. J. Burton Vasche, chief of the Division of State Colleges, said San Francisco already has 9,000 students, that the limit of its enrollment is 10,000 and "it is not physically practical to develop the college further without tower construction."

Only further reference to the Marin site was made in a joking remark by board chairman John Carr. Carr disclaimed any prejudice toward the Marin site "even though six of my 10 grandchildren live there."

TO REDUCE SITES

Also rejected was a plan by State Sen. Luther Gibson of Vallejo that the best Marin-Sonoma site be selected and then compared with the best Napa-Solano site.

Instead, the board first voted to reduce the 11 sites being considered to three. These were all in Sonoma County.

The Cotati site, known as the Benson property, is about one mile east of the town and adjacent to the Rohnert Industrial Park development. Also considered were the Old Adobe

Firemen Watch While Resident Douses Blaze

Terra Linda resident John T. Wolfe Jr. brought a $2,000 fire in his home under control with a garden hose today, while Terra Linda firemen observed from a distance because the home is outside the Terra Linda Community Services District.

Wolfe, his wife, Mariin, and 19-month-old daughter, Marta, were awakened by the crackling of flames in their home at 901 Las Pavadas avenue, shortly before 6 a.m. Wolfe saw the flames in the kitchen through the open bedroom door. He leaped out of bed and ran for the garden hose while his wife called for firemen.

The telephone operator put the call through to the Marin County Fire Department in Woodacre at 6 p.m. The county fire department actuated the Terra Linda fire horn to call out the volunteer Terra Linda department.

Fourteen volunteers responded to the alarm, rushing to the Terra Linda firehouse, which is just two blocks from the Wolfe home. But the fire truck did not roll, reported Fire Chief Richard Flaherty, because the home is outside the district.

The county fire department dispatched Fire Warden Jack Baken alone from its Santa Venetia station in belief the Terra Linda department was fighting the fire, said County Fire Chief Charles R. Reilley. Baken arrived at 6:08 a.m.

Terra Linda firemen directed him to the Wolfe home. He found Wolfe battling the blaze with the garden hose—and doing a good job of it.

"The fire was under control when I arrived," reported Baken.

But the flames charred much of the kitchen and smoke damaged adjacent rooms, with the loss estimated at Beken at $2,000. He said a defective clock-radio apparently set fire to a curtain to start the blaze.

J. PLUVIUS TRYING, BUT NOT ENOUGH

It's trying, but so far not quite hard enough: To rain, that is!

A trace of rain was reported across Marin early today but there wasn't enough of the wet stuff to mark even the first digit on the measuring stick.

But there is hope: The Weather Man predicts it will be cool and wet through tomorrow with a 90 per cent chance of rain and southerly winds up to 14 to 28 miles an hour.

Engine Fails; Ike's Plane Down Safely

PARAMARIBO, Surinam (UPI) —President Eisenhower's Air Force jet plane developed engine oil trouble approaching this former Dutch colony today and had to land on three engines.

The landing was completely normal, and only the President was told of the difficult by the crew 15 minutes before the plane set down at Zandery airfield at 12:50 p.m. The rest of the passengers were unaware of the problem. (See story on page 2.)

Police Car Cracks Up During Chase

A San Anselmo police car crashed into a stone wall on the Miracle Mile today after skidding off rain-slicked pavement while pursuing a traffic violator.

Patrolman George Alberigi, 26, said he had been following a car northward along Sir Francis Drake boulevard in San Anselmo which was passing other vehicles on the right side.

He had just turned east on Red Hill avenue (Miracle Mile) in pursuit of the car when the patrol car went into a skid, turning completely around at least twice before crashing into the wall—only about 50 yards east of the Hub intersection.

The violator did not stop.

Alberigi struck his head on the dashboard and was later examined at Marin General Hospital, where he was found to have only minor bumps and bruises. Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani estimated damage to the patrol car at $500.

Woman To Serve On Probation Unit

Mrs. Robert G. Anderson of Sausalito will replace Mrs. Desmond Mactavish as a member of the Marin County Probation Committee.

Juvenile Court Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court today announced appointment of Mrs. Anderson to succeed Mrs. Mactavish, who did not accept reappointment.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of three, lives at 205 Valley street in Sausalito. Her husband is a director of the Marin Municipal Water District.

A long-time resident of Marin, Mrs. Anderson attended Tamalpais High School. She is a member of the Sausalito Women's Club and a former member of the Mothers' Club of Marin Catholic High School.

Other members of the probation committee are Roy Ibach of Mill Valley, chairman; Mrs. C. A. Kircher of Tiburon; Rev. Howard R. Swartz, Novato; C. C. Webb, San Rafael; John L. Rockwell, Fairfax, and John E. Cahill, Ross.

Recreation Commission Asks $97,175 Budget

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will be asked to earmark nearly $100,000 during fiscal 1960-61 for Marin parks, beaches and recreation.

The Marin Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday afternoon adopted a tentative budget of $97,175. This figure compares with $31,585 allowed by the board for the current fiscal year.

The current figure was increased, however, to $76,540 when funds were transferred from the county's unappropriated reserve fund to pay for the Tiburon Naval Net Depot annex which is planned for a shore and boating park.

Actually, the commission asked $70,396 in the fiscal 1959-60 request, and this figure included some $20,000 in contemplation of the net depot annex purchase.

The present request, which soon will come before the supervisors during deliberation of a preliminary budget, includes as the largest single item, a request for $40,000 for land acquisition along Richardson Bay. This area is now earmarked for development under a $300,000 loan from the state.

The Richardson Bay request is part of an $85,200 capital outlay request which also includes $20,000 for land acquisition reserves; $13,500 for improvements at the net depot annex; $7,000 for dressing rooms and parking at Drake's Beach; $4,000 for acquisition of 8.93 acres at the Frank's Valley military reservation (also known as Muir Beach Overlook), and $700 for minor improvements at Miller Park at Nick's Cove.

Other items in the park and recreation proposal are $7,000 for salaries, and $4,975 for maintenance.

7 Prelates Named To College Of Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII today designated seven prelates of the Roman Catholic Church to be cardinals. They included the first Negro, the first Japanese and the first Filipino ever elevated to the College of Cardinals.

Their elevation will bring the membership of the church's highest body to 85, the largest in history.

The others chosen by the pope were two Italians, a Frenchman and a Dutch prelate.

The Negro to be elevated is Bishop Laurian Rugabwa of Rutabo, Tanganyika, in East Africa.

The Japanese is Archbishop Peter Tatsuo Doi of Tokyo. Archbishop Rufino J. Santos of Manila is the Filipino.

The others honored by the pontiff are Archbishop Bernard Jan Alfrink of Utrecht, Holland; Archbishop Joseph Lefebvre of Bourges, France, and Most Rev. Luigi Traglia and Most Rev. Antonio Bacci, both Italian members of the Vatican Curia.

They will be elevated to the purple at a pre-Easter consistory to be held on March 28.

It will be the third such consistory Pope John has called since he became supreme ruler of the church 16 months ago. Each time he has enlarged the college, underlining his determination to bolster the high senate of the church to meet modern problems and to reflect the great growth of the church in recent years.

Previously the College of Cardinals had been limited to 70 members for more than 350 years.

Marinwood Fire Dept. Employs Second Man

The staff of the Marinwood Fire Department climbed to two men Tuesday when the Marin County Fire Department hired Donald Boulle to take over the 24-hour duties of a fire-fighter.

For the past two years, Boulle, a native of Michigan, has been stationed as an airman second class at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Demolition Of Quake-Torn City Ordered

AGADIR, Morocco (UPI) — Crown Prince Moulay Hassan today ordered rescue work to stop in the pestilence-threatened ruins of Agadir and demolition work to begin at once. This meant death to any of the living trapped in the rubble.

Rescue teams of many nations were picking through the ruins in hopes of finding a few more living in the devastated city where 5,600 to 6,000 persons were believed to have met death when two earthquakes hit Monday night.

The threat of widespread epidemic among the living was so great the crown prince ordered the drastic move.

Thousands of persons were feared still trapped in the ruins of what had once been a beautiful and thriving resort city on the southern Atlantic coast of Morocco. Tourists in unknown numbers were believed still buried.

How many of the trapped were still alive may never be known. Rescue squads have worked through the night, listening for the faint calls for help that sometimes resulted in life for persons buried alive for three days.

But as they worked huge rats swarmed through the city were sewer lines were broken, threatening to spread disease among the refugees and the relief workers themselves.

Only 808 bodies had been recovered, recorded and buried. A few dozen others were reported removed and buried by their families without being recorded.

Divers To Seek Galleon

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Marine explorers from Texas and Mexico this summer will seek to locate a sunken 16th Century Spanish galleon off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The two groups will include 60 skin divers from Texas.

Last summer a Mexican-government- sponsored expedition recovered 10,000 items from an English merchant ship in the Yucatan area. More than 40 sunken galleons are believed to be in the channel area north of Cuzumel.

Dam Contracts Signed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State and federal authorities have signed agreements to assure construction of Black Butte and New Hogan dams in Northern California.

In contracts signed yesterday, the state agreed to underwrite irrigation water costs in case local agencies don't sign up for it within seven years. The federal government agreed to finance flood control.

Finch Called Liar

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A prosecutor says Dr. R. Bernard Finch's "whole soap opera was a lie."

And the society surgeon's mistress and co-defendant, Carole Tregoff, the prosecutor said, is a "latter-day Lady Macbeth" who was the "aggressor and instigator" in the slaying of the doctor's wife.

Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, have been on trial since Dec. 8, charged with conspiracy and murder in the shooting of Barbara Jean Finch, 36, last July 18. The prosecution continues its final summation today, and the case may go to the jury tomorrow.

De Gaulle In Algeria

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (UPI) —President Charles de Gaulle arrived by air today on a surprise visit to Algeria.

De Gaulle's plane landed at 9:40 a.m. in Telergma, 25 miles west of Constantine. After reviewing an honor guard, the president left by air for an unannounced destination, believed to be somewhere in the battle-torn region north of Constantine.

Officials said De Gaulle probably will spend a day in each of Algeria's three military districts. They said his movements will be cloaked with "exceptional secrecy."

Train Wreck Probed

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—Squads of investigators tried today to find what caused the collision of the Santa Fe Chief No. 2 streamliner, a San Francisco to Chicago passenger train, and a two-trailer truck rig loaded with 7,000 gallons of crude oil.

It happened at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday at the marked Austin Hageman road crossing on quiet San Joaquin Valley flatlands seven miles northwest of Bakersfield.

Fourteen persons died and 72 were injured in the crash and fire.

Of the 109 aboard—76 passengers and 33 crewmen—only 24 escaped injury. Of the injured, some seriously and a few critically, 44 remained hospitalized today.

Paar Back in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar is back in town and ready to do at least two things: return to his NBC show Monday and appear before a congressional committee if necessary.

Paar arrived by plane yesterday night from San Francisco after a trip to the Orient.

Motherwell Trial

DOWNIEVILLE (AP)—The administrator of Mrs. Pearl Putney's estate testified yesterday that the estate totaled "$43,895.31—approximately."

The estimate came from George H. Goodrich, a Washington, D.C., attorney, who said Mrs. Putney's stocks and bonds would be worth $38,942 at current market prices.

Goodrich testified at the trial of Larry Lord Motherwell, 42, who is accused of murdering Mrs. Putney, 72. She was last seen alive Aug. 15, 1958, when the state says she and Motherwell registered at a Marysville motel.

Boys Wreck Church

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two 9-year-old boys went to church yesterday—and left it a wreck.

They overturned tables, chairs and desks; they tore heaters and drapes off the walls. They broke the glass in nearly 60 windows and six doors. They tore up song books.

Why? The boys told police they didn't know why although they admitted doing the damage. They said they don't attend that church — or any other. The boys were turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Meanwhile, The Cop . . .

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "But, your honor, my car won't go 45 miles an hour."

Ben E. Fenwick, charged with going 45 in a 35-mile zone, made that plea yesterday. Judge Joseph Wapner decided to find out for himself.

With his bailiff at the wheel, Judge Wapner took a ride in Fenwick's 1954 auto. Fenwick was right. The car wouldn't do 45.

Liner's Turbine Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A turbine broke down on the Matson liner Monterey early today off the coast of Southern California, forcing the vessel to reduce speed from 21 to 5 knots.

A Matson spokesman here said the ship left San Francisco yesterday with 365 passengers aboard. The breakdown occurred shortly after midnight as the vessel was cruising off Santa Barbara.

The skipper of the Monterey, Capt. M. C. Stone, emphasized there was no emergency.

IKE HEADED HOME AFTER 'HIT' TOUR

Brief Session With Argentina's Chief Brings South American Trip To Close

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Eisenhower flew northtoward home today after a triumphant four-nation South American tour marked by huge, enthusiastic crowds and a smattering of tiny anti-U.S. demonstrations.

The President flew to Buenos Aires in his trusty Columbine III after a 21-hour stay in Montevideo, capital of neighboring Uruguay. He held a brief last meeting at the Buenos Aires airport with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi, then took off in his Boeing 707 jet for an all-day flight to Puerto Rico and three days of rest before going on to Washington.

U.S. Air Force officials said the flight plan at the time of departure called for a refueling stop in Paramaribo, Surinam, after a flight of nearly six hours. That schedule would put the President in Puerto Rico late this afternoon.

Eisenhower was smiling and in obvious good humor as he said goodby to President Frondizi. They had a final 15-minute talk aboard the sleek jet just before it took off.

Just before leaving Uruguay, Eisenhower and President Benito Nardone issued a joint "Declaration of Montevideo" repudiating all types of antidemocratic actions. They pledged their adherence to the principle of non-intervention in the affairs of other American countries and agreed to use their efforts to increase economic, social and cultural cooperation.

Then the two presidents gave each other a hearty abrazo—the South American bearhug embrace—and Eisenhower boarded his plane, waving and grinning.

The cheers of millions along the way through Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay kept Eisenhower smiling and in high spirits from the minute he reached South America on his historic goodwill mission 10 days ago.

Shrugging off the only hostile display that amounted to anything, in Montevideo yesterday, he told Uruguan President Nardone that the jeers of leftist students did not bother him a bit.

The acrid fumes of tear gas fired by police at one group of demonstrators brought tears to Eisenhower's eyes, and spray from disciplinary fire hoses blew across the path of his open car, but he was not ruffled.

The President coughed slightly for a moment. He sat down in his bubbletop car, wiped his eyes and within a minute jumped to his feet, again waving greetings to the enthusiastic crowds—estimated at 400,000—who drowned out the two small groups of hecklers.

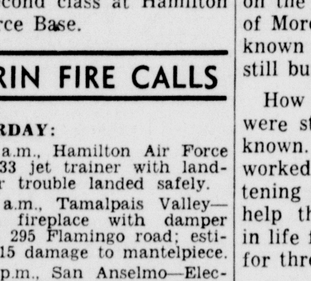

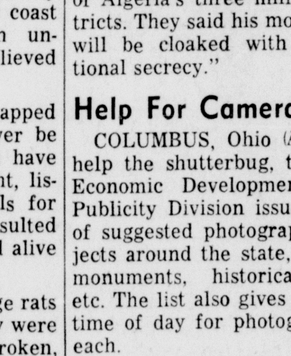

The President's doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, examined Eisenhower's eyes after the tear gas episode and reported no injury.

U.S. Secret Service agents, who had their fingers crossed when the President left Washington Feb. 22 on his 15,560-mile trip, breathed a sigh of relief that the tour went off without major trouble.

Everywhere the President brought out the biggest crowds that South America has ever seen, and the roars of "Welcome Ike" drowned out the few shrill cries against the United States.

GOP Solons Plan Fight For Tax Cut

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Republican legislators decided yesterday to work for a cut of 55 million dollars a year from state taxes.

They proposed to balance the budget by borrowing money to pay for state construction.

The Democrats and Gov. Edmund G. Brown propose a balanced budget with no tax cuts, and no further borrowing.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 46-32 in the Assembly and 28-12 in the Senate.

The GOP plan, reached at a closed caucus, would involve reduction in state income taxes; exemption of medicine, eyeglasses and similar items from the sales tax; a reduction in the minimum corporation franchise tax; a change in the cigarette tax to make it deductible from federal income taxes.

They proposed to use some of the 145 million dollars in state construction bonds, authorized by the voters in 1958 but not sold, to pay for construction of hospitals, colleges and other state buildings.

ON OREGON BALLOT

Johnson, Symington Officially In Contest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) are official candidates now for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The two presidential hopefuls backed into the race yesterday with separate announcements they would not withdraw their names from the May 20 Oregon presidential primary. Both still avoided any direct statements that they are candidates.

Johnson said he was too involved in the Senate filibuster on civil rights to give any attention to outside political matters. But he said he has "no plans to act in any way on the Oregon action."

This meant he would not file an affidavit with the Oregon secretary of state to take his name off the ballot. Oregon law requires that all nationally recognized candidates be named. They can withdraw only by filing a statement disavowing candidacy.

Sen. John F. Kennedy's name (D-Mass.) put into the Oregon contest by the state secretary of state, will stay there along with those of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.).

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party nominee, already has arranged to withdraw.

Kennedy's decision yesterday not to contest with Gov. Edmund G. Brown for California's 81-vote delegation evidently reflected the Massachusetts senator's feeling that he doesn't need to undertake desperation tactics to win the nomination.

In Sacramento, Brown welcomed Kennedy's decision and renewed his promise that a convention delegation pledged to the governor will seek "the best and most electable presidential candidate."

Prosecutor Loses In Move To Halt Chessman Movie

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy, who prosecuted Caryl Chessman, has filed suit to halt movie theater showings of a film about the case.

Leavy filed the suit yesterday against the producer of the film, "Justice and Caryl Chessman." The prosecutor said he appeared in the movie only on the condition it would be shown as a television news documentary.

After a brief preliminary hearing, Superior Court Judge Ellsworth Mayer refused to issue an injunction to halt movie showing of the film, made at San Quentin Prison.

Prosecution Continues Its Case Against Hendrickson

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—More testimony was heard today in the trial of John R. Hendrickson, 40, San Rafael manufacturer accused in the embezzlement of $3,714,610 from a Long Beach bank.

Seven prosecution witnesses testified yesterday in the courtroom of U. S. District Judge Aexander Ricks.

Mrs. Muriel Holderness, a friend of Hendrickson, said he told her George Hewlett, 40, a cashier at the former Long Beach National Bank, was his partner and that they were associated in "30 or 40 ventures."

Hewlett, who committed suicide last May 2 and left notes implicating Hendrickson in the embezzlement, was said by Miss Margaret Hendricks, a switchboard operator, to have received three to five telephone calls a day from Hendrickson between mid-1958 to March, 1959.

Miss Hendricks testified that prior to that, 1956 to mid-1958, Hendrickson called Hewlett at least twice a week.

Rights Marathon Near Crucial Point

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were signs today the Senate's big civil rights battle is moving toward a more crucial stage.

A reappraisal of the situation was under way among backers of civil rights legislation.

Compromise talk was in the air—not so much compromise with Dixie forces opposing any legislation as among the factions with differing ideas of what form of legislation should be enacted.

Some clarification of ideas as to what it is possible to enact appears to be a necessary preliminary to any united effort to crack the Southern filibuster, now in its fourth day of a nonstop Senate session.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was reported to be pressing for a compromise.

The 35 Republican senators were called into a party conference for a checkup on how firmly they want to stick by the administration's proposals. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the party floor leader, said he would ask everyone to speak his mind, including whether he wants some compromise.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), a leader among senators who described themselves as liberals, told a reported that "several of us have been talking together in an effort to agree on something stronger and more workable" than the administration proposals as to voting rights.

He said the talk was of an alternative, not of a compromise, and that it was too early to disclose any details now.

Agreement On Sewage Pact Believed Near

A contract approved by the Corte Madera Sanitary District board for enlargement and operation of Ross Valley Sanitary District's Greenbrae sewage treatment plan was delivered to the Ross Valley board last night.

Ross Valley directors may authorize execution of the agreement at an adjourned meeting today. They will convene at 5:30 p.m. in the district office in San Anselmo.

Final approval of the pact would end protracted negotiations which the two boards started in 1956. Corte Madera directors Tuesday night authorized Harry Black Jr., board president, and William A. Adam, district secretary-manager, to sign the document.

Among other things, it calls for the Corte Madera district to pay $395,000 as its share of the cost of expanding the Greenbrae plant, where Corte Madera sewage is processed. The district would seek voter approval of a bond issue to raise the amount. Full payment to Ross Valley would be due within one year of contract approval.

2 Dead, 7 Injured In Chicago Blast

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (AP)—Two persons were killed and seven others injured today when an explosion ripped off the second floor of a laboratory at the Sinclair Refining Co. plant.

Two of the injured were trapped in a mass of twisted metal and brick for about an hour before being rescued by firemen.

The cause of the blast was not determined immediately

THIS DISTRESS CALL REALLY GOT ACTION

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ten policemen came with sirens screaming to search for Colette Barrett's lost cat.

Miss Barrett, a model, reported yesterday the animal was wearing a diamond choker and gold leash worth $10,000.

The cat, a domestic named Irwin, was retrieved from the top of a palm tree. He was wearing only a $20 collar.

Miss Barrett admitted she fibbed.

"But how else could I get five squad cars to look for poor little Irwin?" she said.

A detective said there's no law against telling whoppers to Miami Beach police.

San Rafael Sets Tree Spray Job

Shade trees lining San Rafael streets are going under the spray gun for the removal of scales and insects starting Monday at 6:30 a.m., announced Norris Rawles, public works director.

City owned trees will be sprayed, "wind permitting," from 6:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

Areas to be worked in are:

Monday: C street and vicinity; Tuesday: Center street and Forbes avenue; Wednesday: Fifth avenue, Greenfield avenue, Miracle Mile and Mission avenue.

Novatan Gets Phone Firm Directorship

George L. Tocalino, assistant vice president and manager of the Novato branch of the Central Valley National Bank, yesterday was elected to the board of directors of the Western California Telephone Co.

In addition to serving on the board, Tocalino will be a member of the finance committee.

Tocalino, a native Californian, was educated at Santa Clara University and University of San Francisco, where he received his bachelor of law degree. Prior to his association with the Central Valley National Bank he was with the Bank of America.

He and his wife, Esther, and their three daughters plan to move into a new home under construction at the end of Vineyard way in Novato.

Edward W. Vodden, chairman of the telephone company board, said Tocalino's election to the board will aid the company in plans for expansion in the Novato area.

Body, Strapped In Plane Seat, Found In Bay

A young woman's body, still strapped to an orange and silver airplane seat, was pulled ashore at Marin Rod and Gun Club pier yesterday afternoon and tentatively identified as that of Mrs. George B. Watson of Eureka.

She and her dentist husband left Oakland in a Cessna plane on Jan. 24 and vanished. They had been married about two months.

Hamilton Air Force Base officials today renewed a search of San Pablo Bay for the plane and the body of Dr. Watson.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton said the age of the woman, in her late twenties, and the tweed coat found on the body correspond with those of Mrs. Watson. The color of the missing plane was also orange and silver.

Relatives of Mrs. Watson were to arrive in San Rafael today to attempt positive identification.

Two sportsmen, Charles D. Hoffman of San Francisco and Richard Carscadder of San Carlos, spotted the body floating off McNear's Point yesterday and notified the Coast Guard. A Coast Guard boat towed the body ashore.

Marin City Man Injured In Fall

Joseph McIntosh, 68, of A26-165, Marin City, suffered head bruises and cuts over his right eye yesterday when he stumbled on his porch and hit his head against the wall.

He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputy Harold Sleezer said he found the victim lying on the porch about 5 p.m. with his head in a pool of blood. Mrs. Maude Ellen Johnson of A43, apartment 344, said she saw McIntosh fall and hit his head on the wall.

Negro Pupils Skip Exams In Protest

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Chanting Negro students boycotted winter quarter exams at Alabama State College today protesting expulsion of fellow students who tried to desegregate a lunch counter.

The campus was in an upheaval. Students rallied at 10 a.m., carrying signs and shouting pledges to resign en masse from the state-supported school.

CALL FOR SUPPORT

At a news conference, the Negroes called on the people of the nation to support their battle against segregation, saying "We have broken no laws, we have assaulted no one and we have violated no rules of the college."

The lunch counter demonstrations, which began with just four Negro students at a Greensboro, N.C., college, rapidly was reaching major proportions.

Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., expelled divinity student James Lawson Jr., who was the acknowledged "passive resistance" instructor for Negroes in Nashville.

EATERY CLOSED

In Columbia, S.C., the excitement of waitresses brought a situation where several Negroes were served at a local variety store counter before the management discovered what was happening. The eating place was quickly closed.

Several hundred Negro college students massed on Columbia's main street to march in protest against 10 segregated counties. Police everted trouble from several budding incidents.

Two Columbia drug store counters were closed when visited by the roving Negroes.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market plunged to an exceptionally wide loss today with prices at their worst at the close. Trading was active.

Volume was estimated at 3,000,000 shares compared with 3,110,000 yesterday.

All sections of the list retreated but market technicians were most concerned with the action of the rails. They broke through a previous resistance level, a disturbing matter to chart followers.

Stepped Up Some

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Maj. David Soolpovar was talking with a member of his World War II outfit and when the two recalled other members of the army outfit, the name of Lt. John Patterson came up.

Soolpovar asked his friend what Patterson was doing these days. Later, he dropped the lieutenant a line.

The reply was an invitation to visit Patterson's Montgomery, Ala., home.

The onetime lieutenant is now Gov. John Patterson of Alabama.

Sobering Ride

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — County police have found a new way to sober a drunken driver.

Moments after officers put a drunk motorist in the back seat of their car another auto sped past. The patrolmen gave chase, stopped the second car, and arrested an escaped convict.

The officers reported they "released the drunk we had in the back of the car since the chase completely sobered him."

One Firm's Price Cut May Start Beer War

Marin's beer-drinking public may get a little relief in the pocketbook starting Monday.

A beer price war is in the offing.

At least one major brewery has decided to cut prices up to 23 cents a case on beer in certain container types, and other companies are sure to follow suit.

This was the picture today locally as the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Dept. in Sacramento reported Lucky Lager Brewing Co. has removed some products from "fair trade" minimum prices.

This was confirmed locally by distributors, including Lucky distributor Lou Berger.

The price slash on Lucky will start Monday on three container types. There will be an 11-cent reduction on the 24-bottle small case which contains throw-away 11-ounce bottles. There will be a 23-cent reduction per case on 11-ounce cans, and 22 cents a case reduction on 15-ounce cans.

Prices may or may not be reflected at retail outlets, depending on the grocer or liquor store dealer. They probably will not affect bar and tavern prices.

Burgermeister distributor Paul Ciampi said Burgerbeister did not start the price cutting, but it will not be undersold. It was understood that Regal Pale, another of the state's major breweries, also will cut prices.

Under "fair trade," the brand-owner sets the minimum price. Without it, retailers can set their own own.

Various reasons have been put forth for the forthcoming "war." One distributor advanced the theory that "minor brand" breweries, whose prices have not been fixed under "fair trade," have been "eating into" major brand sales. He said major brands spend a vast sum of money on advertising, including the sponsorship of sports programs on radio and television, and the beer price reflects these costs.

"Minor" brands do little or no advertising of this nature, he said, and fill the supermarkets with low-price beer. He said major brands may have decided to trim advertising costs to narrow the gap between "six-pack" prices and those of the "minor" brands.

Another distributor said the price has been cut to meet the competition of the 12-ounce, California-produced "Eastern" beer which sells for only a penny more a can than the "Western" 11-ounce cans.

Airmen Given Medals For Rescue Work

Belated decorations for seven Hamilton Air Force Base officers and airmen for their roles in last year's West Yellowstone, Mont., earthquake were awarded yesterday by Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Cunningham, commander of the Air Rescue Service.

Receiving commendation medals in ceremonies at the base were Capt. Andrew S. Champion, 1st Lt. John B. Whitwell, CWO Stephan Holloway, Senior M/Sgt. Raleigh D. Curtis, T/Sgt. Francis C. Dean, S/Sgt. Nicola Lopez and S/Sgt. Delbert S. Ray Jr.

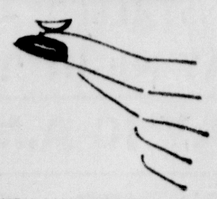

Captain Champion was pilot and commander of the rescue operation, with Lieutenant Whitwell as co-pilot. All the others were paramedics with the exception of Sergeant Lopez, who served as radio operator.

All are members of the deactivating 41st Air Rescue Squadron.

Two other airmen who have been transferred from Hamilton since the Yellowstone operation also have received commendation medals. They are S/Sgt. Charles Maconitas, ground radio operator, and S/Sgt. Harry A. Grauman, flight engineer.

Audubon Society Schedules Events

The Marin Audubon Society will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Room 40, Chemistry Building, College of Marin, to consider the pygmy nut hatch.

The program will include two color films, the first on Wheeler Peak and Great Basin areas of Nevada. The region is the site of a proposed national park.

A second film will show the Marin County Fire Department at work, especially in its role of preservation of local parks. It will serve as an introduction to the 26th annual California Conservation Week, which opens on Luther Burbank's birthday, Monday.

Other events planned are a field trip Saturday, starting at 8:30 a.m. at the Inverness store to explore Tomales Bay State Park, and a barbecue at the Rose Verrall Wildlife Sanctuary, Tiburon, 1:30 p.m., April 24. Barbecue reservations may be made with Mrs. G. M. Milner, San Rafael.

Last month the society took a field trip to the Ritchie ranch and delta region near Thornton to observe flights of whistling swans, geese and sandhill cranes.

Audubon spokesman Mrs. B. K. Dunshee of Ross said sufficient funds have been contributed to the Aubrey Drury Memorial Audubon Camp scholarships for 1960. The money will pay for three persons to attend Audubon Camp sessions at the Sugarbowl area near Donner Summit this summer. Money is needed, she said, for two more persons.

3-R School Planning To Double Class Capacity

The 3-R School plans to double its capacity with construction of a 12-classroom building adjoining its present 10-room structure in Los Ranchitos, director James W. Kirchanski said today.

Construction will depend on approval of plans by the Marin County Planning Commission and the board of supervisors.

If the project is approved, construction will start immediately to have the building ready for the second session this summer, Kirchanski said.

The planning commission will hold a public hearing next Tuesday at 1711 Grand avenue, San Rafael, on the application for a use permit for construction of the school building.

Kirchanski said the new building probably would be connected to the present school by a breezeway. Builder Edward D. Jacobson will be in charge of construction.

The new building would permit doubling the school's present enrollment of 140.

Phone Firm's Report Shows Vast Growth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vast growth of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in 1959 was disclosed in its annual report yesterday.

Revenues were more than one billion dollars. Expenses, taxes and interest also were higher.

Over-all construction costs were 341 million. The 1958 figure was 333 million.

Revenues were $1,040,706,377, compared with $936,843,557 in 1958.

Operating expenses, taxes and interest also were higher in 1959—896 million compared with 825 million the previous year, the report said. "Taxes showed the largest increase — up 25 per cent.

Earnings were $1.47 per share compared with $1.28 in 1958. Dividends were $1.07 compared with $1.

The report said figures were adjusted to reflect a 7-for-1 split of common stock made last August.

Permit To Move Cottages Sought

Fred G. Zelinsky of Tiburon has requested a Marin County Planning Commission adjustment to permit movement and relocation of three cottages on tidelands north of Main street opposite the Tamalpais avenue intersection in Tiburon.

Public hearing will be held Tuesday at the commission's offices at 1711 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

Also of Tiburon interest will be a public hearing on application of Milton McDonogh for adjustment to permit construction of a two-story office building without on-side parking at 21 Main street.

Mill Valley Artist Wins National Exhibit Award

A Mill Valley artist-architect has been awarded the medal of honor for graphics for his entry in the national exhibition of the Painters and Sculptors Society of New Jersey.

Rolf Eiselin, a resident of 339 Robin road, Mill Valley, won the medal at the exhibit at the Jersey City Museum. The winner is a 24-inch high, 18-inch wide woodcut-print called "Hildegard."

Tryouts Scheduled For Sausalito Play

Tryouts for the Sausalito Little Theater's final production of the year, "The Importance of Being Ernest," will be held Monday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the theater at 745½ Bridgeway boulevard.

The Oscar Wilde play has a cast of six men and three women and will be under direction of David Sacks.

Anyone interested in acting or backstage work is invited to attend, said publicity chairman O'Hara Chapin.

Youth Agency Report

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California Youth Authority ended last year with 14,574 juveniles under commitment, according to a recent report. The report said that the figure, which included 10,057 on parole, was nearly an 8 per cent increase over the year end number in 1958.

Paradise Drive Sewer Line To Be Installed

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board this week reaffirmed its decision to install a high pressure sewer line along Paradise drive.

The line will link Pullman Building Co.'s Paradise Cay subdivision with the district's main system in Corte Madera.

Appearing at the board's Tuesday night meeting, Albert H. Giesecke of 4930 Paradise drive, on behalf of the Paradise Drive Property Owners Assn., pleaded unsuccessfully for a delay. He said owners of shoreline property below the road still want a low-level gravity line which would serve their homes as well as Paradise Cay.

Directors told him that while they don't oppose such a line,, they can wait no longer for shoreline residents to decide on annexation to the district, provide necessary easements and form an assessment district.

With a sense of urgency, T. I. Mosely of the Pullman firm said 20 lots in Paradise Cay have been sold and construction of homes is to start immediately.

William Roman, engineer hired by the property owners group to make a $500 survey, filed a lengthy report declaring a low-level line would be the best ultimate solution for the district, the subdivider and the property owners.

But Roman said that even if a Paradise drive pressure line is to be installed, most homes below the road could be served under a modification of the proposed routing.

Directors said they are ready to cooperate with the home owners if and when they decide to annex to the district.

BLAIR

same self-appointed guiding spirit who in the background promoted the submission and openly advocated the adoption of a county charter for a super-government which would have taken election of most county officers from the voters and concentrated all powers (with) a dictator-county manager."

He said Mrs. Schultz has said, "The art of government is to learn to pluck the goose and get the most feathers with the least squawking."

"Perhaps," countered Blair, "we are geese to be plucked, but we should not let ourselves be plucked 'with the least squawking.'"

Blair called for government economy "without denying or diminishing the real services and obligations which county government should furnish and fulfill."

He asks for "responsibility to the people" not an "attitude of super-government."

Blair said there are many other persons in the 3rd District capable of serving as supervisors, "but who have not expressed (a desire) to be a candidate. Therefore I submit my candidacy . . . in the firm belief that there are many voters who share my views and that a majority can be enlisted to end this long reign of coterie government."

Blair owns eight launderettes and two shirt laundries in five cities in Marin. There are two launderettes in Sausalito, one each in Larkspur, San Anselmo and Fairfax, and three in San Rafael. There are one shirt laundry in San Rafael and one in Larkspur.

He organized the Laundromatic Co. in 1950 and is now secretary-treasurer of the firm. He also is vice president of Gilbert Construction Co., a road construction firm at Warren, Ariz., and a partner in Jaswal Co., Mill Valley, a real estate development firm.

He and his wife, Edithe, have a daughter, Edithe Ann, employed by a bank in San Francisco, and a son, James W. Jr., with General Electric Co. at Phoenix.

Blair is a registered professional electrical engineer in California. Like Mrs. Schultz, he is a Democrat.

He was born and reared in Colorado, but started his business career in Arizona where he was employed by the Tucson Gas and Electric Co. while he attended University of Arizona.

In 1928, he went to work as an electrical engineer for United Sugar Co. at Los Mochi, Sinoloa, Mexico. Approximately a year later he returned to the United States and became an engineer for Arizona Edison Co. He was made company manager in 1933 at Douglas, Ariz., and vice president of a subsidiary operating utilities in Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico.

He was chief engineer for the company in 1936 and held that position for three years until he became the owner of several service stations and a petroleum commission agent.

He joined the War Production Board staff in 1942 as compliance division manager for Arizona. Later he was transferred to San Francisco, where he was in charge of all civilian requirements for materials in California, Nevada, Idaho and Arizona. Also he was given a seat on the War Manpower Commission and remained in that position until the end of the war. Then he became director for the disposal of war surplus material for the War Assets Administration.

In 1948, he left government service and organized and operated the Waterfront Service Co., for the maintenance of life preservers, in San Francisco.

He is a member of Mill Valley Lodge 356, F&AM; Scottish Rite Consistory, Phoenix; Islam Shrine Temple, San Francisco; the Mill Valley Community Church, and the board of directors of the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Blair also is past president of the Marin County Shrine Club.

Tavern Owners' Hearing In April

Additional testimony in the case of a husband and wife, owners of a Larkspur tavern, accused of selling beer to a minor last September will be heard at a continued hearing before the state Alcoholic Beverages Control board at San Rafael City Hall on April 13.

The couple, James M. and Phyllis Vercillino, owners of Jim's Tavern at 450 Magnolia avenue, accused of selling beer to 18-year-old Stephen Lewis of 57 Ross avenue, San Anselmo, on Sept. 2, 1959.

An Alcoholic Beverage Board agent said yesterday that a common penalty for first offense of this type is a 15-day suspension of the liquor license.

Contractor Firms To Get Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License Board announced it plans to issue contractors' licenses to two San Rafael firms if no protests are received by March 17.

M. C. Horrell, 122 Marina boulevard will be issued a swimming pool contractor's license.

Insul-Wall Engineering Co. Inc., 175 Edward avenue, will be issued an insulation contractor's license. The firm listed its officers as Howard L. Garrett, president; Mary A. Garrett, vice president, and William F. O'Halleran, secretary-treasurer.

Two Marin Men Join Education Film Firm

Two Marin County men have joined the executive staff of C-B Educational Films, Inc. in San Francisco.

David L. Goodman of 232 Woodward avenue, Sausailito, has been named new general manager of the company which makes and distributes educational movies to schools and universities across the United States.

Joseph R. DeGrace, formerly of Becker and Mueller Advertising in San Francisco, has been made advertising and sales promotion manager. He resides at 3 Boulevard terrace, Novato.

circulating a vivid description of Chessman's sex crimes.

Chessman was sentenced to death in 1948 for two kidnap-robberies with bodily harm which involved forcing two young women to perform indecent sexual acts.

Shell's distribution of a court transcript was assailed by Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Los Angeles), majority leader and Democratic state chairman, as "disgusting and "cheap politics."

Sausalito Trustees Accept Plans For Marin City School

The Sausalito School District board at a special meeting last night accepted architectural plans for the proposed new Marin City School.

The board instructed Supt. Marcus F. Davis to work further with architect Vincent Raney in seeing that certain minor changes are made, such as the height of windows and necessary cabinet space. The architect will then proceed with drawing final plans, Davis said, for the first portion of the school.

The plans were re-drawn after a special architectural committee said the roof design was not in keeping with the overall master plan.

The board's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. March 14 at the district office.

Meet On Housing Called By Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A statewide conference on housing was called by Gov. Edmund G. Brown today to make the state more aware of housing problems.

The conference is slated for June 13-15 in Los Angeles under the direction of Lowell Nelson, chief of the Division of Housing in the Department of Industrial Relations.

Brown said he expects the conference to explore California's housing problems and to recommend action on local and state levels.

Fairfax Man Injured In Motorcycle Crash

A 20-year-old Fairfax man, Albert Picken of 20 Park lane, was reported in good condition today at San Rafael General Hospital, where he was admitted after a motorcycle accident near China Camp yesterday.

Picken, a service station attendant in Greenbrae, suffered an injured back and scalp cuts. The California Highway Patrol was to be notified of the accident today, hospital attendants reported.

COLLEGE

site in Petaluma and the Coblentz estate south of Sonoma.

In the final analysis, the board closely followed the recommendation of the Department of Education. Vasche at first suggested the field be narrowed to Petaluma and Cotati.

Finally he declared the Benson ranch "deserves first consideration." That was the unanimous vote of the three-man board.

Besides Carr, state director of finance, members of the board are Robert B. Bradford, state director of public works, and Wynne A. Savage, state real estate commissioner.

The Cotati site was the second least expensive site to acquire and develop. State estimates showed it would cost only $2,935 per useable acre. This is $135 higher than the Largomarsino ranch in Santa Rosa's Rincon Valley, which was adjudged to be too far north for the college.

Two hundred and fifteen acres will be required at Cotati to get 200 useable acres for the college. Total development cost is estimated at $587,000, as compared with $998,000 for the Petaluma site, and $1,411,000 by state figures or $1,155,000 by development foundation figures for the Marin site.

There is at present available $500,000 in state funds for purchase of the property, although no funds have been allocated for construction of the college. The board also suggested the legislature give immediate consideration to a Napa-Solano state college.

Novato was represented at the meeting by a majority of its city coucil, its city clerk, and a number of other residents

Space Ship Talk Next Wednesday

Reinhold Schmidt, a Bakersfield grain buyer who claims he saw a space ship in a wooded area near a Kearney, Neb., river bank in 1957, will give a lecture on his experiences at the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth and H streets, next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

A question-answer period will follow the lecture.

Marin Labor Council Installs New Officers

New officers of the Marin County Labor Council, headed by George Goodfellow of Mill Valley as president, were installed at a dinner meeting last night at Marin Joe's restaurant.

Lowell Nelson, chief of the housing division of the California Department of Industrial Relations, conducted the installation.

Openings Available In Tam Saturday Classes

There are openings in many of the Saturday instructional-recreational classes at Tamalpais High School, including trampoline, basketball, folk and square dancing, badminton, wrestling and in all swimming classes.

Classes, according to publicity director Charles Crawford, are from 9 a.m. to noon in the boys' gymnasium.

Away He Goes!

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — Donald Griffin's car stalled in a supermarket parking lot.

Griffin, alone, figured he could fix it if he could work at the engine while having the gas pedal depressed. He put a heavy box on the accelerator, lifted the hood and started tinkering. The car, left in reverse gear, suddenly roared backward, made several wide circles in the parking lot, broke off a parking meter post and came to a stop in the street.

Griffin, arrested for failure to have his auto under control, was fined $50.

San Rafael High Sets Semester's 1st Dance

San Rafael High School students will hold this semester's first student body dance, titled "Mood," Saturday from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Attire for the dance is to be "dressy sport," said social affairs commissioner Pam Stettler.

Final Rites Slated For Mary Bailey

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Mary T. Bailey, 82, who died at her Paradise Cove home Tuesday after a long illness, will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito.

The funeral cortege will form at 9 a.m. at Russell and Gooch Funeral Home in Mill Valley, where the Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Bailey died at the home she shared with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph H. Bertrand, at 32 Old Landing road, Paradise Cove.

She was born in Alameda but moved to Sausalito at the age of two and lived 80 years in that city.

She was a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, Orinda Parlor 56; SPRSI Council 29 (Saint Isabel Lodge in Sausalito); Fidelity Sterling Auxiliary 97, Veterans of Foreign Wars; UPPEC Portuguese lodge of Sausalito, and Our Lady of Fatima.

Mrs. Bailey is survived by two sons, John Taxiera of Santa Cruz and Albert Taxiera of San Anselmo; five daughters, Mrs. Mary Bertrand of Paradise Cove, Mrs. Adeline Fischer of Sausalito, Lillian Taxiera of Palm Springs, Mrs. Dorothy Ashoff of San Anselmo and Mrs. Grace Johnson of San Rafael. Also surviving are eight grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The family prefers that tributes be contributions to Hanna Center for Boys in Sonoma.

Rubel Gallegos, 50, Dies In Hospital

Rubel Gallegos, 50, a civil service employee with the Navy and a Marin County resident for 18 years, died today at a local hospital after an illness of more than six months.

Gallegos was a boilermaker at Hunter's Point Naval Shipyard, San Francisco, for 13 years before becoming ill.

He and his wife, Mary, and their two grown daughters, Esther and Mary, resided at 36 Mohawk avenue, Corte Madera. He is also survived by a brother, John Gallegos of Las Vegas, N.M.

Gallegos was a native of New Mexico. He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose in San Francisco.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

KIWANIANS HELP LANDSCAPE SCHOOL

The Ross Valley Kiwanis Club contributed 10 liquidambar trees to Hoffman School in Terra Linda, and members of the club yesterday assisted in planting the trees around the school building. Shown at the job are (from left), Sanford N. McLaughlin, Kiwanis president; Charles E. Skutt, school principal, and Marius J. Cordone, chairman of the Kiwanis Club's agriculture committee. Bon Air Firehouse Plans Authorized

The Larkspur City Council last night authorized preparation of plans and cost estimates for a fire station in the vicinity of Greenbrae's Bon Air Shopping Center.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper was instructed to have them drawn by Richard Zahm, Burlingame architect who designed Bon Air Center.

The action was taken after Piper announced he is starting work on a financing plan involving city lease of the proposed facility with an option to buy.

When a plan of this type was first discussed last year, Piper told councilmen it would cost more than financing with money diverted from reserves, but had the advantage of permitting immediate construction.

Last night, he showed the council a rough sketch of a Greenbrae substation with space for four fire trucks. The current city budget includes $5,000 toward the project.

The Larkspur council also:

1. Introduced an ordinance rezoning a 60-foot strip in Fifer Industrial Park from one-family residential to light industrial.

2. Approved, in principle, an agreement by owners of industrial lands straddling the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks to install wig-wag signals at the Tamal Vista boulevard grade crossing by Jan. 1, 1964, if traffic conditions warrant. The matter was then referred to City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner and the Corte Madera Town Council.

3. Asked the Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July Fireworks Committee to present justification April 6 for its request for a city contribution of $200 instead of the usual $125.

4. Heard a complaint by Alfred Malvino about chuck holes and ripples in the newly constructed Bon Air road extension and a realigned portion of Magnolia avenue. Piper said the Bon Air trouble is caused by uneven earth settlement and the Magnolia trouble by an old storm drain discovered four feet under the roadbed. Some resurfacing will be required, he said.

5. Passed a resolution adopting a master agreement for budgeting an expenditure of state gasoline tax engineering funds.

6. Postponed to April 6 action on a request by William Short for a carport variance at 203 Hawthorne avenue. Planning commission approval was protested by Lesly A. Daveler of 219 Hawthorne, a candidate for city councilman at the April 12 election.

7. Hired Eugene Morien as sanitary maintenance man in the city street department, subject to passing a physical examination. He has held the post on probationary status for six months. David B. McDougall, another council candidate, protested the physical examination policy, claiming it could work to the detriment of handicapped but employable ex-servicemen.

8. Authorized expenditure of $470 for removal of a giant eucalyptus tree near 40 Ardmore road. Sohner Tree Service will do the job with help from city forces.

9. Approved warrants totaling $14,534.17.

Education Aid Proposed For Cold War Vets

Marin County "cold war veterans," (those who served in the armed forces after Jan. 31, 1955) were advised today that a bill is pending before Congress that would provide them with federal aid for education.

W. P. Duhamel, Marin County veterans service officer, announced that the proposed bill is before the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, which will determine whether it will go to the House.

The bill, already approved by the Senate, would provide a day and a half of educational assistance for each day of military service to those serving at least 180 days, said Duhamel.

Interested persons should write to their congressmen, said Duhamel.

Mill Valley Sets Election Event

The Mill Valley City Council agreed last night to hold an open house on the night of the municipal election, April 12, in the city hall.

Mayor Robert D. Huber suggested this be done since the open house held two years ago at election time was "very successful." He said doughnuts and coffee would be served.

Polling places were announced at the council meeting for Old Mill and Park schools, the Community Church, 55 West Blithedale avenue, the city hall, the municipal golf clubhouse, the First Baptist Church and the American Legion Hall.

Meeting Postponed

The Pt. Reyes School District board meeting, postponed yesterday due to illness, will be held next Wednesday at the Point Reyes School at 7 p.m. said clerk Joseph H. Mendoza.

Judge Reduces Charges In Sausalito Case

Three brothers from San Francisco, who had been booked on suspicion of trying to rob two women in Sausalito Tuesday night, were charged yesterday with disturbing the peace and having a concealed revolver.

On the recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold F. Wolters, Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court set bail at $50 each for John Swintek, 22, and his brothers William, 21, and Robert, 19.

Mrs. Robert Blue of San Rafael and Mrs. Jean Johnson of Belvedere told Sausalito police the young trio accosted them outside Zack's-by-the-Bay, waved a revolver, and grabbed their car keys. However, they did not demand money, according to Officer Peter A. Lampros.

Deputy District Attorney Wolters said he had one of the brothers undergo a lie detector test yesterday. The test showed the brothers were telling the truth when they insisted they had no intention of robbing anyone, said Wolters.

"It appears to be just a case of annoyance," he said.

John Swintek, a window cleaner, told the judge he and his brothers have never been arrested for anything other than traffic violations. The judge ordered the three to appear this afternoon to enter their pleas to misdemeanor charges of disturbing the peace and illegal possession of a loaded .22 caliber revolver.

Eighth Graders Win Kent School Ribbons

Eighth grade students walked away with all the prize ribbons at the Kent School's annual science and hobby show which closes at the school tonight.

Grand prize winners, awarded gold ribbons for science projects, were Tom Atwood for "Composition of Foods" and Ellen Roth for "Experiment on Taste."

Ribbon winners in the physical science division were:

Barbara Koons and Patty Lesko, first place for "Textile Fibers and Fabrics"; Bruce Duncan and Peter Macomber, second place for, "Can the Quality of TV Image Be Improved by Doubling the Scanning Lines?"; and Jay Sellman, third place for "How Different Surfaces Absorb Heat."

Winning student scientists in the biology division were:

Steve Spiller and John Kaufman, first place for "Bacteria and Mold Developed from Oranges"; Susie Henderson, second place for "Hydroponics"; and Wendy Blackfield and Jim Stark, third for "Can You Tell Sex From the Results of a Reaction Test?"

Kent science teachers in charge of the fair are John Richard, Robert McQuain and Mrs. Mary Hartley.

Marin Girl Recovering From Aspirin Overdose

A blonde 14-year-old girl from Marin City swallowed the contents of a bottle of aspirin yesterday afternoon, apparently because her parents would not let her go out with her boy friend this weekend, sheriff's deputies reported today.

She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and released to her parents in good condition.

Horsemen To Meet

The San Geronimo Valley Horsemen's Assn. will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lagunitas School. Guest speaker will be Orville Peterson, member of the Marin County Mounted Sheriff's posse and the Southern Marin Horsemen's Assn. He will discuss "Western equitation and showmanship in the show and trail test."

Muir Beach Board Approves Plan To Purchase Water

Muir Beach Community Services District directors last night agreed to purchase water from A. Banducci to supplement the district's public water supply.

Charles Borden, president of the board, reported the agreement is now in Banducci's hands for his signature. Banducci has offered the district water provided that, in an emergency shortage, he will be assured the amount necessary for his own uses.

John White, district secretary-manager, said the district's next project is to find out how to raise approximately $1,500 needed for a new pipeline to carry the water.

The board's next meeting has been set for 8 p.m. April 6, at the home of Leslie Smith.

Mill Valley Youths Must Wait For Boat Center

A ferryboat community center for the Mill Valley Teen-Age Assn. is at least three years away.

The Mill Valley City Council was so informed last night in a letter from Lee Collor of the parks and recreation commission. Mrs. Ruth Gustafson, chairman of the planning commission, and Jesper C. Strandgaard, engineer.

The three committee members said the city council does not have authority to commit funds for a project that may come into being three years from now. However, they said, the teen-age association will continue to explore possibilities of obtaining a boat.

The committee reported no specific ferryboat nor specific location is in mind, but that the possibility of locating the boat on dry land has been eliminated because the cost would be prohibitive.

They said locating a ferryboat in the yacht harbor would not be feasible because park facilities would be inadequate. The ideal location for the boat would be at the northwest point of the harbor, they reported, but this would mean removal of some berths and a loss of revenue to the city; therefore this idea, too, has been discarded.

If a ferryboat were to be used as a community center, the committee said, it would have to be shown that it meets all fire and safety requirements.

Strangaard said there is possibly room in the ultimate development of the harbor for a ferryboat, but this depends on the size of the boat and how much water it would draw.

The council also:

1. Approved a resolution to change Enchanted Knolls street names, East Longfellow road to Seaver drive and East Millay place to Whitman way.

2. Ordered that a dilapidated building at 139 Throckmorton avenue be either repaired or demolished within 30 days, since it is unfit for occupancy.

3. Approved the tentative map of Scott Valley Unit 1 subdivision, subject to 12 conditions of the planning commission and with other minor modifications.

4. Passed a resolution of intention to annex Cascade Reservoir, which is contiguous to the city limits and now owned by the city.

5. Passed a resolution to place a stop sign at the corner of Azalea drive and Camino Alto, and to place a warning signal north of the intersection.

6. Approved the appointment of Warren Lefort, certified public accountant of Mill Valley, as auditor.

7. Approved warrants totaling $16,833.

Marin Dairymen To Attend Meet

Officers and directors of District 3 of the American Dairy Assn. of California, which includes Marin, are scheduled to attend the annual association meeting March 9 and 10 in Sacramento.

Among those from Marin who plan to attend are Armin Truttman, Olema, vice president of District 3, and Al Bianchi of Point Reyes Station, secretary.

Delegates to a national convention of dairymen will be elected, speeches will be heard on the dairy industry and merchandising and there will be a discussion of an association college scholarship program.

Drunken Driver Ordered To Jail

John Piaszk, 36, of Forest Knolls, must serve five days in county jail and pay a $250 fine for his second drunken driving offense.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court. The judge also ordered Piaszk's license suspended for 90 days.

Piaszk was convicted by a jury of driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 near Puerto Suello Hill last Dec. 29. Asst. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety was prosecutor. Piaszk had a prior conviction in February of last year.

Cose James Glover, 57, an auditor living at 171 Tamalpais avenue, Fairfax, drew $150 fine and six months probation for his first drunken driving offense. His driving will be restricted for six months. He was caught on Sir Francis Drake boulevard in Ross on Jan. 23.

Hearing Slated On Larkspur Zone Law

The Larkspur City Council last night set for 8 p.m., April 6, a public hearing on the city's proposed new zoning ordinance, and gave indication it will be adopted as an interim emergency measure the same night.

Mayor Daniel Allen, pleading for more time to study the ordinance, voted against the hearing date. Councilman H. H. (Steve) Wheeler was absent because of illness.

Lesly A. Daveler, a former city planning commissioner, proposed the idea of an interim ordinance "for the purpose of controlling building activity" during the period before a new zoning law becomes effective.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper confirmed Daveler's claim that developers anticipating a more stringent measure are "rushing to get half-drawn plans in the mill." He said three prospective builders came before the planning commission Tuesday night "with obvious intent to beat the new ordinance."

In considering architectural plans, Piper said, the commissioners are unwilling to tell an applicant their thinking will be guided by the proposed law. He said they take the position they must be guided solely by the existing law until it is superseded.

"Can the new ordinance be adopted as an interim ordinance without any public hearing?" Councilman Orrin W. Gray asked City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner.

"We can certainly find a way of doing it . . . I'll draw it up for the next meeting," Gardiner replied.

Piper said the planners will have two meetings before the next council meeting, "but I don't anticipate any matter coming before them which couldn't be carried over."

Earlier, the council rejected a plea by Daveler that the proposed new zoning ordinance be returned to the commission "for orientation and further discussion without the formality of a public hearing at this time."

Daveler, a candidate for city councilman in the April 12 municipal election, charged the commission had "dawdled" with the measure for 18 months.

"It is long overdue, and there is still something wrong with it," he asserted.

He gave the council a 15-page report on the new ordinance which he prepared at Mayor Allen's request. Among other things, the measure has a "lack of organization" and contains "errors of repetition," Daveler told the council.

FAMILY TROUBLE IN ST. LOUIS

Sue Casey and George Wahl are shown in a scene from Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" which will be presented by the Novato Community Club drama group for the second weekend tomorrow and Saturday nights. The story deals with the neurotic drive of a dominating mother to direct the life of her daughter, shown above attempting to persuade her inebriated brother to come home to their St. Louis apartment. Sally Paskow plays the part of the mother while the fourth member of the cast is Jim Vander Beets who is cast in the role of a "gentleman caller." The play is directed by Russell Dreosch.

Larkspur Still Sees Hope For Harbor Loan

Larkspur still has a chance of obtaining a $370,000 harbor development loan from the state Small Craft Harbors Commission, the city council was told last night.

The ray of hope was noted by City Manager Ronald E. Piper in a report on the city's failure last month to win approval of a low-interest, 20-year state loan.

Piper conceded that Larkspur's chances of obtaining a loan from the harbor commission's revolving fund are nil. This possibility had been raised at the February meeting of the commission in Riverside.

Piper said his continued optimism is based on the odds that some of the 19 projects approved for loans may yet fail to qualify by proving economically unfeasible. If that happens, he reported, Larkspur's application has a chance "because the commission's staff has established that our project is feasible."

He said he understands it was omitted from the list of approved projects because the commission felt the loan funds "should be spread throughout the state." (Loans of $300,000 each for Mill Valley and Marin County were granted.)

500 HOMES AFFECTED

Freak Car Accident Blacks Out Novato

"Lights out" sounded for 500 households of the Novato area early today as the result of a freak auto accident which threw the circuitbreaker in a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. circuit and left a car wheels-up in a shallow pond beside Atherton avenue.

An electric service man had to scramble out of his bed in San Rafael and get up to Novato in a hurry. But he moved so fast that current was interrupted only from 12:20 to 1:05 a.m.

John Harvey Collins, 21, of 2463 Vineyard road, suffered minor injuries when his car left Atherton just west of the Black Point cutoff, and overturned. He refused medical aid and was taken home by a passing motorist after he had crawled out of his car.

Collins blamed his mishap on a hitchhiker, who he said, was driving when the car rounded a curve rapidly and went out of control. But California Highway Patrol investigation failed to discover the mystery man nor did anyone report sight of him.

A bystander said as the car went into a roll, two green flashes were seen from the top of a power pole just off its path.

Investigation by PG&E showed the car brushed a guy wire of the pole without breaking it. The wire thrummed like a guitar-string and the vibration caused overhead power wires to short-circuit.

Novato Clubs To Hold Anniversary Meeting

The Novato Odd Fellows and Rebekah clubs' anniversary meeting will be held at Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall tomorrow at 7 p.m.

An Irish turkey dinner will be served and an evening of entertainment provided, said Mrs. Lulu V. Brunsing, reservations chairman of 32 Grove lane, Novato.

The president of Turkey is elected for a four-year term by members of the Grand National Assembly from its own ranks.

Expansion Of Lagunitas School Eyed

Trustees of the Lagunitas School District last night took tentative steps toward expansion of the district's school.

Trustees heard Dr. Rudolph S. Kupfer, business services assistant in the county schools department, outline hypothetical bond issues and methods of payment.

Clerk Winifred S. Frederick said the board took no action but is looking forward to the day when the school might be expanded. Two classes are on double sessions now.

The board narrowed to four a list of names of architects. One eventually will be selected as district architect with expansion plans in the offing.

The board also:

1. Accepted an anonymous gift of $100 which will be applied toward purchase of a microscope for the eighth grade.
2. Paid bills and warrants totaling $2,306.
3. Deferred the balance of the agenda to the regular business meeting, March 17.

East and West Pakistan are 900 miles apart through Indian territory.

Redwood High Traffic Protested In Larkspur

Redwood High School traffic congestion on Larkspur's William avenue brought complaints from an aroused Heather Gardens delegation at last night's meeting of the Larkspur City Council.

The group of more than 30 citizens persuaded councilmen to table a resolution prohibiting parking on the narrow street during weekday high school rush hours of 8-9 a.m. and 3-4 p.m.

As one woman put it, "If you take our cars off the street, the kids will use it as a drag strip and go even faster."

Councilmen drew a loud chorus of "noes" when they said the street was carefully patrolled by police during peak hours. City Manager Ronald E. Piper said traffic is so heavy at times "that police cars can't catch up with the violators."

William avenue is now the sole access to the Redwood campus. The Lucky drive approach from Highway 101 is closed during construction of a drainage facility at Corte Madera High Canal. William avenue residents claim that approach, when reopened, will not give them sufficient relief from traffic congestion.

James J. Lienkaemper of 89 Diane lane said the Heather Gardens quarrel primarily is with Tamalpais Union High School District officials, who, he complained, have taken "a lackadaisical attitude" about a proposal to extend Doherty drive beyond Henry C. Hall Elementary School to the Redwood campus.

"Let them stagger their class load for a while, if necessary, to reduce the traffic," said Lienkaemper, a candidate for city councilman in the April 12 municipal election.

Piper said school district officals have flatly rejected a Larkspur proposal that Doherty drive be extended along the northern boundary of the Redwood campus for an eventual link with Lucky drive.

Piper said the Redwood master plan envisions a service road on the north edge of the school site, running from the academic area back to the district corporation yard. He said Tam officials are more receptive to a city proposal that the service road be built now and bridged over Arroyo Holon Canal to connect with Doherty drive.

This plan, he declared, would provide the additional access needed to relieve the critical problem on William.

The Heather Gardens group is planning a mass appearance at Monday night's meeting of the Tam district board.

Art Lecture Series Starts In Mill Valley

A series of art lectures that will include criticism of students' work done at home, given by Mill Malley artist Lucienne Bloch Dimitroff, started today.

Classes will continue Thursdays for 10 weeks from 10 a.m. to noon in the Mill Valley Episcopal Church of Our Soviour. Classes are for both beginners and advanced students.

'Shop At Home' Drive Starts in Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce has gone on record backing a "Shop at Home" campaign for Mill Valley.

This was announced at the chamber's meeting yesterday, according to secretary John E. McSweeney. He said the board will have a special meeting Friday at which the campaign will be discussed as well as the Easter flower and fall festival projects.

Olson 'Walkout' Points Out Need For Boxing Czar In California

CONNOLLY

Take whatever slant you choose about professional boxing, not alone in California, but throughout the United States, and you'll windup with the same diagnosis: It needs a high commissioner, like the late Judge Landis was to baseball.

Boxing has always had people policing its beat, but a policeman should patrol both sides of the street. It has never been that way.

The boxing commission appoints a referee, licenses him and then permits two judges to help him out. As a result the referee has the same status as a rookie cop. He's on probation every time he steps into the ring.

I've always argued that if a referee isn't qualified to handle a fight and render a decision then his license should be revoked.

Judges in fights are a nuisance. Most of them are not qualified to start off with and then they soon become more important to the fight game than the fighter, the promoter or the referee.

IF A REAL fight commissioner was to rule over boxing in California I believe we would not have any such farce as the recent Bobo Olson-Spider Webb mixup.

Olson signs to fight and then when he discovers he isn't going to get the money he owes Uncle Sam, walks out on the scrap, leaving the promoter and the public holding the sack.

A good fight commissioner would have no truck with the likes of Bobo Olson. He would rule him off the beat to begin with and make room for up and coming boxers instead of boxers barely a step ahead of a fit.

Olson has done enough to boxing without rehearsing his case. His life in boxing has done enough to hurt the game without the game trying to bring him back.

BOXING AND Bobo Olson are even. The game owes him nothing but a good cold shoulder served on a platter big enough to fit around his pug nose and elephant ears.

Boxing commissioners, from time to time, have helped the game in California. But the help has been so slim and so seldom that one wonders why some of our sportsminded politicians don't whisper in Governor Brown's ear and advise him to name a Boxing Czar . . . not three or four guys who love boxing, but just one fellow who knows his way around the gyms and the rings. And who also knows the type of fellow who makes his living off seeing cauliflower ears spread about.

Judge Landis, the man who saved organized baseball after the 1919 Black Sox scandal, had a quaint old fashioned theory. He thought the umpires were bosses after a ball game started.

SO THAT is why we here and now ask Governor Brown to tear a leaf out of the late Judge Landis' book and name a Boxing Czar who would take the fight game out of its present political chaos and establish it as a fundamentally sound sport. A guiding hand is like a "stitch in time" . . . it might save the public from types like Bobo Olson and put the sport on a basis where it belongs.

In case the "Govvy" wants any help in nominating a Boxing Czar he wouldn't have to go far out of his official family. He could talk to Pat Frayne, an old sports and boxing man, and between them I'm sure they'd dig up a standout guy, maybe not a Landis but at least someone on the same plateau.

DE MAESTRI IN YANKEE PIN-STRIPES

CEPEDA MISSING

Monzant Reports To Giants Camp

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Ramon Monzant, right-handed pitcher, was in the San Francisco Giants' spring training bailiwick here today, leaving only Orlando Cepeda still missing.

Chub Fenney, club vice-president, said he had not heard from Cepeda for 10 days.

The hard-hitting Puerto Rican is reportedly holding out for $30,000.

Monzant, who did not play for the Giants in 1959 because of a salary dispute, arrived yeserday from Venezuela. He won eight games in 1958.

INTRASQUAD GAMES

Manager Bill Rigney said that the Giants will play intrasquad games Saturday and Sunday, with shortstop Ed Bressoud and utility infielder Danny O'Connell managing the rival outfits.

Yesterday's three-hour hit drill was featured by heavy home run hitting by almost all the squad. The three Willies—Mays, Kirkland and McCovey—hit so many home runs that Rigney called Phoenix "Arizona's answer to Cape Canaveral."

"Did you ever see so many rockets launched before from the same pad?" he said.

Batting instructor Lefty O'Doul was due in camp today.

Bolinas Beach Group Slates Potluck Dinner

The Bolinas Beach Improvement Club will hold a potluck dinner at the Mesa Clubhouse Saturday night at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker B. D. Dobbs, principal planner of Marin County, will talk on "Amendments to our Zoning Ordinances," said Clarence C. Talcott, vice president.

Olympic Ace To Get Test With Rangers

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack McCartan, whose goal-tending was a big factor in the U. S. Olympic hockey victory, is going to get a chance to show what he can do in the pro ranks.

The former Minnesota hockey and baseball star from St. Paul was due to report to the New York Rangers for a workout today. If all goes well he'll be in the nets when the Rangers oppose the Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

Under National Hockey League rules, an amateur may play five games as a pro without losing his amateur standing. McCartan is on leave from Ft. Carson, Colo., but is scheduled to be discharged from the Army the latter part of this month.

McDougald Still Uncertain About Future With N. Y.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Gil McDougald sure would like to know where he stands with the New York Yankees.

Last December during the inter-league free trading period, the Yankee veteran infielder had uncertain hours. There were reports he was headed for San Francisco or Milwaukee in the National League.

He is still a Yankee but he isn't in the clear. Once again rumors are going around that Gil will figure in a trade since the Yankees haven't given up hopes of improving their pitching.

One report has him headed for Boston in a deal that would bring Tom Brewer to New York. Another has the Washington Senators ready to trade Pedro Ramos, their ace right-hander, for McDougald and rookie infielder Fritz Brickell.

Alpine Switzerland, with an area of only 15,900 square miles, has 125 winter resorts, 900 licensed ski instructors and about 7,000 hotels.

Title Fight Set June 22, Champ Says

LONDON (UPI)—Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson told reporters at London Airport today his return title fight with Floyd Patterson has been "fixed definitely" for June 22 in New York.

Johansson, flying from New York to the Gaza Strip, the United Nations-policed area between Israel and Egypt, stopped off briefly at the airport.

The champion said he will give one or two sparring exhibitions for United Nations troops in the Gaza Strip, and then give more exhibitions for United States troops at various installations in Europe.

Ingemar left New York last night after a 10-day visit in the United States and Canada.

Johansson said: "After the exhibitions I'll be going back to my gymnasium near my home in Geneva to start really hard training. But I expect to be back in the states about seven or eight weeks before the fight.

"I'm perfectly fit now. I'm never out of training. These exhibitions keep me on top."

MARIN SKIERS ENTERED IN RACES SUNDAY

A seven-member team has been selected to represent the Marin Ski Club in the Bay Area Ski Federation races at Sugar Bowl this weekend, it was announced yesterday.

The Marin team includes Joy Best, Millie Dunshee, George Hartlmaier, Walt Stevens, John Yonkow, Larry Olinger and Barry Evergettis.

The competition is scheduled for Sunday, according to Publicity Chairman Denis McCarthy.

Kentfield, Ross Win Cage Games

Kentfield and Ross won yesterday's contests in the Redwood Elementary School Basketball Tournament at Redwood High's gymnasium.

Dave Auerbach scored 16 points to lead Kentfield past Henry Hall School, 37-21 and Ross downed Neil Cummins School 25-14 with Bob Riede's 8 points leading the victors.

Finals will be played tomorrow with games starting at 4 and 5 p.m. at Redwood.

PRO GRID MEETING

Oakland, Dallas Vie For Stanford Star

OAKLAND (UPI)—The American Football League, a new comer to the professional family, met here today to doctor a few growing pains.

Members of the new league were expected to discuss player contracts and means of providing Oakland's entry with some manpower without hurting the other teams.

Those two topics were likely to lead to heated words before the two-day meeting ends.

George Blanda, former quarterback with the Chicago Bears of the rival National League, was the center of one rhubarb. He signed with the Houston Oilers last week—but the Los Angeles Chargers maintain that he was on their "negotiations" list and therefore untouchable.

Chris Burford, former star end at Stanford University, presented another problem. He is an Oakland native and would like to play for the home team, but signed with Dallas last December when Oakland's chances of getting into the AFL seemed dim.

Don Rossi, general manager of the Texans, has served notice that they won't give up Burford without a struggle.

"We are very proud of Chris for he was the first man to be signed by Dallas and we think he wants to play for us," Rossi said. "We would hate to lose him."

Milton Woodward, assistant league commissioner, said about 10 players who were signed after being drafted by Minneapolis-St. Paul will be turned over to Oakland. He said other needs would be met "from the roster of other teams."

Minneapolis-St. Paul created the final vacancy in the loop when its backers decided not to enter the AFL.

Bolinas Harbor Plans Displayed

Preliminary plans for the proposed Bolinas Harbor project were displayed at last week's meeting of Bolinas Harbor commissioners.

The plans along with economic studies were made as part of an application for federal assistance in the development, said president Gene McDaniel.

The plans, drawn up by the San Francisco firm of John A. Blume and Associates, engineers, include jetties at the lagoon entrance, dredged channels, a launching ramp and an interior berthing basin initially providing slips for 70 commercial and recreational craft, according to McDaniel.

Report On U.C.

Four student leaders at the University of California, Berkeley, will discuss the history, traditions, costs, activities and athletics of the school at Sir Francis Drake High School March 17, counselor Gwenmar Powell said.

A new rating plan from State Farm reduces rates for many careful drivers! It's a pin-pointed system for determining the rate that's fair for YOU personally. It matches you with one of nearly 100 driver classifications—according to your age, your sex, family members who drive your car, where you drive, how much you drive, and what you use your car for. It's more accurate in determining YOUR fair rate. And whatever your classification, you're pretty sure to pay less with State Farm than most folks pay elsewhere. MARIN COUNTY VISITORS

Polish Olympians Love California

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Three members of the Polish Winter Olympics teams expressed enthusiasm about California in general and Squaw Valley in particular yesterday during a 24-hour visit to Kentfield.

Stefania Biegun, 24, Anna Krzeptowska, 21, and Stanislaw Ziobrzynski, 35, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Bala in their home at 15 Manor road.

Miss Biegun placed 13th and Miss Krzeptowska 20th in the women's 10-kilometer cross-country ski competition at Squaw Valley. Miss Biegun also was a member of the Polish women's 15-kilometer cross-country relay team, which placed fourth.

Ziobrzynski was a coach of the 18-member Polish team (12 men and six women) and served as chief of referees for the men's slalom event and jury member for the women's slalom.

Mr. and Mrs. Bala, both natives of Poland, drove the two women skiers to the top of Mt. Tamalpais Tuesday night for a bird's eye view of the Bay Area. And yesterday, with Ziobrzynski along, they gave the athletes a guided tour of Marin's other beauty spots, including Muir Woods.

U.S. BEAUTIFUL

"Is all of the United States so beautiful?" Miss Krzeptowska asked in Polish, with Mrs. Bala acting as interpreter.

"At Squaw Valley," she said, "I had neck pains from turning my head around so much to take in all the beauty."

Miss Biegun registered two minor complaints about her Olympics experience. She said she got a bit tired of a steady menu of chicken and lost some valuable sleep because the nightly entertainment, featuring Hollywood stars, was so diverting she couldn't bear to miss it.

Describing the Olympics as "hectic but wonderful," she added with a smile, "what struck us all was the friendliness and courtesy of our American hosts."

PLANS TO TEACH

A skier for only seven years, Miss Biegun plans to teach physical education after graduating next June from the Polish Institute of Physical Culture in Krakow. Her home is in Zywiec, a mountain town near Krakow. Miss Krzeptowska lives and works as a salesgirl in Zakopane, a ski resort in the Tatra Mountains, Poland's highest range.

Ziobrzynski is a graduate of the Academy of Physical Culture in Warsaw and a former teacher there. From 1952 to 1956 he coached the Polish National Alpine team, accompanying the athletes on a world tour.

A former competitor in world skiing events, he now divides his time between Warsaw and Zakopane as director of instruction for the non-professional Polish Skiing Federation. He is also a member of the downhill slalom committee of the F.I.S., an international ski federation.

Ziobrzynski recently was named to a committee that will inspect the Canadian resort of Banff as a potential site for the 1968 Winter Olympics.

The Polish team, which placed 11th in over-all point standings at Squaw Valley, will spend three days in Los Angeles and two in New York before leaving the United States.

Meanwhile, other members of the Polish team yesterday toured around the bay and viewed Angel Island on Russell G. Lewis' boat "the Blue Spirit" out of Sausalito. The team was accompanied by state department representative Cary T. Grayson Jr., Mrs. Lewis reported.

"They were thrilled to be on a boat as most of them were residents of the mountain areas in Poland."

San Anselmo Man Elected President Of Sailing Assn.

San Francisco Bay's rapidly growing Carinita Sailing Assn. has elected Dave Benson, 175 Ridge road, San Anselmo, chairman for 1960, it was announced this week.

Outgoing chairman Melton Ferris of San Rafael was Yacht Racing Assn. champion for 1959 in the midget ocean racing class which has grown from Ferris' one boat sailing in YRA Division 17 in 1958 to 26 officially numbered boats now afloat or building on San Francisco Bay.

Other Marin County sailors in the Carinita fleet include Robert Flowerman, Corte Madera; Gregg Weatherford, Sausalito; Robert Moore, San Rafael; Nick Roth, Sausalito; and Norman Dean, San Rafael.

The 20-foot Carinita, designed by Naval Architect Al Mason, has proved exceptionally able in the bay's choppy seas and brisk winds. This will be the second year of YRA recognition of the sporty one-design racing class.

Mrs. Gaylord Wins Golf Tournament

Mrs. John Gaylord's score of 98-26—72 won the Indian Valley Golf Club's "Silver Tray Day" tournament Tuesday.

Class A—Mrs. Lynn Sumpter, 95-20—75; tie Mrs. William Sparrow, 101-23—78, Mrs. P. A. Besse, 100-22—78, Mrs. Jerry Evans, 103-25—78 and Mrs. Roy Sayles, 95-17—78.

Class B—Mrs. Charles Zapelli, 108-27—81; Mrs. Andrew Sommerville, 112-29—83; Mrs. William Jonas, 116-31—85.

Australian Track Ace Sets Record

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Al Lawrence, the Australian who runs for University of Houston, bettered the Olympic record for 10,000 meters yesterday. His time was 28:35.8. The Olympic record of 28:45.6 was set by Vladimir Kuts of Russia in 1956.

110 OLYMPICS GAMES STARS AT MUIR WOODS

One hundred and ten members of the Winter Olympics international teams visited the Muir Woods National Monument yesterday, Supt. Frederick M. Martischang said today.

"They appeared to be very much impressed with the area and they were in good spirits," Martinschang said. The Finnish group sang songs and the French group sang their national anthem, he said.

In the Finnish group of 60, Martischang said, there were several foresters and they were most impressed with the size of the Redwoods. There were 27 Norwegians and 25 Frenchmen.

A group of 72 Russians was supposed to have visited yesterday, the superintendent said, but a Grey Line bus driver called and said late yesterday that they were not coming.

Ski Trip Planned

A ski trip to Beacon Hill Lodge at Soda Springs is planned for March 18, 19 and 20 by the Girls' Athletic Assn. of Redwood High School.

O's Think Brandt May Be One Of Their Best Stars

MIAMI (AP) — Centerfielder Jackie Brandt has only batted a few practice balls as a Baltimore Oriole, but already that club thinks the ex-Giant may be the best all-round player it ever owned.

According to observers in the Baltimore training camp—and his record—colorful Jack runs, throws, fields and hits like a true big-leaguer.

For six long years—ever since the city re-entered baseball's bigtime—Baltimore has been looking for that kind of player.

Brandt was acquired from San Francisco last fall along with pitcher Gordon Jones for Oriole pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes.

After Brandt flicked at a few balls yesterday in his distinctly individual manner, he smacked a low line drive that didn't seem to rise more than 30 feet off the ground and traveled out past a fence 330 feet away.

Souchak, Cary In TV Golf Playoff

LAS VEGAS (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Mike Souchak tee off today on 36 holes of match play for a $35,000 pot.

They will play 18 holes today, 18 Friday, wth cameras recording the action. The match will be shown on television later in a film on champion golfers.

Middlecoff of Hollywood, Fla., beat Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., yesterday, 4 and 3, to gain the final round at the Desert Inn Country Club.

The winner of the finals match gets $25,000, the loser $10,000.

Williams To Double As Coach, Player

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Is there a managerial job in Ted Williams' future?

Speculation rippled through spring training camps today on the heels of the announcement the 41-year-old slugger, last of the .400 hitters, will serve as part-time batting coach for the Boston Red Sox.

After a conference with General Manager Bucky Harris, field boss Billy Jurges called a press meeting yesterday to announce the assignment for Williams "in addition to his regular chores."

Ted, bothered by a painful neck ailment for a full year, said he doubted if he could play when he reported to camp Monday. However, he admitted he felt better yesterday, ran hard, poled a couple of drives over the right field wall and barked:

"I didn't come out here to be a pinch-hitter."

The idea of the great left-handed batsman becoming a managerial possibility has been bantered about in the Boston press for several years. The stir went beyond Red Sox fandom with the announcement of his coaching duties.

Williams shrugs it off. "It's nothing really new," Ted said. "I've been helping any hitter who asked for 10 or 12 years now."

"Now get this straight," Jurges emphasized. "Ted's new duties won't effect his status as a player. In addition to his coaching, he'll be getting himself in shape to play, batting, running and fielding with the rest of the squad."

GOLDEN GLOVES

Kayo Hallinan In S.F. Bout Tonight

Terrance "Kayo" Hallinan of Ross embarks tonight on a road he hopes will lead him to the Olympic Games Championships in Rome this summer.

The well-known Marin County athlete battles Eddie Mendez of San Francisco in the 156-pound division of the Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium.

Theirs will be one of 32-semi-final bouts on the card tonight. The finals are slated March 10.

Finalists from the Golden Gloves will go to the Olympic Western Regions in Pocatello, Idaho April 21, 22 and 23. Then it's the Olympic Trials to be held in San Francisco, and then on to the Olympics Games in Rome.

Hallinan has been tutored by former world middleweight champion, Freddie Apostoli of Fairfax.

Hamilton Air Force Base will enter a team of ring stars, led by the sensational welterweight Dean Harrison and 156-pounder Jack Henry.

Ticket prices for the fights are $3.50 for ringside and $2.50 for dress circle and main floor.

First bout starts at 7:30

Fairfax Baseball Signups Monday

Signups in the Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little League will be held next Monday night, 7:30 o'clock, at the Fairfax Pavilion, it was announced today by Player Agent Larry Walsh.

Junior League boys will register at the same place Tuesday night, also at 7:30 o'clock.

All boys must register and be accompanied by a parent, Walsh added.

The league also announced a new field in Sleepy Hollow will be used this season.

Cuban Whips Vejar, Asks Title Fight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Luis Rodriguez had no sooner finished thumping Chico Vejar when he raised a new clamor for a welterweight title bout with Don Jordan.

"Why should Kid Peret fight Jordan instead of me?" the 21-year-old Cuban flash asked in his dressing room. "He's fourth-ranked challenger and I'm first-ranked."

No one was offering any rebuttal, least of all the veteran Vejar, who lost a unanimous 10-round decision to Rodriguez before 2,665 fans last night in a nationally-televised (ABC) bout at Miami Beach exhibition hall.

Vejar, 28, from Stamford, Conn., weighed 154½ and Rodriguez 149½ for their bout.

VEJAR DOWN

Rodriguez, who decked Vejar for a five-count in the sixth round, said Vejar "is the first middleweight I ever fought. I might have knocked him out but he kept clinching with me."

Clinch Chico did, after being staggered in the fifth, seventh and ninth rounds as Rodriguez tried for a kayo. But Vejar had enough left to put on a flurry just before the fight ended.

Rodriguez was a cautious counter-puncher in the first four rounds. After he opened up, it was just a question of whether the ringwise Connecticut boxer could last.

Under the 10-point must system, Referee Cy Gottfried scored it for Rodriguez 99-93, Judge Fred Aronson 98-90, and Judge Gus Jacobson 98-91 for the Cuban.

The loss was the 20th in 111 bouts for Vejar, who has won 89 and fought two draws.

Rodriguez has 27 victories and one no contest ruling in 28 pro bouts.

Marin Cage Champs Battle League All-Stars Tomorrow

Ten of the Golden Valley Conference's outstanding basketball players will team up tomorrow night and challenge the champion College of Marin Tars in a special exhibition contest at Marin's gym in Kentfield, it was announced yesterday by Marin Coach Cal Riemcke.

Riemcke said the game will serve two purposes—to help finance Marin's trip to the California J.C. Championships in San Jose and to give the Tars a good warmup for the big tournament.

Tip-off time tomorrow night is 8 o'clock. A 6:30 o'clock preliminary game will be played by two boys teams.

The All-Star team will be composed of the two top players on each of the other teams in the GVC. They include Rich Breves and Greg Paulo of Napa, Bill Whittaker and Jim Hall of American River, Terry Banderas and Bob Knezevich of Sierra, Russ Mayfield and Les Kuhnz of Yuba and Jim Miklich and Joe Brouillard of Shasta.

Next Thursday Marin makes its State tournament debut at San Jose against City College of Los Angeles. Six other California junior college conference champs are entered.

Marin won the GVC crown for the fourth consecutive season last Saturday with a won-lost record of 8-2.

Marin Firms Enter Sports-Boat Show

By ALFRED MATSON

Last week Squaw Valley was the focal point of interest throughout the five continents with the sheer drama of its Winter Olympic contests. Today, sports interest, while not as international in scope, has swung to San Francisco's Cow Palace where for 10 days, starting tomorrow, the National Sports and Boat Show will offer a dazzling display of all things pleasurable of a marine nature.

The boat show, an annual event, started 16 years ago with a modest display of boats and marine motors in the Civic Auditorium. It has now reached national prominence. There are three big shows, first the exhibition in New York in January, then, in February, Chicago is host to the nation's top suppliers of pleasure craft. The big finale comes in San Francisco starting tomorrow.

This year, as in recent years, the show will be held in the Cow Palace, but it will also expand into four new halls connected to the main building, giving some 60,000 more square feet of floor space.

MARIN EXHIBITS

Boats on display will encompass everything from a wee eight-foot pram to majestic cruisers and sailing craft in the 45-50 foot categories. It is noteworthy that Marin County is heavily represented among the builders and distributors participating.

The following Marinites will be represented: Varney Marine, Tiburon, eleven Uniflite models from 14 to 28 footers, both inboard and outboard motivation and a complete line of Johnson outboard motors. Owens Marin Yacht Sales of San Rafael will show the Owens cruisers, a handsome display ranging from the 21-footer up to the luxury 35.

The long-established Trailorboat Engineering Co. of San Rafael will have an array of 17 craft from 8 to 18 feet, eight of aluminum hull, eight fibreglas jobs and a new creation which embodies an aluminum hull and fibreglas decks.

HOLIDAY YAWLS

Sheldon Yacht Sales of Sausalito have two boats that should get a large share of "ohs" and "ahs" of the customers, two holiday yawls, 35 and 24-footers, both resplendent in varnished mahogany-planked hulls.

Raccoon Straits Marine Center, Tiburon, will also be a major distributor showing the popular Wheeler cruisers in 24 and 35-foot models and for the sailing buff there will be O'Day Day Sailer, Rhodes 19 and the introduction of a French import in the light displacement field, the Corsair.

Aero Marine Plastic Corp. of Sausalito, builders of the nationally-acclaimed Bounties, will present the new Triton in its west coast debut. The Triton, of fibreglas construction, is a 28-foot sloop, initially; possibly a yawl rig will be offered at a later date.

The Triton, already proved on the east coast, should be the answer for the sailor seeking a comfortable cruising auxiliary and yet of hull design that would enhance her racing qualities.

Channel Boat Sales of San Rafael will be impressively represented with no less than six of the handsome Trojan cruisers which will run the gamut from the 21-foot outboard sedan to the 30-foot Express cruiser.

The Edgewater boat shop of Sausalito has taken space to show off the quality construction of the Skagit line of cruisers. There will be three models, an 18-foot convertible, 17-foot inboard and a 20-foot sedan.

It promises to be the best show yet produced and should not be missed by anyone interested at all in things nautical.

Final Signups For S.R. Little Leaguers

San Rafael's National Little Leaguers were reminded today that tomorrow night is their final chance to signup for the 1960 season.

Registration will take place at Davidson School starting at 7 o'clock.

Several Marinites Enter Vacaville Sports Races

Marin County will be represented by drivers and cars during two-day races by the Sports Car Club of America at Vaca Valley Raceway Saturday and Sunday.

They will compete with 150 other drivers during the season's first sports car race in northern California. The race drivers will wheel their small, fast sports cars over the twisting two-mile Vaca Valley circuit at speeds up to 150 m.p.h.

Racing begins both days at 10 a.m. and continues throughout the day. Vaca Valley Raceway is adjacent to Highway 40, about 20 miles southwest of Sacramento.

Marin County entries received to date include:

Lee Golsch, 180 Montecito road, San Rafael; Mrs. Odette L. Bigler, 830 LaPlaya drive, San Rafael; Prudence Baxter, Sausalito; Sandy Greenblat, 640 Hilary drive, Tiburon; Marshall Swope, San Rafael; Frank Merrill, 281 Oak Crest road, San Anselmo; Ernest D. Mendenhall Jr., 22 Eucalyptus road, Belvedere; Michael Worlund, 113 Van Winkle drive, San Anselmo; Mayo Beckford Young, Route 1, Mill Valley; Todd Young, Route 1, Mill Valley; and Eric M. Moir, 271 Bayview, Belvedere.

Entered in the March 5-6 races are two potent $10,000 Lister-Jaguars, especially constructed racing cars with 3.8 litre Jaguar engines. Jack Flaherty, who has been campaigning Kjell Qvale's Lister for the past season, will be challenged by veteran Jaguar driver Dave Ridenour, who has just purchased a Lister with modifications to make it lighter than Qvale's car.

Vaca Valley spectators will also be treated to the area's first race for small, lightweight "Formula Junior" cars. These speedy one-seaters, a cross between a midget racer and a sports car, use small imported engines for speeds up to 125 m.p.h.

Cub Scout Dinner Held In Larkspur

One hundred and two persons attended the Blue and Gold Dinner of Larkspur Cub Scout Pack 43 at the Larkspur Presbyterian Church.

Nineteen new Bobcats were inducted into the pack by Cubmaster Alfred E. Dennis and committeemen George Heierle and Frank Larsen. They are:

Plans for a kite derby to be held March 19 were announced.

College Representative

A representative from College of Marin will speak to interested Sir Francis Drake High School juniors and seniors Monday, counselor Gwenmar Powell has announced.

Rams Rehire Hamp Pool As Assistant

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — J. Hampton (Hamp) Pool is back at work today for the Los Angeles Rams as an assistant coach to one of his former pupils, Bob Waterfield.

"It was a tough decision to make," said Pool who was head coach of the Rams from 1952 to 1954. "I had a fine travel agency in Toronto, but I was finally able to get squared away and so here I am."

Pool signed his contract yesterday and Waterfield was all smiles.

"I wanted Pool from the start," he said. "I'm glad he's finally come around."

Waterfield was named the Rams' head coach after Sid Gilman was deposed following last year's disastrous season.

Hub City Baseball Tryouts Slated Saturday, Sunday

Spring will arrive this weekend, as far as youngsters in San Anselmo area are concerned.

Saturday and Sunday mark the opening of the Hub City's junior baseball program with tryouts scheduled at Memorial Park.

Little Leaguers will report for the tryouts Saturday at 1 p.m. and the Junior and Senior League players will report Sunday at 1 o'clock.

Boys in the 15-16-17 age bracket interested in joining the new Senior League may signup just prior to the tryouts Sunday.

North Marin Pony Signups Slated

Signups for the North Marin Pony League teams will be held this Saturday and next Wednesday, according to league officials.

Boys who are registering for the first time in Pony League are required to bring their birth certificates.

Specific signup times are as follows:

Marinwood, Mary E. Silveira School, Saturday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Santa Venetia, Santa Venetia School, March 5, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Hamilton, Pacheco School, March 9, 7 to 9 p.m.

Novato, Hill School, March 9, 7 to 9 p.m.

Jordan To Defend Title In Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Welterweight champion Don Jordan of Los Angeles will defend his title in Las Vegas May 6 or 27, it was announced today. He will meet the winner of March 18 Benny Paret-Frederico Thompson bout.

Neves Thrown, But Escapes Injury

ARCADIA (AP)—Jockey Ralph Neves missed serious injury yesterday when he was thrown in front of the stands near the finish of the fifth race at Santa Anita.

The veteran jockey, who had been aboard Orbit's Top, rolled over once, lay on the track seemingly stunned, then got up and walked off under his own power. He refused help from an ambulance crew.

Neves' mount seemed to clip the heels of the horse in front of him. He appeared to be steadying the mount just before he spilled.

Neves, winner of two earlier races in the day, withdrew from the rest of his mounts. But he said he would be back in action today.

POSSIBLY IN MARIN

Hayden, Divorcee Will Wed Soon

Actor Sterling Hayden's latest bride-to-be can't recall ever seeing him in motion pictures.

"But I must have, as a girl," said Catherine McConnell, an attractive 28-year-old divorcee. "He certainly looked familiar when I met him here in New York."

That meeting, about three weeks ago, culminated in their announcement yesterday that they plan to be married in the near future, possibly within two weeks, either in Marin or in New York.

Mrs. McConnell told Associated Press and United Press International she met the 44-year-old actor, now a resident of Belvedere, through a mutual friend, adding: "Sterling was here to do a television show and he called me for a date. I accepted and we dated during most of the time during his stay. I liked him right away. He was charming, considerate —and handsome.

"He's an individualist, too, and not afraid to say what he thinks. That kind of honesty is rare nowadays."

Mrs. McConnell, a blue-eyed brunette, is the former Catherine Ann Devine of New York City. Her father, James J. Devine, was co-publisher of the Clarksburg (W.Va.) Telegram and later a newspaper publishers' representative here.

Her eight-year marriage to Neil McConnell, an investment broker here, ended in 1958 in divorce. She has custody of their son, Scott, Both she and her ex-husband are listed in the New York Social Register.

Hayden formerly was married to actress Madeleine Carroll and Betty Ann de Noon, the mother of his four children. Both marriages ended in divorce. Hayden's children—in his custody—range from 6 to 10. They attend schools in the Reed Union School District.

The actor, a controversial Hollywood figure over the years, got in trouble last year when he took his children on a voyage to Tahiti in defiance of a court order obtained by his second wife. A judge later let him off with a mild reprimand and a $500 fine.

"I plan on giving up my apartment and moving to California — next week I hope," said Mrs. McConnell. She said they'll live in Belvedere, where Hayden recently purchased a home.

Asked if she is a good sailor and looking forward to accompanying Hayden on cruises on his schooner Wanderer, she replied, "I don't know. I never sailed. But I'll learn."

Mrs. McConnell said she is looking forward to having her family grow suddenly to five children. "I come from a family of seven children myself, and I like big families," she said.

BRIDE-TO-BE — Mrs. Catharine McConnell, 28-year-old brunette divorcee, poses in New York with her son, Scott, 8, after the announcement that she will become actor Sterling Hayden's third wife. Hayden, 43, made the announcement in San Francisco. They will reside in Belvedere. (AP Wirephoto)

S.F. Court Hearing Ends In Gunfire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A blast of gunfire shattered the quiet in a gleaming marble corridor of San Francisco City Hall yesterday as a cab driver wounded his wife and her attorney and then killed himself.

The driver, Jeremiah H. Cozzens, 59, died in Mission Emergency Hospital of a bullet in the head after the shooting outside the court of domestic relations.

In serious condition, but expected to recover, are his wife, Winifred, 47, formerly of Inglewood, and her attorney, John Lockley, 47, a former assistant U.S. attorney.

Cozzens had waited in the corridor for his wife to return to Judge Norman Elkington's superior court after a recess in a hearing for annulment of their Feb. 4 marriage. In addition to an annulment, Mrs. Cozzens sought an order restraining him from harming her.

Solons Urge End Of Cabaret Tax

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly has approved a resolution asking Congress either to repeal or reduce the federal cabaret tax.

The resolution, which now goes to the Senate, claims that the 20 per cent excise tax has "resulted in a serious loss of customers" by bars with entertainers.

It claims that 40,912 job opportunities have been lost to musicians and 200,000 to cooks and waiters.

Sonoman Will Not Run For Assembly

Leigh S. Shoemaker, a member of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors, announced yesterday that despite "the encouragement of many of my friends," he will not seek nomination for election as Marin-Sonoma assemblyman.

Shoemaker said in a statement:

"Though I have deep appreciation for the encouragement of my friends in both Sonoma and Marin Counties concerning my seeking nomination to the state Legislature position being vacated by Richard McCollister, I feel compelled to indicate at this time that I do not intend to seek such nomination."

Elvis Returns, Will Stand By Rock 'N' Roll

FORT DIX, N. J. (UPI)—Sgt. Elvis Presley, setting foot on American soil for the first time in 18 months today, promptly vowed to stand by rock 'n' roll music as long as the public wants it.

"I will never abandon it as long as people keep appreciating it," Presley told a Hollywood-style news conference.

He arrived at this military base about 7:30 a.m. EST with 79 other GIs and their families after a flight from Frankfurt, Germany.

More than 200 persons, including several screaming teenagers, greeted Presley as he stepped off an Air Force transport in a blinding snowstorm.

While newsmen and photographers delayed his run through the customs section, Presley said he had been "too nervous to sleep."

Later he held a news conference in a service club on the post.

It turned into a near-mob scene, with photographers pressing in for more and more pictures.

He posed with several female admirers and kissed them at the demand of the cameramen.

Presley told newsmen his immediate plans were to visit his home in Memphis, Tenn., and then to plunge into television and motion picture work.

Presley called his Army tour a "good experience," but said it left him little time for privacy.

LOOK BOYS, HE WENT THATAWAY

OAKLAND (AP)—A bushy-tailed little critter proved too fast for the Oakland Police Department yesterday.

More than two dozen policemen—on foot, in radio cars and astride motorcycles —chased the animal, believed to be a coyote, all over east Oakland.

The officers didn't shoot for fear of hitting people.

The animal finally disappeared in a wooded area.

"He outfoxed us," said a puffing patrolman.

Novato Trustees Review Policies

In a short special meeting last Tuesday, Novato Unified School District trustees reviewed board policy and discussed the function of school nurses, district guidance clinic and the speech therapist.

The board postponed action on appraisals of four and one-half acres of land adjoining Novato High School which the trustees are considering for a possible elementary school site.

The appraisal action was postponed because the owners of the property, Pomoway Corp., were not represented at the meeting.

March Storms Stagger East, Midwest, South

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

March storms hurled high winds and staggering loads of snow on the northeastern quarter of the nation today.

The wind-whipped snow closed schools and roads in the East and Midwest. Ice slowed travel in the South. A tornado struck in Florida.

All in all, it was the most widespread outbreak of wild weather of a rough winter.

Deaths mounted to 24. Included were six in Texas, six in Colorado, three in Kansas, two in Tennessee and one each in Mississippi, Iowa, North Carolina, Maryland, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

Damage to timber and power lines climbed into the millions.

Snow fell in places as far apart as Portland, Ore., and New York City. It ranged to nine inches in southern Illinois, 10 in Missouri, 12 in the North Carolina mountains and 20 in the mountainous areas of West Virginia.

Winds with gusts up to 46 m.p.h. drifted five inches of snow in Washington, D.C. Automobiles stalled and schools closed. Most flights were canceled at National Airport.

The worst snowstorm of the season shut some highways and most schools in Indiana. Drifts up to six feet clogged highways in the west-central section of the state.

Maryland was burdened by up to a foot of snow. Highways between Baltimore and Washington were virtually impassable because of stalled cars and trucks. State police placed all troopers on continuous duty. City and state offices were closed in Baltimore.

Some highways were blocked in West Virginia, where the snow scaled up to more than 20 inches in the mountains.

All public and parochial schools were closed in Philadelphia.

Faulty Communication

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — It was just a misunderstanding, defendant Larry Thomas, 22, told the jury. He didn't say anything about a "holdup" to the liquor store proprietor; he merely asked him to "hurry up."

NANCY SPENCER of Tamalpais High School and Bob Trost of Redwood High, front, and Mike Spencer of Redwood, and Mimi Brusati of San Rafael High are among 700 Catholic students attending public high schools who have been extended invitations to the Teen Retreat to be held Sunday at Marin Catholic High School.

GOING OVER PLANS for the annual retreat which is sponsored by the National Council of Catholic Women are, from left, Garry Jones of Sir Francis Drake High School, Alice Maiolini, San Rafael, and Rich McCamish of Drake. The Rev. Bernard Cummins will be retreatmaster for the event. (Independent-Journal photo)

Newcomers Feted By San Rafael Club

When 20 new members were welcomed into the San Rafael Improvement Club on Tuesday afternoon they were given a glimpse of Marin County's past and learned the history of the club, the oldest federated club in the county.

Members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Lewis A. Clapp, president. She introduced the honor guests, Thomas Peryam, president of the Marin County Historical Society, and three of its officers, Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Garves, directors (he is also curator of the society's historical museum at the entrance of Boyd Park in San Rafael) and Mrs. Guy Milner, financial secretary.

The new members were introduced by their sponsors, who gave brief sketches of their lives, then Mrs. Norris Rawles, chairman of the Imps (new members) presented the "cups of friendship" to the newcomers.

Mrs. Clapp introduced Mrs. Alan L. Chisholm, organizer and president pro-tem of the Novato Junior Women's Club. This is a new organization in the California Federation and is sponsored by the San Rafael club.

The two speakers, in costume, both club members, were introduced by Mrs. Carl Riznik, first vice president and program chairman. Florence Donnelly, founder-director of the Marin County Historical Society, presented the episodes, many dramatic, which highlighted Marin's growth. Among these were the building of the first adobe here in 1776, the founding of San Rafael Mission Arcangel in 1817, the Days of the Dons, the only battle of the Bear Flag War, fought at Olompali, Capt. John C. Fremont, his guide, Kit Carson and his men encamped at the mission, the killing of the DeHaro twins and their uncle, by the Fremont party, the occupation of California by the United States, its admission to the union, the gradual settlement of the county.

Mrs. Louis L. Walsh, the club's historian for 17 years, said that soon after the turn of the century, a group of Marin women intent on civic improvement formed the San Rafael club. They had shade trees planted along the streets, inaugurated the drive against the mosquito menace which resulted in the formation of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District, promoted street improvements and participated in all civic endeavors. To finance this pioneer work many benefits were given. Among these was the presentation of the play "Dumb Wife" by Anatole France. One of the leading parts was taken by Miss Florence Locke, a widely known actress. Miss Locke was present at Tuesday's meeting and following her introduction by Mrs. Walsh told of the production and gave the names of those in the cast.

Following the program, tea was served under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Pearce, who was assisted by Mesdames Harry Patton, Charles B. Owen, Mel Morse, Carl Majesky and Walter Lethbridge. Presiding at the tea tables were Mesdames Douglas Godfrey, Joe Petersen, Frank Merz and Henry Steinhauser.

The decorations of the stage and tea tables were arranged by Mrs. Louis Yuvan, who was assisted by Mrs. Eldred B. Hillis.

A memorial fund in honor of Mrs. Herbert K. Walton has been established by the club and those interested in contributing may send their checks to Mrs. Earl W. Burns or Mrs. William P. Held both of San Rafael who are chairmen of the memorial fund.

Mrs. Walton was a past president of the San Rafael Improvement Club and one of its most active and beloved members. At the opening of the club's meeting the members observed a moment of silence in Mrs. Walton's memory.

Annual Teen Retreat Planned Sunday At Marin Catholic Hi

Seven hundred Catholic students who attend public high schools have received personal invitations to the annual Teen Retreat, to be held Sunday, at Marin Catholic High School, under the sponsorship of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The Rev. Bernard Cummins again will be retreatmaster for the event, which will open with Mass at 9 o'clock in the high school chapel. The day will include conferences, question box and religious ceremonies, following with a dance from 3 to 5 p.m. hosted by boys and girls from Marin Catholic.

Reservations can be made with Mrs. Louis Pometta, 12 Fernhill, Ross.

TEEN COMMITTEES

Large teen committees have been set up in the various high schools of Marin to assist with mailing lists, explain the event to their friends, and help make car pools. The following groups have been selected:

San Rafael High School: Bill Knopf, Alice Maiolini, Melissa Allyn, Natalie Karr, Mike and Mimi Brusati, Rice Fisher, Bonnie Ronsheimer and Gene Maiolini .

San Rafael Military Academy: Mike Rolleri.

Redwood: Bob Trost, Linda Albertoni, Jeff and Rickey Skinner, Pete Smiley, Rosalie Farre, Mike Spencer, Maureen Charles, Steve and Charles Harrod, Jeff Scales, Carmelita Wolfe, Sue and Mary Lee Schulze, Antonia Banducci, Mary Clare Panotti.

Drake: Mike Marculescu, Mary Lou Pederson, Barbara and Virginia Carter, Tom Shine, John and Elaine Mooney, Tom Walsh, Rich MacCamish and Carol Franchini.

Tamalpais: Nancy Spencer, Dennis Langhoff, Mike Maguire, Tony Bullock, Diane Nelson, Kathie Silva, Kathleen Sweeney, Patsy Hospodar, John Marchini and Richard Pieraccini.

Novato: John Picchi, Anne Bettis, Chuck Bennett, Kathy Walsh, George and Mary Beth Hasik, Pat Webb, Eddie Salmina, Pat Basehart, Marvin Heskit. A special assignment on mailing lists was handled by Gail Coniglio.

ARRANGEMENTS

In addition to the spiritual aspects of the Teen Retreat, the mechanics of providing for an event of this magnitude all in one day is no small task. Mrs. Pometta is being assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. C. K. Denman, invitations; Mrs. Carl Brown, parish contacts; Mrs. Roy A. Pasqualetti, breakfast, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Larkins and Mrs. Terry Purcell; Mrs. Arthur Fay, luncheon, assisted by Mesdames Fred Acciari, Donald Morrell, Rodney Wagner, Andrew Carrino and John Enos; Mrs. Clifford Meagher, dance, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fraize, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Muzio, Clifford Meagher, Louis Pometta and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Burns.

Other phases are headed by Tim Truett, transportation; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buscher, registration; Mrs. Cletus Fitzharris and Mrs. J. L. Bowler, publicity; Mrs. Muzio, printing; the liaision committee with the high schools including Mesdames Walter Del Tredici, L. S. Arntz, Clifford Elder, R. V. Snodgrass and Charles Lavaroni, Walter Carter.

Supporting the Teen Retreat also is the National Council of Catholic Men who will have in readiness a committee of six men, headed by Joseph Nannery, to help where needed Sunday.

Noteworthy have been the attractive posters, done with speedball pen and brush, by an interested eighth grader, Craig Blake of St. Anselm's.

Seniors At Drake Select Ball Theme

"Bali Ha-i" has been selected as the theme of the Sir Francis Drake High School Senior Ball to be held at Bob's of Marin, Corte Madera, June 10.

The selection was made by a committee of seniors working on the dance arrangements.

A midnight buffet supper will also be part of the program.

LITTLE MISS PAMELA Grant and her father, B. G. Grant, will be part of the entertainment for the Elks Father-Daughter Night on March 12 at the San Rafael Elks Club. The 6:30 o'clock dinner will be followed by a junior fashion show.

Marin Women

Presbyterian Women Slate Discussion Meet On March 10

Continuing the theme, "Commitment," the general meeting of the Women's Society of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael on March 10 will have a discussion on "Associations Which Strengthen" with Mrs. Kenneth Walkmeister, chairman. Mrs. Walkmeister is chairman of social education and action.

The March hostesses will include Mesdames C. M. Arnold, John A. Pitcher, Nettie Tapp, L. F. Wilkie, Andrew Ferrier, Sydney Frank, L. Severt Gaustad, Augusta Hinrichs, Raymond Morrison, Donald Murray, Charles Olson, William Patching, Fedora M. Ross, W. J. Schulz, John Southmayd and Seeley Vander Veer. Luncheon will be served at 12 m.

Mrs. G. L. Rice is chairman of the devotional hour.

Of special interest is the musical portion of the afternoon when Mrs. Wesley C. Baker, wife of the new minister, will be the vocalist. Mrs. Melvin Moore will be Mrs. Baker's accompanist.

Guild To Honor St. Patrick

The Holy Family Guild of Marin will honor St. Patrick on Wednesday, March 17 at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Freeberg on Loma Linda avenue in Ross.

The affair will start at noon and those wishing to play cards may do so later in the afternoon. Card players are asked to bring their own cards.

The proceeds of this luncheon will be used to defray the expenses of the Silent Auction and Luncheon which the Guild will give at the Corte Madera Recreation Center on March 30.

Members and friends of the Guild desiring reservations, which are limited, may call Mrs. Freeberg at her home.

Marin Academy Music Students Present Recital

The Marin Academy of Music presented a group of its students in a recital on Sunday afternoon at the Academy in San Anselmo.

Pianists taking part in the recital are the pupils of Elizabeth Rogers, Rosalie Brown, and Charles Orgibet, director of the academy. Violinists are pupils of Winifred Bullock.

Students participating were Peggy Adams, Joan and Allison Amonette, Camas and Celia Brown, Susan and Chester Carlisle, Charlsey Cartwright, Sharon Champie, Laurie Fulkerson, Pamela Guthrie, Linda Jachetta, Martha and Donald Jennings, Ravelle Prola, Robin Rogers, Kurt Rupke, Tina and Ruth Smillie, Janet Stock, and Donna Southard.

Welcome Wagon Sets Luncheon

The Welcome Wagon Club of Marin County will hold its monthly luncheon at 12 M. on Tuesday, March 8 at the Captain's Room in Corte Madera.

Bridge will follow the luncheon. Any one wishing to attend is to notify Mrs. Dean Cullen.

Dinner, Joint Installation Of Marin Firemen, Auxiliary

Installation of officers of the Marin County Association of Fire Departments and its Ladies Auxiliary was held at the Fairfax Pavilion recently following a dinner. Hosts were Charles Thornton, chief of the Fairfax department, and his men.

Harvey Gruber of Santa Rosa, state president installed the men. Jean Lestanguet, Fairfax, was seated as president. W. L. White, Corte Madera, first vice president; Bill Lieb, Novato, second vice president; Herb Lane, Fairfax, secretary; A. A. Shunk, San Rafael, treasurer.

Nuptial Vows Said At Rites In Novato

Married recently at the Church of Our Lady of Loretto in Novato were Helen M. Spaletta and Howard Smith with the Rev. Charles J. Farrell officiating at the ceremony. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Spaletta of Petaluma, was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a long-trained white satin gown and carried a bouquet of white bouvardia with an orchid in the center. The matron of honor, Mrs. Julie McCulla, wore a deep blue satin gown and a lighter blue were the gowns of the bridesmaids, Barbara Paris, Maureen Cannon, Mary Jane Mortimer, Louise Ghisletta and Darlene Grossi. The flower girl, Shirley Grossi, was dressed like the bridesmaid. Edward Grossi was the ring bearer.

Tony Moreda Jr. was best man and guests were escorted to their pews for the evening ceremony by Richard Hale, Don Romelli, William Spaletta, John Spaletta and Rocky Renati. The rites were followed by a reception at the Novato Community House. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spaletta wore a royal blue satin brocade dress and Mrs. Karen Smith of Novato, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black and white checked wool dress.

The newlyweds are residing in Petaluma.

The bride is a graduate of Petaluma High School and the bridegroom attended San Rafael High School. He is the brother of Jack Smith of Novato and Mrs. Beverly Gore of San Rafael. The bride is the sister of James L. Spaletta of Pt. Reyes Station, Mrs. Barbara Vomasi of Sebastopol, and Charles, William, Domingo and John Spaletta of Petaluma.

Dalen Oriental Styles Delight Guests Honoring Jolly Rogers

Norma of Dalen, the talented San Francisco designer of beautiful Oriental fashions won a host of new Marin friends at Tuesday's showing of her custom originals for spring.

Promenading "In a Chinese Garden" during Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon were eight attractive members of the Jolly Roger Chapter of the Children's Home Society.

As one of more than a hundred auxiliary's throughout California who help to support the Children's Home Society, the state's only privately supported adoption agency, the Jolly Roger Chapter works the year round giving of its time and talents.

And Norma of Dalen, creating her originals for the Jolly Roger models, certainly made their talents very obvious. Though sparkling with the romance of the Orient, each fashion was happily at home in Marin. Simplicity in styling was the keynote to emphasize the feminine assets and the rich beauty of the fabrics imported by Norma and made especially for her in Hong Kong.

Whether a traditional Chinese sheath in handsome brocade styled with the frog closing, a fetching teatimer in silk or a dance dress of gold and white, Norma's creation reflected her rich Chinese heritage, her training by a distinguish French couturier, and her skill at choosing colors and fabrics that are refreshing and different.

SHOW STOPPING

As show stopping as the Norma of Dalen originals which she creates in her studio in San Francisco were the high fashion coiffures which complimented these. Creation by the San Rafael salon to make each Jolly Roger model a goddess of beauty, they were as exciting and newsworthy as any unveiled on the Paris fashion scene.

They Chinese parasols peeked through spring blossoms on each table to suggest the proper mood for "In a Chinese Garden," and the distinctive fashions were silhouetted against an antique Chinese screen imported by Philip of Dalen, Norma's brother, a distinguished Hong Kong exporter who had recently come to the United States.

"In a Chinese Garden:"

"Kwan Yin," a traditional Chinese robe in sea blue intricately scrolled in brilliant sequins, tapered points of white chiffon to cover the hands of Mrs. George Neuwald in the centuries-old way.

"Chinese Wedding," modesty, happiness and "many children" symbolized in the floor length red satin skirt richly embroidered in flowers and birds and a black satin mandarin coat also magnificently embroidered and modeled by Mrs. Warren Hodgson.

"Tea Time," Mrs. George Barnwall showing the Norma of Dalon way to greet a husband at the end of his busy day, lounging in pongee silk print teatimer, circles of greens splashed on white slim tapers and a matching fitted silk.

"Cocktail Chiffon," brilliant blue chiffon sheathed to shimmer closely over matching blue silk; simple and delightful to accent the feminity of Mrs. Walter Derr, Jr.

"Town Costume," beige and apricott checks in the softest light weight wool; the dress slim and sleeveless; the jacket fitted, collared importantly and hooked with the traditional frog closing for Mrs. James Zierolf.

FOR AT HOME

"Royal Robe," for at home entertaining, Mrs. Daniel Aughney showing the spectacular red hostess coat flared to the floor, embroidered with gold and underneath gold trousers tapering to a pretty ankle.

"Golden Glow" of gold thread intricately intertwined on a strapless dance dress of tulle; a misty white chiffon coat dotted with gold coin dots and banded in gold to chaperon it, and Mrs. James Kean the plus factor.

"Evening Elegance," Norma of Dalen's pencil slim floor length sheath in hyacinth blue silk brocade to wear with its own floor length great coat of matching blue lined with raspberry silk, Mrs. Donald Leaf adding her special elegance.

Next Tuesday, Fashion Focus presents the spring collection of the charming San Francisco designer, Eleanor Green, in an unusual public showing to honor the Marin Chapter of the American Association of University Women. Reservations for this "Afternoon in Spring" may be made by calling Rickey's.

Luncheon To Aid Girls State Program

March 16 has been earmarked for a salad luncheon to be given by members of Twin Cities Unit 313 of the American Legion Auxiliary. Proceeds of the event, which is open to the public, will benefit the Auxiliary's annual sponsorship of the Girls State program to be held at the Davis campus of the University of California.

The Auxiliary's state-wide Girls State program now in its 17th year will see some 450 high school juniors from California schools attending the week's session in practical government, setting up their own city, county and state governmental bodies. Climax of the sessions will see election of an outstanding citizen and Governor from California to attend the Girls Nation event in Washington, D.C. in June with two representatives from each of the States of the Nation, sponsored entirely by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Red Cross activities in Marin County and in far flung corners of the globe were highlighted by Executive Director, Marin County Chapter of the American National Red Cross organization. "Our work with servicemen and their families, disabled veterans and their families and dependents of deceased servicemen is closely allied to that of the Auxiliary," stated Mrs. Anderson, "because we, too, are concerned with the welfare of servicemen in need and separated from their families and with those hospitalized veterans in need of temporary emergency aid."

Disaster services of the Red Cross, social service aids, motor services, water safety programs and grey lady programs were also explained to Auxiliary members by Mrs. Anderson. Work at the Napa State Hospital with individual patients has permitted several to return to their homes, she stated. American Legion and Auxiliary members are also actively engaged in rehabilitation work at the Napa State Hospital.

Completion of poppy making at the Veterans Home of California was reported by Mrs. Maureen Lynch who also advised that American Legion Auxiliary units throughout the district assisting the veterans in poppy making would host a Poppy party of homemade cakes and coffee. Volunteers attending from Twin Cities included Mesdames Lynch, Bryce Florence, Dolly Hedrick, Sydney Harris, Laura Prene, Doris Eggerton, William Wagner and James Green.

Initiation ceremonies for newly enrolled members of the Unit and the official visit of district president Wagner will be observed at the March meeting of the Unit, according to Unit President Mrs. Edwin Olmstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Meyer of Belvedere are announcing the engagement of their daughter Marilyn Louise, to Aubrey D. Olson. Lynn attends Tamalpais High. Mrs. Peter Carroll of San Francisco is her sister and she has a small brother, Charles Meyer. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Louise Meyer of Mill Valley and Mrs. Harold D. Bailey of Santa Rosa.

Aub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Olson of Sparks, Nev., is a graduate of Leggett Valley High School where he was outstanding in sports. He has four young brothers, Richard, Calvin, David and Charles, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Olson of Placerville are his grandparents. The young man is employed by the Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Donald Young Honors Houseguest

Mrs. Donald Young entertained recently at a pre-fashion show luncheon at her home, 55 Brookside drive, in San Anselmo, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Harris Messner of Yreka. After lunch everyone attended the Fashion show at Sir Francis Drake.

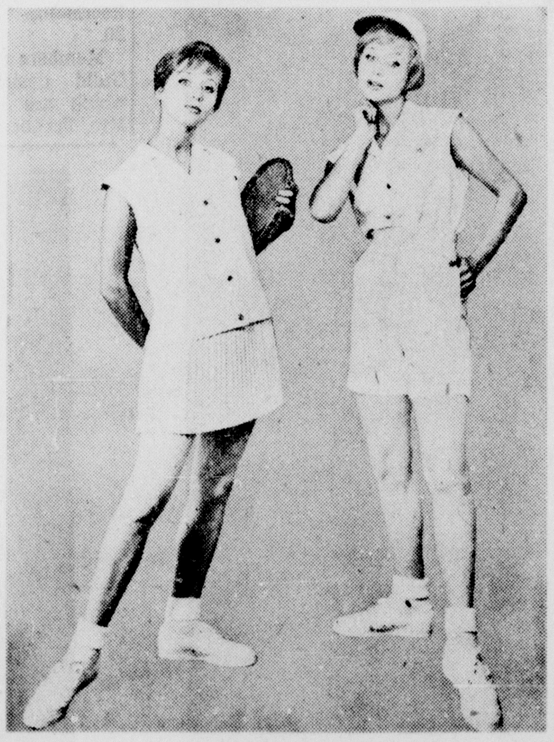

Mrs. Young had as her guests besides the honoree, Mesdames Ella Fulmor, Jim Davis, Wallace Purtell, all of San Francisco; Mrs. Marilyn Munroe of San Rafael, Mesdames M. E. Schrock, William Tierney, Wesley Honeyman and J. E. Rechtfertig of San Anselmo.

Son For Huffmans

The Roy Huffmans of Novato have received word of the birth of their sixth grandchild, Michael Stanley Huffman, on Feb. 22 at Sierra Hospital in Fresno. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Huffman, who moved from Mill Valley to Canoga Park around the middle of January. They have two other children, Steven, 3, and Patricia, 2. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Schneider of Fresno.

OWC Holds Bridge Day

There were ten tables at the recent Hamilton Air Force Base Officers' Wives Club "All-Day Bridge" held at the Officers' Club.

The All-Day High prize was won by Mrs. Robert Merritt and Mrs. Kenneth Clark. Morning high prizes went to the same partners while the afternoon high was won by Mrs. O. T. Howard and Mrs. J. L. Klemovich.

Additional All-Day prizes, from second through seventh place were awarded to Mesdames E. F. Hoover and R. E. Hendricksen, James A. Sullens and J. P. Saxton, J. L. Morris and R. W. Hamilton, Howard and Klemovich, T. C. Holmes and E. D. Cullivan and Douglas Erickson and Marvin Kotter.

The next All-Day Bridge is set for March 31. Reservations by partners must be made by March 28 with Mrs. C. R. Oberg of San Rafael.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Judith Lynn McKean of Concord and David Ellsworth Allen of Sleepy Hollow, was revealed recently by the bride-elect to her Alpha Chi Omega Sorority sisters at the University of California. The prospective benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Allen of Sleepy Hollow.

DAVID ALLEN, JUDITH McKEAN WILL MARRY ON SEPTEMBER 11

September 11 has been chosen as the date for the wedding of Judith Lynn McKean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKean of Concord, and David Ellsworth Allen, son of the Harry B. Allens of Sleepy Hollow.

News of the engagement was first revealed by Judy to her Alpha Chi Omega sorority sisters at the Berkeley campus of the University of California in the traditional candle ceremony.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Mt. Diablo High School and is majoring in psychology at the University. She has one sister, Joan McKean of Concord.

The future benedict, a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, is a senior in industrial engineering on the Berkeley campus and is a member of Chi Chi Fraternity. He has two sisters, Eloise, a junior at Stanford University, and Allison, and one brother, Timothy.

Both young people will be graduated from the University in June.

'Slim-Trim' Class Registrants Needed

More registrants are needed in the "Slim-Trim" class at Tamalpais High School if the classes are to continue, Charles Crawford, publicity director said today.

It is an exercise class with emphasis on weight-losing exercises, Crawford said, and some creative dance is worked in near the end of the two-hour session. The class meets Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., in the girls gymnasium.

Kappa Delta Alumnae

Kappa Delta Alumnae of Marin County will hold their regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Cross, 66 Platt avenue, Sausalito. Mrs. Cross will present a travelogue of her recent European trip. Hostesses will be Mrs. S. W. Andrews and Mrs. Cross. All Kappa Delta members are invited to attend.

Sausalito Visitors

Major and Mrs. Robert Sandstrom of Clearfield, Utah, with their son, Spencer, and daughter, Robin, were weekend visitors in Sausalito. Mrs. Sandstrom, the former Patricia Schreiber, surprised her mother, Mrs. H. R. Schrieber with the spur of the moment visit. Major Sandstrom is stationed at Hill Air Force Base and it is about four years since the former Marin couple has visited "home." Impromptu dinner parties were held both Friday and Saturday at Mrs. Schreiber's.

Tea To Fete Blood Bank Volunteers

More than 250 women volunteers from San Francisco, Marin, Napa and Solano Counties will be honored by Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society at a tea on Wednesday, March 9, at the Blood Bank, 270 Masonic avenue, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Sharing the duties of hostess for the annual affair will be Mrs. Curtis E. Smith of San Francisco, chairman of volunteers, and Mrs. Bernice Hemphill, blood bank managing director.

The blood bank requires the services of volunteers at its headquarters and on mobile trips to help the nurses with blood procurement, to assist with donor recruitment, to serve refreshments in the canteen, and to perform general office routines. From the bank's headquarters Motor Crops volunteers deliver blood to San Francisco hospitals. According to blood bank officials, the work of volunteers saves thousands of dollars annually for the organization, thereby enabling funds to be invested in technical advancement and research.

Fourteen women will be honored from this area for their blood bank service.

Dr. C. Y. Gates, president of the blood bank which serves Marin and seven other northern California counties, will be present to commend the following women volunteers from Novato: Mesdames James Sonniksen, Thomas Wiggin, who is Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary chairman, V.F.W. this year; Grover Owen, Charles Thompson, Harold Harker, Charles Field, Ralph Eckhardt, Ernest Laxton, Jack Owen, Louis Cavallero, Rubin Hendrickson, Leland Jones, Paul Woodward and George Scherba.

The blood bank has been sponsored in Novato, for the past several years by the Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary, 7816. It is a part of their Community Service and Civil Defense program.

Funk-Saunders Wedding Saturday In Mill Valley

Cheryl V. Saunders and Ronald E. Funk were married Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in the Mill Valley Methodist Church with the Rev. Edgar Nelson officiating at the double ring rites.

When Cheryl was given in marriage by her father, Arthur W. Saunders of Mill Valley, in the presence of relatives only, she was wearing a ballerina length dress of yellow nylon. It was fashioned with full skirt having a side drape and sleeveless bodice with high neckline.

On her hair she wore a white velvet band with short veil, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations centered with yellow roses.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Saunders of Cotati, who wore a green suit, and black cage veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

William Wright of San Rafael was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Funk of Sausalito.

Mrs. Saunders attended her daughter's wedding in a blue silk print dress with gray hat and accessories, and her corsage was of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a black wool suit and white hat, and her corsage was of variegated carnations.

Both Cheryl and Ronald are attending Tamalpais High School and plan to continue their studies. They will live with the bridegroom's parents in Sausalito

The bride has a sister, Mrs. Irving Sewell of Yosemite, and two brothers, Raymond Saunders of Cotati and James Saunders of San Francisco. Ronald has one sister, Georgiana Funk of Sausalito.

Auxiliary Greets Four New Members

Four new members attended the meeting of the San Rafael General Hospital Women's Auxiliary Monday, it was announced today by Mrs. Lawrence P. McNear, president.

Welcomed at the meeting were Mesdames Merton A. Jacobs, Harold Suhrke, Robert Trenchard and Donald L. Walling, all of San Rafael.

They will begin training Monday for volunteer floor work at the hospital. In charge of training are Mrs. McNear, Mrs. Walter H. Lethbridge, and Mrs. Leiton J. Elder.

For Fairfax P-TA

A special meeting of Fairfax Central Parent Teacher Association will be held on Monday night, March 7, commencing at 8 o'clock when two films will be shown. These are "Human Growth" and "Human Heredity." All parents are invited but it is necessary that parents of eighth grade pupils be present as their approval is necessary before the films can be shown to their children. A question and answer period will follow the showing. Refreshments will be served by Mesdames Cyrus Burns, Thomas Scahill and Edward Lara.

Pitfalls Ahead For State In Squaw Valley Operation

The sudden action which makes Squaw Valley a state park arouses mixed emotions.

On the one hand, we are glad to see another chunk of our beautiful Sierra country preserved for posterity. This one with its ski runs, ice arena and other winter sports facilities ought to be particularly useful to the public, unlike some wilderness area state parks which by their very nature are so remote and undeveloped as to limit their use and enjoyment to a very few people.

As the chief of the state Division of Beaches and Parks—Charles DeTurk—has noted, some of the earliest recorded use of skis and some of the earliest recorded competition among skiers took place in our California Sierra country. A state park at Squaw Valley could appropriately commemorate these firsts.

On the other hand, however, are some considerations that cause us concern.

Some estimates of the cost of maintaining and operating Squaw Valley put it in the "white elephant" class. It was not designed nor built for a state park and therefore probably is not efficient nor economical when used for park purposes. Its continuing costs may be far greater than its use justifies. Time will tell on this point.

Finally, what is to happen to the commercial enterprises there? The restaurant and lodging facilities?

If they are leased to a concessionaire will they be operated like some other monopolistic national park concessions we can think of where prices are too high and services leave too much to be desired?

Or worse, will they be operated by the state as a "socialized tourist facility?"

Last time anybody from the I-J visited Mt. McKinley national park in Alaska, we were subjected to the vagaries of a socialized tourist facility. The federal government runs the restaurant and lodging facilities there. Take it from us, they can be awful. We neither need nor want anything like that in California.

As we say, the news of the sudden move to make Squaw Valley a state park arouses mixed emotions. We hope that state park authorities are successful in circumventing the pitfalls we have mentioned.

A Depth Study, Whatever That Is

Sometimes a word or phrase catches the public fancy and is worked half to death. Often, since most of us ultimately make our own rules about language, the use to which they are put are mildly ridiculous.

We recently heard of a fifth grade teacher in San Francisco who was convinced her pupils were doing a "depth study" of England. Who's to prove she's wrong? Perhaps kindergarten children do "depth studies" in sandpile or blocks. One can go pretty deep in a sandpile.

But this terminology has come a long way from its original meanings. Depth studies and depth probing were largely terms connected with post-Fruedian psychology, which conceived of our minds as strata, like rock formations. To get to the basic and fundamental part, it is necessary to drill deep. Hence, the term "depth psychology" evolved.

But it sounded so deeply intellectual, so thorough, so catchy and wonderfully clever, that any fellow who could count to 10 and could name three presidents in their right order, now claimed he had "done depth research in mathematics and history."

Today a fellow scarcely thinks he's done a decent job of studying something unless it is labeled "depth study."

And now we must stop and do a "depth study" on the effect of a cup of coffee on the human stomach.

CHILD'S MESSAGE INSPIRES MILLIONS

The post office could not deliver a Christmas greeting sent by 9-year-old Susan Long of Belleville, N.J.

It was addressed to "The Baby Jesus, Bethlehem," and read: "Dear Jesus, I am writing to You instead of Santa because You are what Christmas is. I would like to say before we all forget, 'Happy Birthday,' and thank You for the present of You."

Even though the post office sent Susan's letter back with the notation "Returned for better address," her message reached people in many lands.

Within a few days newspapers all over the world had published her message. She received hundreds of letters praising her true Christmas spirit. Even the mayor of Bethlehem airmailed Susan a Christmas gift.

No good effort, however insignificant it may seem, is ever in vain. In one way or another, God sees that the smallest prayer, word or deed has an effect. We may never know the good accomplished but God sees and that counts above all else.

"Out of the mouths of infants and of sucklings, Thou hast perfected praise."
(Psalms 8:3)

Keep me ever conscious, O Holy Spirit, of the big blessing often hidden in little deeds.

Middle-Aged Man On Health Kick Has Little To Give Up For Lent

NEW YORK (AP) — "What are you giving up for Lent this year?"

People have been asking each other this question for days. Most of them now are embarked on their annual 40-day sacrifice of some form of personal indulgence.

The fellow down the hall from me has sworn off martinis for the duration. A girl on the floor below has turned her back on tempting chocolate sodas.

"Everybody ought to give up something for Lent, daddy," said my daughter, Tracy Ann, 6. "Is it all right if I give up bubble gum?"

I told her that was a fine thing to give up.

"And what are you going to give up?" asked my daughter.

The question stopped me cold.

"I haven't decided yet," I told her.

But what can a middle-aged man give up? He can't give up bossing-baiting, wife-beating or cop-fighting. He already has cut out such frivolities long ago.

If he is already on the wagon and embarked on a diet, he can't give up the bottle or the joys of the table. For the time being, these things are part of his past already.

WHEN YOU GET right down to it, a middle-aged man on a health kick doesn't have either any vices or joys he is aware of.

In this dilemma I consulted my wife who, fortunately, had not decided that for Lent she would give up on giving me advice.

"I can name a hundred things you could still give up," she said, and, bless her heart, I feel sure she could name 200 if she got really started. "But for one thing, why don't you do the draperies a favor and give up smoking those cheap cigars?"

WELL, THAT'S an idea. I guess I will give them up.

That leaves just one problem.

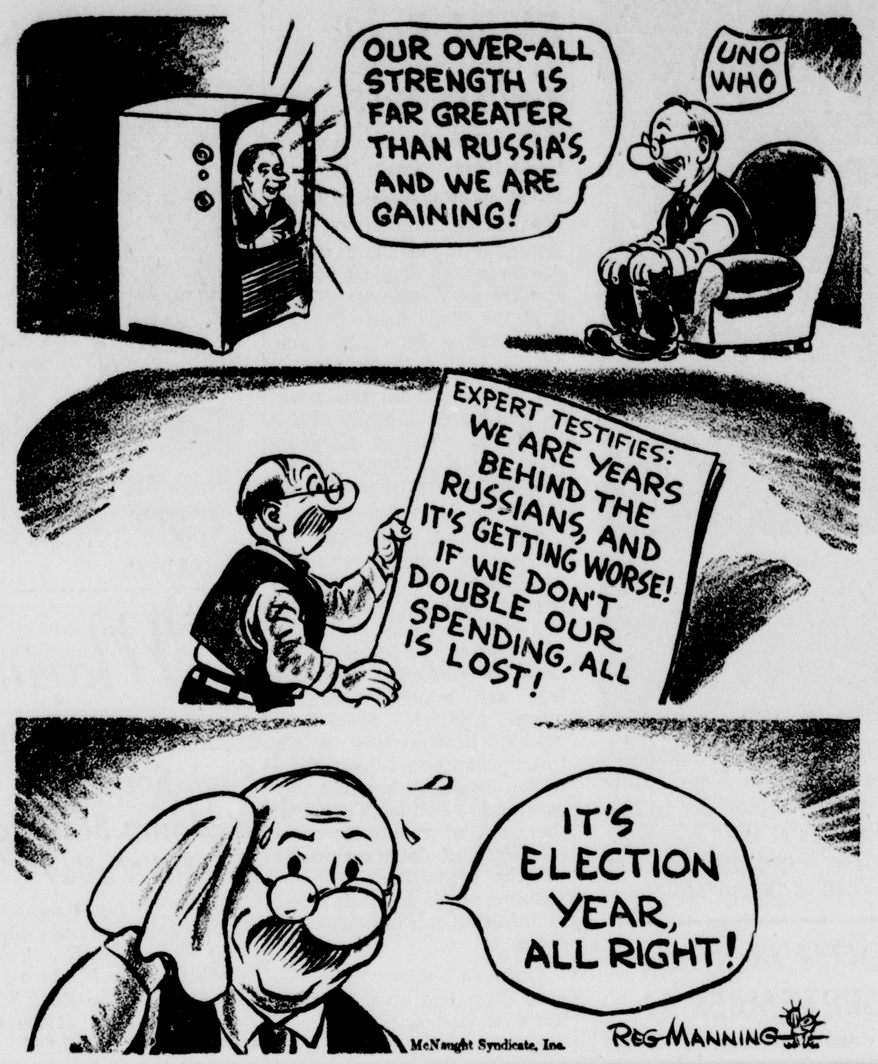

How am I going to get her to give me the money to smoke expensive cigars?

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Refuse Service To Disturbers

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The incredible thing is that a college board should find it necessary to discuss "whose job it is to police the students in the cafeteria."

Surely young men and women of college age should have acquired enough self-discipline and respect for the rights of others to behave themselves decently, whether supervised or not.

This is not a reflection on the College of Marin, but on our society as a whole. Children should learn their manners at home from both word and example of their parents long before college age.

The teacher should be free to teach academic subjects and broaden the outlook of the student, to instill a desire for even more knowledge. They can scarcely do this if their time must be spent wiping noses and teaching "please" and "thank you."

Speaking as a parent, however, I must say our job is not always too easy. So many of us are completely spent in the necessary tasks of providing food and shelter, that we scarcely remember the niceties we were taught ourselves, let alone having the time, patience or strength to teach them to our children.

Why then do any of us go on trying? Because we hope that things will be better by and by. As long as each individual does his best within the limits of his capacities, his reason for existence is justified.

The teaching profession as a whole certainly has reason for existence and if they must be limited by their students' capacity, then at least they will be doing their best within those limits.

As a practical measure, perhaps cafeteria service could be refused those who create disturbances.

GOVERNOR'S STAND:

If Legislature Doesn't Act Chessman Will be Executed

By JERRY REYNOLDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Now that the legislature is facing the political whirlpool made of Caryl Chessman and the death penalty, Gov. Edmund G. Brown appears content to float with the tide.

Brown told his news conference the other day that:

—He would not push the legislature to abolish capital punishment.

"I would like to see it passed. As to pressing it with lobbying, I don't intend to do that with any bill at this session. This is not the time for it."

—He would not complain if he loses the fight.

"Whatever they do will be acceptable to me. There will be no comment at all."

—If the legislature fails to repeal the death penalty, as a United Press International poll shows it is likely to do, he has "no alternative" but to let Chessman die in the gas chamber.

"If the legislature doesn't act on it, I am powerless to do anything about it and I won't do anything about it. I have no intention of asking the Supreme Court to change its opinion. Any further reprieves merely because of any personal feelings on my part would be an abuse of power in the absence of any remedy by the supreme court."

BROWN CLARIFIED his position on several other items involving the Los Angeles "Red Light Bandit" and capital punishment.

He said his 60-day reprieve of Chessman does not mean an end to capital punishment in California even if the legislature, which opened its session Monday, failed to act.

"My policy is the same. As long as it's (death penalty) in the statutes, it will be enforced."

Brown admitted he may have said that the Chessman case could be the end of his political career, but he didn't think he said it.

"I wouldn't want to predict such a dire prediction," Brown said. "Every time you make a decision there's political danger. Whether I said that or not, I don't know."

Brown also said that a letter he received from Chessman, saying that a body that has not been found would help prove his innocence, would not be investigated.

"I don't put any credence in it," he said. "There's absolutely no merit in it whatsoever."

Chessman said last week that he was penning another letter to Brown in which he would point out his own conviction that he, personally, was detrimental to the cause of the death penalty repeal. Chessman said he probably would suggest a way to remove himself from the legislative consideration.

The UPI poll indicated that Chessman might be detrimental in the fight. The poll of 68 assemblymen showed that 40 of these were against abolition of capital punishment. Forty-nine said they were against giving clemency to Chessman.

The UPI talked to 105 legislators in the poll. Of the 40 members of the state senate, 37 were polled. Twenty-one said they were against capital punishment and 20 said they would not approve granting clemency to Chessman.

Esperanto Student Advocates Course

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It was mildly amusing to read in last Friday's I-J that Marin Junior College Trustee Kempf is so aggressively ignorant about the extent of Esperanto.

I know of several Marinites who are studying this auxiliary language. It would be a real benefit to many if a course is made available. Esperanto is a useful language tool.

Boyce House tells about a picturesque Texan named Parrish who went to see a lawyer on a fine legal point. The lawyer declared pompously, "A man of my standing in the profession requires a fee before discoursing on involved matters of this description."

Parrish slapped a quarter on the table and demanded, "Tell me all the law you know."

Then he added, "And give me back my change."

During World War II, while a blackout was in progress in Beverly Hills, the late Cecil De Mille, autocratic producer of Biblical spectacles like The Ten Commandments, noticed that all the lights were burning in the home of his nontemperance neighbor, W. C. Fields.

"Mr. Fields," De Mille called out across the hedge, "there's a blackout going on. Get all those lights out and fill your bathtub."

"Confound it," answered Fields grumpily, "can't we even have a blackout without one of your big bathtub scenes?"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

Dreamy Writer Recalls His Days In Company Of Big Screen Stars

TALKING THE other day to Don Donohue, Novato theater owner who is the big man at both the Novato and Tiburon theaters, brought back a lot of memories of my own days in the entertainment world.

As a callow youth I flickered many times on the silver screen, having worked as a part time extra in the picture making business for walking around money while going to school.

Those were the days before Hollywood went into the popcorn business and people went to the theater to see a film and not to get a square meal.

Greta Garbo, Charles Boyer and I once made a picture entitled "Napoleon." Also, Spencer Tracy, Franchot Tone and I labored long on a successful opus called "They Gave Him a Gun."

And there was "Lancer Spy" featuring me and Dolores Del Rio and a riotous college campus frolic, the name of which escapes me, in which Dick Powell, Fred Waring, his Pennsylvanians and yours truly played to packed houses.

TROUBLE WAS, they would not let me speak lines.

In those days the scale was $8 a day for silent extras and a 25-dollar bill if you uttered so much as a word.

Try as I might, I remained one of the unspoken mob. Matter of fact, when I took girls to see the movies I was in, we could never find me. Only once did I get a glimpse of myself charging an enemy machine gun nest.

Unfortunately, the girl with me sneezed at the precise moment I appeared, and when she opened her eyes my entire division had been wiped out by a cleverly concealed land mine.

Around the height of my career they were going into production on "Gone With the Wind." Although I was not after Clark Gable's job, I was anxious to do a few scenes with Maureen O'Hara.

Being fresh out of Tennessee at the time, I felt a real slight when they failed to call on me for a speaking part. I even went so far as to hang around Central Casting saying "Howdy, you all" to the office help.

To no avail. Instead I was shipped to a small lot where they were making a horse opera in which I was cast as an Apache Indian youth who never came out of his teepee.

The opus, as I recall, died on its feet the night it was previewed in Van Nuys.

Such things do not help one in a career behind the footlights.

I HAVE NOT given up my dreams of glory, however. I am sure there is a career waiting for me in the theater.

Each time I see a movie company in production I make it a point to hang around in front of the cameras in hopes a big producer will catch a glimpse of my profile and give me the call.

After all, Lana Turner got her start at the counter of Schwab's Drug Store where an alert scout put her name on the dotted line.

I am sure there are producers and scouts at this very moment beating the bushes for talent, holding out promises of fame, glory and cold, hard cash.

It might just as well be me as Rock Hudson.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

As Standard Of Living Improves Possibility Of Russ Revolt Rises

WASHINGTON — The central conviction of the young Soviet defector, Alexander Kaznacheyev — a conviction that runs counter to most Western opinion — is that the Khrushchev regime faces a continuing crisis at home, that Mr. Khrushchev's successor will be forced to "liberalize" the regime still further and that this trend cannot be reversed.

This column has recently quoted Mr. Kaznacheyev at length, not because we uncritically accept his view of the shape of events to come, but because we felt he had credentials to expound an opinion worth examining.

As a result of this interview with Kaznacheyev, I have been inundated with letters warning against being misled by an over-rosy expectation of a continuous softening of the Soviet dictatorship. Some of the letters questioned the validity of Kaznacheyev's main point, but most were fearful of American complacency and of thinking that there is some easy way of winning the contest against Communism.

I agree. Even if the internal trend is continuously toward "liberalization," there is no evidence that it is altering Soviet world objectives. The process might itself have to go on fifty to a hundred years. If the Soviet system changes from within, that will be a marvelous dividend, but we mustn't count on it.

BUT THE WISDOM of not basing our own policies on what may happen inside the Soviet Union does not prove that Kaznacheyev is wrong. What seems to me the most arresting observation he made is that the Khrushchev regime is weaker than its predecessors because it has made concessions to popular demand for a less oppressive regime and that as it permits a better standard of living for more of the Russian people, the demand for further concessions will grow, not abate.

Kaznacheyev seemed to me to be speaking from observation, not as a philosopher of revolutions. But the students of the psychology of revolutions bear him out. For example, Eric Hoffer in "The True Believer," published by Harper in 1951, points out that, historically, abject misery is appreciably relieved does it demand change. Mr. Hoffer puts it this way:

"Discontent is likely to be highest when misery is bearable; when conditions have so improved than an ideal state seems almost within reach. A grievance is most poignant when almost redressed."

The French Revolution is a perfect case in point, as de Tocqueville has shown. In his researches into the state of society in France before the Revolution, de Tocqueville was struck by the discovery that "In no one of the periods which have followed the Revolution of 1789 has the national prosperity of France augmented more rapidly than it did in the twenty years preceding that event . . . The French found their position the more intolerable the better it became."

Mr. Hoffer looks at both the French and Soviet revolutions and draws this interesting conclusion:

"In both France and Russia the land-hungry peasants owned almost exactly one-third of the agricultural land at the outbreak of the revolution, and most of that land was acquired during the generation or two preceding the revolution . . . It is not actual suffering but the taste of better things which excites people to revolt . . . The most dangerout moment for the regime of the Politburo will be when a considerable improvement in the economic conditions of the Russian masses has been achieved and the iron totalitarian rule somewhat relaxed."

THIS IS EXACTLY what Kaznacheyev is talking about. He held, that with the beginning of the process of some relaxation and some relieving of the misery of the Russian people, the demand for further concessions grows, there is no turning back the clock. It may take decades; we can't count on it — just watch and continue to help the free world build a better peace.

School Science Fairs Started By Coincidence, Now Well Established

By HELAINE ANDERSON

Marin's first student science fair, held in 1956, was the product of favorable circustances more than of contrivance. And the teacher who staged that fair became one of the area's outstanding science instructors in the same uncalculated manner.

The first fair was held at Fairfax Central School two years before the popular Tamalpais Union High School events were started. Kenneth C. Lucas, now assistant principal as well as eighth grade teacher at Central, produced it.

Some 25 seventh and eighth graders from all schools in the Fairfax district are expected to exhibit projects at the fifth annual science fair Monday evening in Room 4 of Central School. Gold pins and merit awards will be given in two categories: physical and biological sciences. Winners will be encouraged to enter the countywide science fair March 16-18 at Tamalpais High School and the Bay Area fair April 2-6 in San Francisco.

Lucas said of his first show:

"The class had done some unusually good projects that year. There was an empty room in the building, believe it or not, so we thought we'd put it to use exhibiting the students' work to the P-TA. The response, both from parents and students, was so enthusiastic that we've continued — even without an extra room."

Lucas estimates that some 200 students have taken part in the Fairfax fairs.

Actually, Lucas began setting up science project exhibits back in 1954, a year after the Bay Area Science Fair began. His class's salt water acquarium, established six years ago and still maintained, attracted area-wide attention and was aided by representatives of the Steinhart Aquarium. But Lucas doesn't count it "because we didn't call our exhibits 'fairs' at first."

In fact, there are times when he ponders the advisability of fairs at all. If the exhibits evolve from class work and are the result of true interest and scientific methods, then Lucas believes it is all right to invite parents and friends "to come see." But if students whip up artificial interest just to be able to take part, then the fair is of dubious value, in Lucas' opinion.

In an attempt to eliminate the latter type of participation, Lucas and his students draft new fair rules annually. He tries to avoid work on the projects at home. ("It is too tempting to let well-meaning parents give a hand. Also, supervision discourages dangerous undertakings.") And he strongly favors solo projects over those involving two or three pupils. ("There have been times one student did nothing but the lettering for a project.")

Lucas feels that once students have overcome their fear of attempting an elementary school science project, they will feel at ease in undertaking high school projects.

World affairs affect student choice, Lucas says. "We had almost nothing but rockets following Sputnik, and after the 1957 earthquake, a student won a prize with a seismograph he put together in less than a month." This year, the fight against disease has intrigued Fairfax's youthful scientists, Lucas reports.

Lucas, now 33, majored in art at San Jose State College. But he was so interested in science, that he took enough sciences courses to make it a minor.

Art was still uppermost in his mind when he went on to San Francisco State to earn the master's degree in education. He planned to be an art teacher in high school.

Date Changed For Tam High Musical

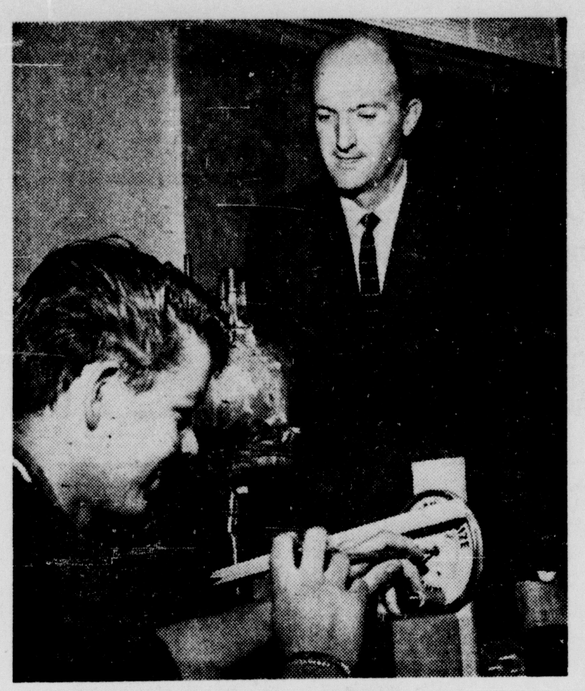

"Brigadoon," the musical comedy originally set for March 10, 11 and 12 at Tamalpais High School, has been changed to March 17, 18 and 19.

The date change has been made because Tamalpais High is to represent Marin County at the Tournament Champions basketbail tournament at the University of California in Berkeley, March 10, 11 and 12, and many of the student body are expected to attend, said Principal Richard L. Campion.

The play will be held at 8:30 p.m. on the three days in the high school's Scott Auditorium.

Guitar Lessons

Guitar lessons for high school students will begin Saturday at the Creative Music School, 1403 Fifth avenue, San Rafael. Glen Carlson, who teaches a folk-music workshop at College of Marin, is the instructor.

HEP TO HEALTH—The fight against disease has intrigued most Fairfax Central School experimenters in science this year, according to Kenneth C. Lucas, science instructor (right). Here, Gerry Meier is working on a model of a mechanical lung which will be one of exhibits in Fairfax schools' science fair Monday night.

FAIR COMING UP—Chris Scheppelman and Louise Lepley check an exhibit on the telephone for the Fairfax School District's science fair Monday night at Fairfax Central School. Both girls are eighth graders at Fairfax Central. Awards will be given in physical and biological sciences, and winners may enter the Tamalpais District Fair March 16-18.

Spankings In School Can Make The Bad Boys Turn Even Worse

Is punishment a problem at your school? Let's take a look.

Most of us want schools to spank bad kids. We demand strong discipline every time we're asked. But when our own sons are spanked we raise the roof. We say they've been treated unfairly. We aren't consistent.

That's why so many school folks don't like to discuss punishment with parents. They know they'll be damned if they do, and damned if they don't. I've been a teacher and a principal. I know what it's like.

Recently, I was asked to judge a school's methods of punishment. I asked three questions. They may help you in evaluating your own school.

Are the teachers doing a good job of teaching? If they are, punishment will be kept at a minimum. The children will be interested and busy. The faster ones will be challenged. The slower ones will find some success. Poor teaching creates most of the punishment problems.

Is the punishment adjusted to the child receiving it? What works with Johnny won't work with Billy. Some children responded to a talking to, some to a frown but some need sterner methods.

Is corporal punishment used rarely and then only by the principal? I've studied the effects of spankings and whippings many times. When teachers do it, the atmosphere of their class is brutalized. The boys usually form a phalanx against her. If anyone is going to spank, it should be someone outside the classroom. The principal is best. Even so, I don't like it.

The result of school corporal punishment usually is to make bad boys worse.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My boy was kept after school for talking. The teacher made him write 'tomorrow I'll be a better scholar' on the blackboard 100 times. Do you think this will make him a better scholar?" —R.R.D.

(A) Probably not. That is a common method of punishment, but usually it is ineffective. It is more apt to increase your son's resentment than to improve his scholarship.

Hearing Scheduled On Swimming Pool

Permission to construct a 39-by-60-foot swimming pool for the Northbridge Property Owners Assn. on a site adjacent to the proposed armory site on the new civic center grounds will be put before the Marin County Planning Commission at a 10 a.m. public hearing Monday.

Drawings for a small children's splash pool and a pump house are included in plans submitted by the building firm, Billings - Hutchison, Inc., said planner Sidney Shaw.

The proposed pool will be for the use of Northbridge Property Owners Assn. members. "If all goes well," said builder Edward Hutchison, "work will start as soon as the weather clears."

Drunk Driver Draws Fine And Probation

Rodney Walter Doree, 25, truck driver living at 82 Southern Heights boulevard, San Rafael, must pay a $150 fine and remain on six months probation for drunken driving.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated on Sir Francis Drake boulevard in San Anselmo last Dec. 17.

Rehabilitation Forces Neglect Older Girls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Older girls who break the law are more often written off as "hopeless" than given the breaks that their male counterparts get.

That was the conclusion of a five-year study given to Gov. Edmund G. Brown. The study of 385 girls between 16 and 24 confirmed suspicions that girls of this age who come into conflict with society are neglected by public agencies, compared with younger girls or to young men of the same ages.

Dr. Charlotte Elmott, Santa Barbara educator who headed the committee, said that little effort is made at rehabilitation of young women with repeated sex offenses, narcotics addiction, theft records or general incorrigibility.

In fact, she said, the study showed that only one or two county jails, which hold one-third of the young women offenders, have any rehabilitation programs at all.

Delinquent boys, the study showed, obviously receive more attention because there are more of them. Law enforcement agencies reported that 85 per cent of juvenile arrests were among boys.

Differential treatment and facilities afforded the two groups bore out the theory. The study showed that fewer young women than men were granted probation and that, while the Department of Corrections provided an intermediate institution for young men, there is no such facility for girls.

It was also shown that many girls with records, while their troubles were diagnosed, received no rehabilitation and were left to commit the offenses time after time.

Drunkenness was listed as the greatest single arrest classification. Researchers found that 28 of the young women between 21 and 24 had been arrested a total of 287 times, 173 of these for drunkenness.

With drunkenness and another major problem, narcotics addiction, it was found that for most of the offenders, the girls were not referred to authorities when their problems first became known. Further, there was almost no rehabilitation service offered to them when their problems became acute.

Dr. Elmott said the committee did not recommend that extensive — and expensive new program be instituted to aid older girls but rather that existing programs be expanded and improved to suit their needs.

She suggested that better coordination of the agencies involved and better communication between them would begin to solve the problem.

The study was undertaken after police, county probation departments, judges and correctional personnel said that more attention should be given to the growing number of older girls who were becoming lawbreakers.

It was initiated by a Governor's Committee on Children and Youth and financed by a $51,480 grant from the Rosenburg Foundation in San Francisco.

Solon Asks Death For 2nd Dope Sale

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Legislation was introduced in the Assembly yesterday to provide the death penalty for second-offense narcotics peddlers.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos) submitted two bills to make sale of heroin and sale to minors capital offenses.

A third would ease rules of evidence in narcotics cases, permitting police to conceal identity of informants and use evidence seized without a search warrant.

S.F. Players Hold Interest Of Children

By CORENA GREEN

To present a play to an auditorium of children and capture and keep their attention for an hour is a real art. And it is an art that has been captured by the San Francisco Players Guild.

This talented group, capably directed by Martha Eliot of Belvedere, has developed attention-keeping to where everyone—actors, children and parents—return home feeling they have had a fine time.

COMING TO PACHECO

This is especially true of the Guild's latest production, "Song of the Troubador," which was presented Saturday in the Reed School auditorium and will be repeated at Pacheco School in the San Jose District on March 16. The story is a relatively simple one about a purloined diamond which grows dimmer and less precious the more lies are told to cover up the theft. When the truth is finally told, the diamond's brilliance is restored.

The costumes and scenery are colorful and beautiful and the actors well cast.

TIBURON RESIDENT

Berton Bennett plays Mumentrie the merchant. He has always been popular with the Reed children, for his parts usually require much blustering around the stage. He lives in Tiburon and has been in previous productions such as Gepetto in "Pinocchio" and last year as the giant in "The Magic Ring."

The Gypsy queen, Gresila, played by Sybil Siegel, a long time member of the Guild, particularly charmed the audience with her slyness. Raymond, Duke of Limousin, as played by Jacques Denbeaux, was most appealing to the children, also. There is a charming scene in which he becomes involved in a game of darts, and, childlike, must move closer and closer to hit the bull's eye.

GYPSY PRINCESS

Marge Dupuy as Eleanor and Susan Norton as the Gypsy princess who aspires to be a great lady of nobility float gracefully around the stage in dazzling costumes.

Newcomer to the group is John Brebner of Sausalito, whose name is well known in local theatricals. He is the troubador and it is he who projects himself into the audience. Each child in the audience no doubt felt that the handsome troubador was telling this story only to him or her individually.

Halfway through, when the audience approched its squirmiest worst, Brebner with Denbeaux led a little calisthenic exercise and a small bit of group singing. Then everyone settled back and they went on with the play.

There is no question that the productions of the San Francisco Players Guild are children's theater at its best.

Charter Issued To Marin Umpires

WICHITA, Kan. — The National Baseball Congress today announced the re-issuing of the Marin County Umpires Assn. in its 1960 National Association of Umpires.

Under terms of the charter this group will have jurisdiction of approving all individual umpire memberships into the National Association from Marin County.

Erwin X. Kelly Jr. of San Rafael is secretary of the group.

Only approved members of the NBC Association of Umpires are eligible to officiate in sanctioned district and state tournaments preceding the 26th annual National Tournament in Wichita, starting Aug. 19, Congress president Ray Dumont said.

New Student Unit Formed At School

A new organization designed to encourage interest in international cultural exchange has been formed at Redwood High School.

More than 60 students have indicated interest in the group, acting adviser Robert J. Mautner said.

Shirley McClure, temporary chairman, said the group will work closely with the student exchange programs at Redwood sponsored by the American Field Service and the Experiment in International Living, and with Phi Lambda Sigma, Redwood's foreign language society.

KALAMAZOO'S SHOPPING MALL BIG SUCCESS

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Kalamazoo's downtown shopping mall is six months old—and nearly everybody still is happy with it.

In a poll of 45 retail stores on the mall, the Kalamazoo Gazette found only three dissatisfied.

A survey by the Downtown Kalamazoo Assn. indicated there had been an over-all average increase of 10 to 15 per cent in sales since the mall was opened in August.

Point Reyes Park Unit Sets Meet

The Marin committee of the Point Reyes National Seashore Foundation will hold its second meeting on the Pt. Reyes Peninsula next Wednesday.

Members have been asked to take box lunches and meet at the entrance to Kent Woodlands at 9 a.m. or at the entrance to Samuel P. Taylor State Park at 9:30 a.m. The group will have lunch on the peninsula during a tour of the area, according to Mrs. Helen Merret, treasurer of the organization.

Persons who wish to join the group may call Mrs. Giles, San Rafael; Mrs. William Ford, Corte Madera; Mrs. Bernard Stone, Kentfield; Mrs. J. S. Detwiller, Ross; Mrs. Robin Cannon, Novato; Mrs. Stanley Purdom, Nicasio; Mrs. Carl Book, Mill Valley; Mrs. Stanley Dick, Tiburon, or Mrs. Bruce Johnstone, Inverness.

The group will meet again at 7:30 p.m., March 15, at Olney Hall, College of Marin, to hear a talk on the proposed park area. The meeting will be open to the public.

Inspection Dates Set In Sale Of Surplus Property

Inspection dates for approximately 70 lots of surplus goods to go up for spot bid sale on March 22 have been set for Monday through March 21, at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The items may be seen on the base in Building 727, Mondays through Fridays from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 4 p.m. until March 21.

Property for sale includes trucks, pickup, bus, sedans, towed road sweeper, office equipment, oils and greases, paint, instruments and laboratory equipment, generators, compressors and fire extinguishers.

Bid deposits on the surplus property are not required.

Planners To Hold Meet In Belvedere

The Belvedere Planning Commission will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Belvedere Community Hall to review a report to be sent to the city council on the proposed subdivision of Belvedere Island's western tidelands.

The report, drafted by commission chairman George Goddard and Thomas M. Lacey, will accompany the commission's denial of the subdivision application.

Scholarship Federation Elects New Officers

Jeffery Skov of Kentfield has been elected president of the Redwood High School chapter of the California Scholarship Federation.

Other officers are Ned Griffith of Ross, vice president; Nora Nininger of Larkspur, secretary, and Barbara Burns of Kentfield, treasurer.

Dear Norma Lee:

Just saw a home that may meet your needs. It's 3 bedrooms & 2 baths, has the family breakfast area & a fireplace that you want. The place is immaculate in and out and the yard can easily be maintained by your "oldest."

The owners are including some carpeting and the living room "draw drapes" also.

The home is only 5 years old and is located in a real nice area near to your church and grade school. Better give "Maier Realty" a ring and see it today. Let me know how you like this home.

P.S. — The price is only $23,500.

Horsemen's Group To Hear Speaker From Humane Unit

Mel L. Morse of the Marin County Humane Society will speak on the prevention of cruelty to horses used in the motion picture industry at a meeting of the Southern Marin Horseman's Assn. at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Old Mill School in Mill Valley.

Morse will tell about efforts of the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals regarding horses used in the film industry. He will explain how horses have been trained to fall, dive into water and do other seemingly dangerous tricks and stunts without injury to themselves or their riders.

Jill Peterson of Mill Valley was all-around high point winner of the first annual junior trail ride of the association held last Saturday, according to secretary Nancy D. Lowenthal.

Eric Peterson was winner of the blue ribbon in the 14 years and older section. Raymond Howell was first in the 13 years and younger division.

Novato City Leaders To Get Dunked

Novato's VIP's—city officials, school administrators, professional leaders and businessmen—will be on the receiving end of an icy dunking at the Novato Kiwanis-sponsored funfest this weekend in the Nave Shopping Center.

The carnival, which will run from noon to 6 p. m. tomorrow and from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. on Saturday, is to raise money for Kiwanis activities which include scholarships, aid to underprivileged children, general community work and a trophy for this Saturday's 4-H Club parade.

The dunking machine, expected to be the major attraction at the two-day affair, will drop the community leaders into a tub of ice water when marksmen from among the guests pay their money and hit a target with baseballs.

RADIO PERFORMER — Jim Lange of San Rafael has taken over broadcasting of afternoon shows on radio station KSFO, including "Commute Club" reports on traffic conditions. He is heard from 3 to 5:45 p. m. Monday through Saturday. He has performed on Bay Area radio and television shows since 1958.

Marin Catholic Players Set 2 Performances Of Play

The Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy hit of the '30s, "You Can't Take It With You," will be presented by the senior class of Marin Catholic High School tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Two casts of girls will alternate taking roles in the two-night run. Young actresses on stage tomorrow night are: Leslie Donohue, Nancy Friel, Kathy Young, Sue Helms, Martha Tobener, Karen Wendell and Becky Friendshuh.

Actors on stage both performances and alternating actresses for Saturday's show are Betsy Stiveson, Pete Bowhan, Sandy Rosso, June Chisolm, James Klein, Malcolm McLorg, Norman Swindling, Art Quinn, Larry Selna, Nancy Niederholzer, Ron Denman, Pete Mitchell, Tom Melion, Pat Monoghan, Janice Jansoone, Melodie Yaell, Pat Casey, Blake Rogers, Mike Anderson and Jack Kriel.

The production is under direction of Rev. Bernard Cummins.

Loot Rock, at Meramec Caverns in Missouri, is where the Jesse James gang used to split the riches they high-jacked from banks.

Final Performance Of 'Little Sheba' Scheduled

The Ross Valley Players will present their final trio of performances of "Come Back, Little Sheba," starting tonight.

The performances start at 8:30 p. m. at the Barn, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross. The second performance will be tomorrow, and the final one Saturday.

The Children's Dental Health Committee will sponsor tonight's performance, for the benefit of the committee's fluoridation campaign. Tickets will be available at the door.

Reggie Waldon and Dave Holaday take the leading roles in "Sheba," those of Lola and Doc, a middle-aged married couple for whom life has become drab, except for a wild and terrifying episode involving a drunken rage by Doc.

Others in the cast are Maria Michetti, the amorous roomer; Michael Lopez and William Falcon, her suitors; Ben Borden, postman, and William Morrisey, milkman. Jean Day is a neighbor, and Richard Brown and Don Wilson are members of Alcoholics Anonymous while Robert Thompson is a messenger.

Jack Lee designed the sets, Melinda Day was scenic artist, Carl Riznik, stage manager, assisted by Robert Miller and Fremont Kingery. Director is John Brebner.

Redwood Junior Prom Committees Named

Student committee heads for Redwood High School's junior prom to be held May 14, have been appointed. They are Paula Daly, decorations; Carol Ensler, theme; Melissa Nelken, bids; J. J. Rodrigo, entertainment; Boyd Cahill and Doug Herst, finance; Terry Wade, publicity; and Don Deane and Ned Griffith, chaperons.

Fashion-Minded Women Shop in Marin

OLD WORLD CHARM in this enchanting print on an all cotton fabric made in Austria. Gentle belling sleeves top the fitted bodice and the skirt is a pretty sweeping fullness of pleats and gathers. Ric-rac icing is on the neck and sleeve. Available at the Ross Valley Shop, Kentfield.

Take To Dome

College-age girls, especially, take to the dome-skirted dress. This silhouette, formerly reserved for evening, looks refreshingly pretty for day wear in spring's many silks, blends and lightweight wools.

White Refreshes

Lingerie touches—white collars, cuffs, trims—add spring freshness to many styles.

Spring Silhouette Emerges In 1960 As 'The Bare Look'

By PATRICIA ZINN

With wide open necklines and skirts just covering the knee, the '60 spring silhouette emerges as "The Bare Look."

The magic of color is even more recognized this spring with every important line casting a pale look over the spring pastels. White is the oustanding influence with bone and beige and the greens running a close second. Fashions dependable "Big Four"—black and navy, beige and gray—are this year mixed, blended or trimmed with white.

For Marinites, the casual, easy - wearable styles should have great appeal. Easy-slim or full skirts; sleeves wide, deep and short or big and pouffy; huge collars or no-collars; fitted coats and cover-all great coats; long or brief-jacketed suit-are among the choices of the spring season.

The most outstanding influence is in the width of the sleeve. Raglans, dolmans, dropped-shoulder effects, the sleeve is the thing this spring.

The versatility and wearability of this season is perhaps best exemplified by the houses of leading designers.

ANNE FOGARTY — This designer balances her collection between the slim and the full-skirted dress. She calls the slim the "Quarter Moon Sheath," with tab belt to accent the waist. The full is typically Fogarty—bouffant skirt with layers of petticoat.

LARRY ALDRICH — This designer predicted that the next major fashion change would be toward the lengthened torso. He lengthened it either by leaving the waist unbelted and giving an unbroken line from bust to hipbone, or with wide, crushed suede belts swung low.

HARRY FRECHTEL — Checks and plaids dominate the suit and coat group. Skirts look narrow but are easier to move in, because of double pleat gores.

VERA STEWART — This designer is best known for her sweater - dress coordinates. Cashmere cardigans dyed to match the dresses came with pipings or fagoting of the silk print of the dress, identical chalk or crystal beadings, or minature flower baskets.

NETTIE ROSENSTEIN — The designer softened the silhouette by raising the neckline of dresses, deepening the armholes and giving a loose look to sleeves. She lowered the waistline with shirred detailing.

B. H. WRAGGE — New colors and fabrics highlighted the works of designer Sydney Wragge. He introduced "Sun Tan," a blend of burnished gold and bronze, and safari silks, all handwoven in India.

ADELE SIMPSON — This collection, highly wearable from its classic wool and silk suits to its floral prints, included an old favorite — the coat dress. Worn as a coat or a dress, each had a wider look through the shoulders from use of capelets, fichus or big sleeves.

MAURICE RENTNER — Designer Bill Blass featured the cupola silhouette for daytime and dress-up. The cupola suits had a rounded look at the top—jackets with dropped shoulders, sleeves molded into a dome, small collars. Dresses were of two types — given a rounded look at the top with the dome sleeve for day; but for cocktail hours, the top of the dress was slim, the skirt full, with huge poufs of fabric sometimes in two and three tiers.

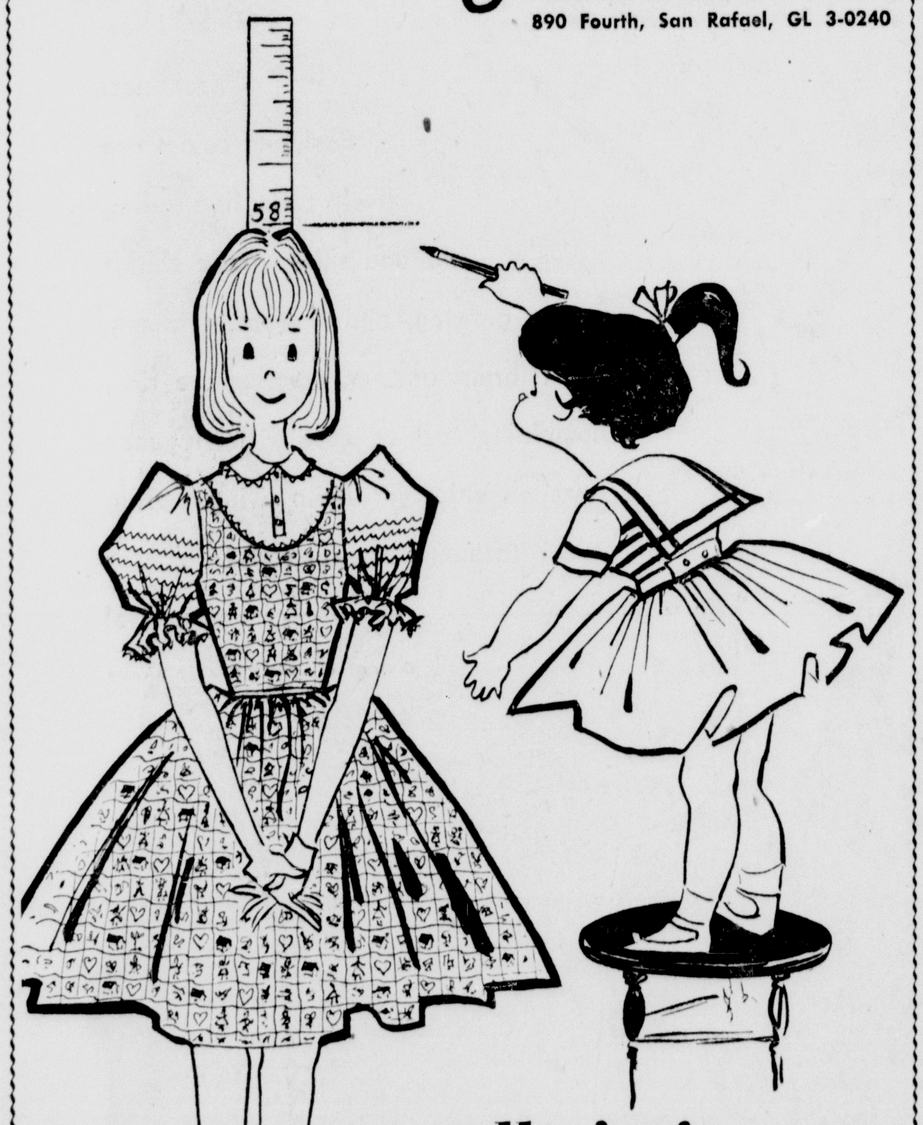

BRANELL — The top heavy look showed in cape collar treatments for slim dresses and costumes. Typical was a slim dress of black and white check wool, with patent leather belt, double row of buttons up the front, and wide collar almost a cape in its dimensions.

HARVEY BERIN — For daytime, the major silhouette was the pencil slim "Walking Stick" dress, a classic with this firm; this season, the figure-hugging dress is cut with small rounded collar or narrow band-collar, standing away from the neck. Cocktail and short formal dresses often had flared tunic effects or flowing panels overlaying a skinny skirt.

CRICKET STRIPE FLANNELS in very good form! This designer adds a licorice sash to the easy shirt and cricket skirt of vanilla flannel with licorice hairline stripes. Flannel that's made of Arnel to make washing a purely spectator sport. Featured at Modern Eve, San Rafael and Novato.

Mouth Watering Tints Key Pastel Palettes

The colors for the new season migh well have come right out of the Easter Bunny's basket!

The colors for Spring time are an array of clear-tinted water-colors . . . or a fresh box of assorted bon-bons . . . or may even be comparable to the listing of ice cream flavors.

Yes, this season's colors are "delicious" all ways — appealing to the eye, delectable to the "fashion taste" and mouth-watering in their nomenclature.

WHITE — Whites are milky, vanilla flavored, oyster-toned, cream, oatmeal and bisque tinted.

BEIGE — There's a cool and fresh look to the beige family for Spring. Pale almonds, butter creams, bamboo and light toast are the diverse hues of this color range.

YELLOW — There's a real fiesta of paled yellows for the season ahead. Look — there's lemon and citron, saffron and butter, quince and peach, apricot and flax; to name but a few!

GREEN — What wonderful greens to be seen this season! Out of the orchards and garden come lime-greens, pale apple greens, soft lettuce tones; mint and moss greens are smart and new-looking as are grass hues, and olives and all the many variations of leaf greens.

REDS — From true pinks to variations on orange-red themes there's a new appearance to red — it's paled-down, cool-looking and designed to accent or blend with all the many new pale colors.

Pale cherries, gentle vin rose, fresh shrimp, apricot and rosy peach, strawberry parfait, whipped cranberry and frosting pinks are the diversified notes of the red color scale.

BLUES — There's a brighter look to navy and a paler look to the low-keyed blues.

Blues are borrowed from the landscape of a fresh Spring day . . . here are some of the newsmakers: the blue of the sky, the blues of a robin's egg, the blue of a cornflower, bluebell and wisteria. Blues as pretty as a calm sea, a peacock's feather and bluebird's back are repeated in sparkling silks, rich cottons, luxurious suitings and coatings.

Blues slip gently into the purple tones this year, as pansy purples, lilacs and lavenders bloom throughout the fashions scene.

Wood violet becomes an important color after-five, and mauve-cast blues and rose-cast mauves step into the bright sunlight.

BROWN — now so new for spring when combined with pastels, used for accents or endorsement for checks, plaids or multi-tsripes — is a surprise favorite!

Brown stands in harmony with the loviest prints of the year. Bark tones, chocolate, sienna, mocha, raisin, and lots of variations or coffee-with-cream are importantly new.

Cafe espresso, rich and sultry, is the elegant touch for those who take their coffee "black." Again and again, such shades as burnt almonds, dark toast, cedar and nut browns stand out.

GREYS—From light to dark, grey is seen in woolens primarily—especially the beige-grey—called greige, or combined with pastels in plaids and stripes; BLACKS are big when combined with white or the new pale tones; bright hot shades blaze at their best in night settings but generally it's the Great White Way and the pale-glowing pastels that are making existing fashion copy this season.

New Colors, Styles Are The Highlights

In men's neckwear, it's well to join the swing to bright and bolder colors and patterns—in shantung silks, foulards, or reps.

Marking a trend away from the subdued tones of past seasons, the new ties greet the spring like a festival of cheer—complete in tune with the spirit of things.

Spring neckwear is light, bright and colorful. Medallion effects, scroll and tapestry prints will be featured as well as rich brocades, satins and jacquards in the Continental manner. The Ivy section stresses rep stripes and wool challies for the traditionalists. Foulard prints and woven cottons with an antique look will be popular.

STOP TRAFFIC in this Arnel and cotton check ensemble which features an embroidered cropped jacket. The patent belted sheath is of spun rayon. White linen ingenue collar frames the face. Available at The Mayfair Shop, San Rafael.

WHAT A pretty way to welcome spring! Picture yourself in this charming coordinate which features a deeply pleated full skirt and matching sleeveless weskit. The weskit is detailed by bias-band closing and has large pearl buttons. The "choir boy" collar blouse completes the ensemble. Available at Luana's, San Rafael and Corte Madera.

Going Down

Hints of lowered waistlines to come are seen in dresses with midriff detail—contrasting colors or fabrics, bias cuts, seaming—creating a long-torso effect.

Some designers drop skirt lengths an inch or two, to balance fashionable top width.

Back To Country

"Country look" in fabrics, as shown by homespuns, denims, corded and ribbed surfaces, is favored for young sportswear.

'Bulgy' Bags Novelties For Casual Wear

Smart and elegant handbags in colorful leathers are important fashion news as complements for the "Tailleur Look" of sleek suits and distinctive costumes, but fashion puts a host of gay novelty handbags front and center for new season importance!

Most often flaunting a split-color personality, these handbags are happy combinations of straw, leather and wood — with color!

In this category, the new bulgies are particularly interesting—looking pert and jaunty in melon, oval and pouch shapes.

In addition to their natural "woody" tones — bamboo, wicker and willow — textured straws also come in colorful guises of vibrant violet, hot orange, cool cocoa, tea, coffee and a range of icy sherbert shades.

With rope, leather and braided straw handles, these bags sport distinctive brass-and-gold colored hardware trims, are handsomely sparked with gay flowers and novelty baubles, bangles and beads.

Lots of pattern and big sizes theme fabric handbags for spring into summer.

Upholstery-type fabrics, straw cloths, tapestry, tweed and linen textures are all bright with color, pattern, large handles and are often shaped on wooden frames or are bound in leather.

Handbags that serve equally well for as hopping excursion, a casual day time affair or to carry aboard train, plane or ship — do their double duty with lots of room, plastic linings, inside compartments and dividers as well as with outside pockets for important travel papers or other necessities.

Copying Dad, Boys Flavor Continental

Copying Dad, little boys are well-dressed for spring in suits, coats and coordinates that show a strong Continental influence. Companion to the Continental is Ivy styling, which continues important.

Like the rest of the fashion family, boys' clothes take to muted colorings — lots of greens, golds and beiges — stripes and checks.

Western wear is a favorite with boys of all ages. Toddler boys like their Eton suits, as well as red-white-and-blue nautical-look outfits.

FURS SETTING NEW TRENDS

The desire for furs is a year-round one, as women everywhere dream and plan for the most luxurious item in their wardrobe. No wonder, then, that many of the top fur designers develop interesting collections, early in the year, which are ideal for spring and summer, and indicative of the fashion trends that will dominate the fur picture for fall and winter.

Spring days bring out all the lovely new fashions featured in the latest collections. The change is to a softer look. Furs are more feminine. There's a touch of elegance in all, and each seems to have been designed for a special occasion.

Interesting to see is the trend away from concentration on just one fur—namely, mink. Designers, realizing that fashion dictates variety, are expanding on all other furs.

Coming to the fore are Alaska fur seal, Norwegian blue and other foxes, Southwest African Persian lamb, sable, otter, American broadtail. Many novelty furs, such as spotted cat, offer individuality in the moderate price range.

In all furs, capes are new style setters, seen in many lengths, ranging from shoulder shrugs to just below the hip bone. Some flare gently, but the majority taper from the dropped shoulder line to barrel in at the bottom.

Jackets are meticulously tailored and offer many variations of the box line, usually softened by tucks or gatherings, achieving in many instances a bloused effect in back. Quite a few are true cardigans, reminiscent of the Thirties.

Many of the spencers or boleros look as though they had been inspired by the Edwardian era.

GAY AND LIGHT-hearted as a carnival is this dress for spring and summer. Of rayon broadcloth, it features the new "Silken Look." It is completely colorfast and washable. In toast and salmon. Available at Kaufman's, San Anselmo.

Two Trends Seen In Hats

Spring hats for men fall into two definite categories this year. There are sharp, definite and unmistakable differences between the dress-up models and the casual styles.

Dressy models include the curled-brim homburgs, derbies, demi-bowlers, off-the-face models with their unsnapped brims, and the English-type center-creased felts worn either plain or pinched in front.

The casual styles take their cue from the tapered-crown, small-brimmed Tyroleans and include many telescope shapes, as well as many casually creased featherweights shaped to meet the wearer's fancy.

Featherweight felts are leaders in the casual and sports hats, some of which can be rolled up to stow in the glove compartment of a car or packed in a travelling kit.

Tweedy mixtures — created by blending furs of several colors in the felting process — go well with shetlands, cheviots and flannels in sports ensembles. The same goes for the kitten-soft suede finishes and the rugged scratch finishes.

Spectator Is Ruling Shoe This Season

Spectators are queen among spring shoe fashions, with new styling that starts where the traditional brown-and-white spectator leaves off.

Seen in daytime, casual and evening shoes, spectators appear in combinations of smooth leathers in contrasting colors, and in new combinations of smooth and suede, suede and patent, smooth and grained, and subtle blends of suede and soft brushed leathers, reports the Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Many are in creamy shades of bone, barley-beige, cobbler tan and others in the brown family, as well as in gray, lilac, olive, comet blue and rose.

White, by itself or with other colors, is the most important single color in spring and summer shoes. In addition to all white spectators, there are highlights in white on dressy pumps and sandals.

Another important group, as spring travels on, are frosted spring and summer pastels in a full range of leather textures that are especially light in weight. These colors — notably yellow tulip, coral, Paris rose and lilac — have a whitened look.

The neat edge of the leather sole comes into special prominence in spectator styles, underlining the tailored shape of the shoe. Many daytime styles feature a welted, extended sole stitched in white or black. Evening shoes often have black-outlined leather soles.

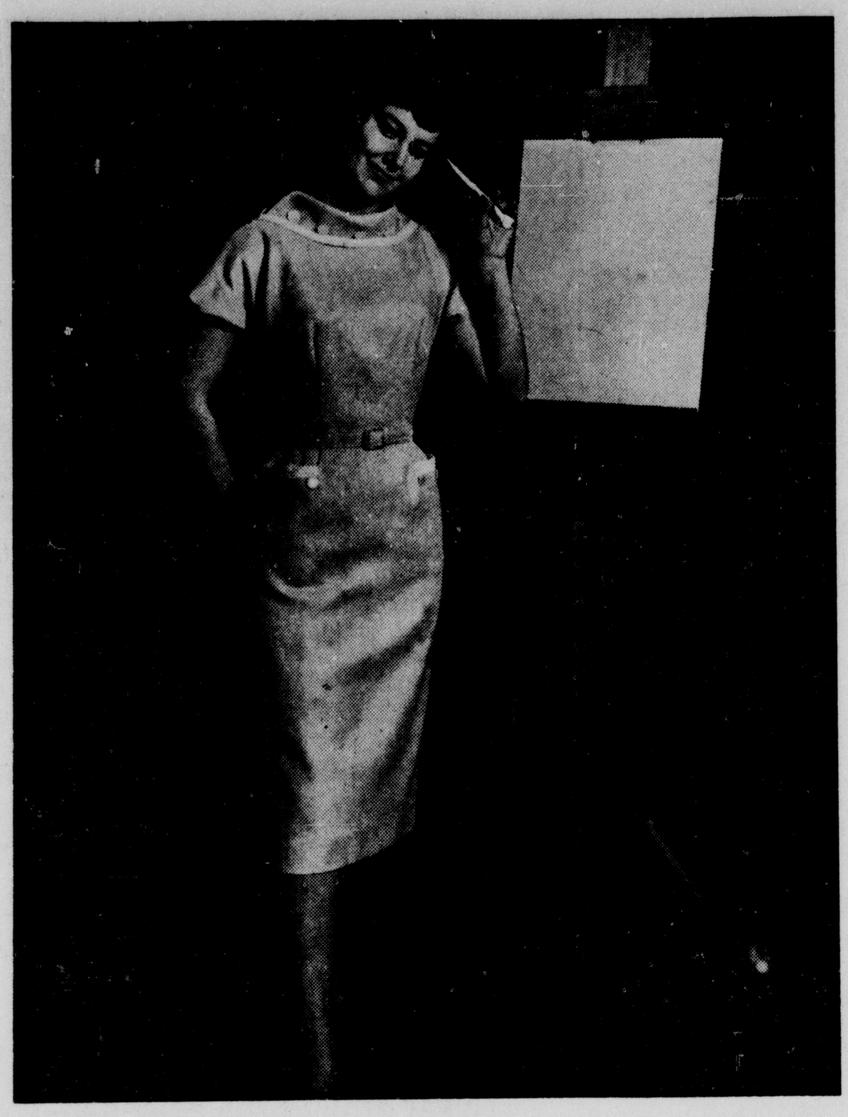

Spectator details — foxing, perforations, medallion designs — are imaginatively adapted to the trim, tailored feeling of afternoon shoes and the softly feminine styles of evening.

In dressy daytime and smart walking shoes, delicate piping or half-inch wide bands of kid, calf or patent leather outline the collar of the shoe.

Typical dressy coats are those in light-colored ottoman fabrics with jeweled buttons. White coats are impressive, one style being a white hopsacking cardigan trimmed with navy wool braid. Black velvet collars and black suede belts dress many of the new white coats.

Travel coats, in full or wrap styles, boast soft pastel plaids on white or light grounds.

Crisp hard-surfaced tweeds, airy weaves and slubbed silks for evenings are some coat-fabric favorites.

Fashion In Layers

Costumes in layers win favor with juniors. Some examples are: jumper over shirtwaist; jacket over overblouse over sheath; sleeveless jacket over shirtwaist dress that tucks into a skirt.

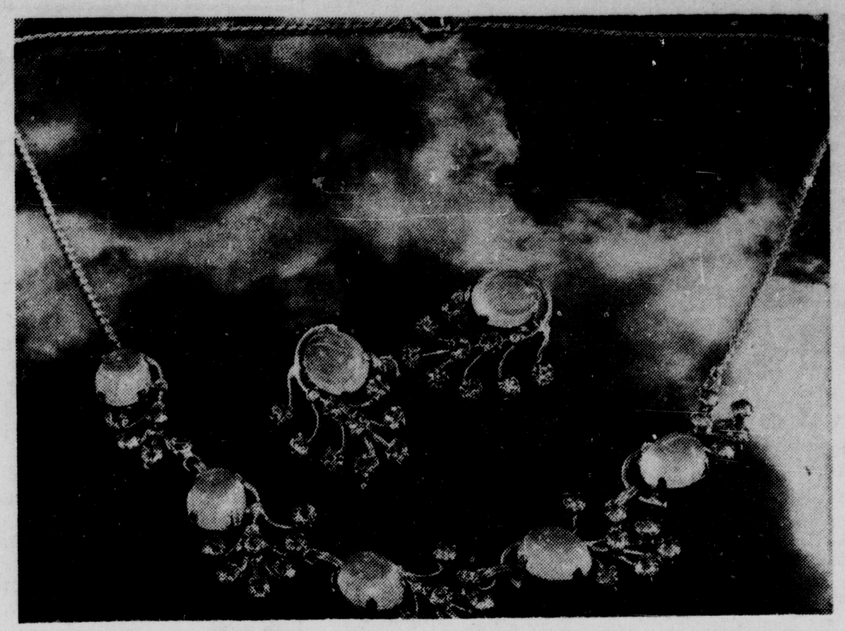

Beauty Going To Teen Feet

A teen seking mother's permission to use her first lipstick has a persuasive ally this spring in the new cosmetic-cued shoe shades. Footwear in the powdery tones and chalky undertones of popular beauty aids puts a soft glow at a teen's feet to match the touch of lipstick at her lips.

The cool and subtle cosmetic hues which enhance the high school look this season are available in a variety of perky shoe styles, silhouettes and leather textures, according to Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

There are casual brushed leather flats in cologne gold — a liquid tonal range from green to brown — and in foundation creams of white, off-white and beige.

For more formal wear, with spring gowns in understated colors, there are smooth and luster leather pumps in powder peach and lipstick pink.

SYNTHETIC MOONSTONE necklace and earrings designed by an artist and set by hand in the "Old World" manner. Styled with clusters of rhinestones in gold filled mountings. Manufactured by Van-Dell and found at Michael A. Gorb Jewelers in San Rafael. (Ken Molino photo)

LIGHTING UP SPRING, WHITE SHINES ALONE OR WITH COLOR

A blaze of white illuminates the fashion picture this season. There's white in coats and suits, dresses and separates, hats and accessories. White goes it alone, is paired with other solids, appears in prints as background or pattern.

White throws a mist of loveliness over spring pastels — notable among them, lavender, mauve-tinted blues, mint greens, yellow-greens. White pales the grays and beiges, appears with blacks and navies as a print or trim, and mixes with many colors in a nearly-subliminal way. It's often almost invisible to the eye, yet its fashion impression is definitely made.

The effect of white is felt in the muting of many colors. Gold tones are lightened and freshened. Gentle greens and taupes go neutral, are frequently called "no color." White softens pink and coral.

Paradoxically, white also has its share in the development of strong bright or dark colors. The bright hues need to be clear and true, for more effectiveness when worn with white. This is reflected in clear reds, greens and blues.

Because of white, dark colors are darker. The deeper shades of navy and newly-important strong browns join black in planning for dramatic contrasts with white.

In spring's favorite prints, white sparks houndstooth checks and powders over the pastels in new-looking glen plaids. In plaids and checks of all sorts, in abstracts, florals, geometrics, white is the light of fashion!

Coolness, Brevity Marks Latest Crop Of Lingerie

Cool and abbreviated styling marks a youthful freshness in spring's crop of new lingerie. Opened necklines, open sleeves, bare midriffs and bikinis offer spring-into-summer comfort.

Designed for easy care and serving practical needs, spring lingerie appears in a variety of delightful shapes. New intimate apparel, sleepwear and loungewear may be simply tailored, luxurious or playfully frivolous.

Nylon tricot is still a favorite; however there are many different nylons—some crepy, sheer and the new satin sheer plus nylon blends. Addition of a new faceted yarn to nylon tricot gives a crystal-like sparkle.

All-cotton drip-dry batiste or plisse attracts prints and bright colors while cotton blends are mostly solid pastel shades.

Silk crepe and nylon georgette star in full-length gowns and matching peignoir-type robes, often highlighted with lace at the bodice.

An Oriental flavor is dramatic in deep-floral print mandarin coats, some pleated at the side, imperial hostess gowns and rich brocade pajamas. These, together with full length gowns, are slated on long-side minority of spring's sleep and loungewear.

Short cuts to sleeping comfort are the short boxer style pajamas worn with sleeveless tops. Cool and brief is the popular baby doll style of gown, featuring a lovely neckline with full sweep of material from a wide yoke.

'SEPARATE' SEPARATES!

'60 Spring Sportswear Echoes Attractive Gamut Of Moods

What's exciting in sportswear for 1960? "Separate" separates! Chanel costume look! Madras plaids! Whitened and muted colors!

Energetically "on-the-go," spring sportswear echoes a gamut of moods. There are attractive separates for travel, office, school, sports, home and garden — all fashionable and refreshing.

Solids team up with color-coordinated prints, but the trend is toward separates that are truly "separate" — that mix well, rather than match. More and more contrasting fabrics and textures, as well as colors, are used.

MADRAS EVERYWHERE

Madras and madras-type plaids are everywhere, and madras-like deep tones appear in batik prints of jungle, garden, harlequin and South Sea island derivation.

Ginghams, denim and seersucker attract special attention.

Popular is the Chanel look, with easy-hanging jacket shorter overblouse and pleated skirt. Shirtwaists continue in high favor, with an interesting use of separates to give a "shirt-waist look."

Full skirts with unpressed pleats are combined with conventional roll sleeve blouses, cut from the same fabric or a contrasting material. Some add matching jackets.

Although much is made of decorative accents, classic simplicity and air of neatness prevail. Lavish use of embroidery — flowers, monograms, geometric designs — is noted favorably. There are also novel buttons, decorative stitching, ruffled cotton lace and distinctive belting.

A pants craze brings them in all lengths. Some are completely lined and stitched along the trouser crease, often showing a side V slit. Many are decorated and color coordinated—or contrasted — with blouses, jackets, weskits or T shirts.

Revived is the popularity of culottes and some sport pajamas, reminiscent of the Thirties. Bias cut circular skirts and short pleated play-skirts are also featured. Jumpers, sundresses, and one-piece playsuits get spring interest.

Loose popover blouses with fringe or embroidery trim look new in spring 1960 fabrics and shades, especially the milky pastel tones. Some are buttoned at sides. Overblouses boast new tailoring with rounded bottoms for a neat contour fit.

Knits are lighter in weight, lacier. Classic cardigans lead the sweater list, with a trend toward tunic length noted.

Casual suits have more slim skirts than full; however, the sheath-like skirt is definitely eased so that it does not ride up or wrinkle across the hipline.

VARY JACKETS

Jackets come short to hip-length, with or without collars and pockets. Along with the Chanel influence, there are mannish cutaways, double-breasted bell-hop styles, reversibles, boxy Western and Indian designs are shown.

White is very important alone or as a background for vivid prints. Tobacco brown, olive green, pale gold, deep blue and plum colors are among the fashionables.

Quaint checks, bold plaids, wide stripes, geometrics, mosaics and provincial prints are treated with high style. Crisp sharkskins, woven cords and chambray denims remain dependable.

THE "BOULEVARDIER," a three-quarter coat of leather Angola capeskin is excellent for wear over spring suits and is perfect for a walking coat. Washable and waterproof, the capeskin comes from the province of Angola, in Portuguese East Africa. It can be sponged off with soap and water. Available at Grace Graham County Clothes, Kentfield.

BELL RINGING IDEAS SEEN IN STYLES

Rounded bell shape rings a favorable fashion note for spring. There's the curved-shouldered, bell-shaped coat or "cloche" shape, as the French say.

There are dramatic bell-shaped tunics, achieved by a circular band of welting at the hem.

Tall bell-shaped hats and the shallower rounded helmets also chime this theme. Moreover, the bell makes news in sleeves on coats and dresses.

Even the bubble skirt seems to be only an inverted bell, as are trumpet styles and modified flared skirts.

Lovely Elegance Is Ready For Brides

Whether she prefers the completely traditional or more fashion-influenced styles, the spring bride will find the loveliness and elgeance she desires, in the wedding gowns ready for her choice.

Princess and other traditional styles, sophisticated sheaths with court trains and intricately draped full styles are some of the possibilities.

In many gowns, longer torsos are news. Embroidery, flying-sashes, tucked cummerbunds and corselet styling give waistlines dramatic attention.

Silk organza and a variety of lovely laces are favorite materials. Taffeta, nylon or silk tulle, peau de soie and embroidered white organdy win favor.

SHOE NEWS COMES all the way from Italy for Netboy's Spring collection. Very chic for casuals . . . so much so in fact, that Netboy's in San Rafael refers to their new Gamins imports as Italian informals. It is precisely this polish, the attention to fine detailing that makes them so fashionably versatile; as right with easily tailored town suits as with deep-country separates. They are all on snappy little heels of natural stacked leather, about one and a quarter inches high. They are unlined leathers, therefore subtle as your softest socks.

Bold Patterning Is Seen In Sportswear

Bold patterning, bright colors and smart designs mark men's sportswear for spring 1960. The range of ideas is further increased, by having the sports shirts, sweaters, slacks, walk shorts, sports jackets and outerwear, keyed to either Continental or Ivy styling. Some new models combine features of both Continental and traditional design.

Take sports shorts, for instance. They cover a dazzling range from larger classic patterns to oriental motifs, from modern abstract prints to bold designs marked by "documentary" motifs of early Americana.

Button-down Ivy sports shirt collars, curved Continental collars and plain easy-fitting collars are all part of the new leisure wear picture.

Outerwear, light in weight yet warm enough for the chilliest spring days and summer nights, also combines good looks with its easy-to-wear practicality.

Button-front jackets have made a strong comeback, taking their place alongside the zip-up jackets, and many of both types are made in the easy-to-care-for wash-wear constructions.

Sweaters, light in weight but loaded with comfort for Spring, include coat-like cardigans, knit vests, boat-necks, crew-necks and many more V-necks than have been seen in the recent past. Zephyr-weight shell-stitches with a silky hand vie with traditional cable-knit tennis types. There are even sweater coats that will remind you of blazers.

COLOR SPECTRUM

Colors in the new spring and summer sweaters range over the whole spectrum. Starting with new golds and olives, they go on from there to pale pastel hues, medium tones and brilliant tones, used alone or to accent whites.

The new spring and summer sports jackets are bold in pattern, trim in cut and include bright colors, muted effects and deep solid-toned blazers.

India madras will be among the most popular of the lightweight sports jackets in all the combinations of colors for which this hand-woven fabric is famous. Look for madras effects also in the new wash-wear fabrics.

There are new midweight sports jackets for early spring wear as well as for chilly summer nights. These, too, are bold in color and pattern.

LIGHTWEIGHT JACKETS

Blends of man-made fibers with either worsted or wool, are the basis for some of the newest featherweight sports jackets. Some of these have a tweedy look while others have a smooth finish similar to that of tropical worsteds.

In real hot weather, wash-wear sports jackets in blends as well as pure cottons will be comfortable and keep their crisp appearance on even the most humid days.

Spring slacks have been fancied-up, too. Plaids, checks and stripes have been added for wear with solid-color blazers and shirts.

THIS FETCHING drip-dry cotton dress in red or black check is perfect for spring and summer. It is styled with a Sabrina neck, ruffled flounce on the bodice and ric-rac trim. Available at Marin Smart Shop in San Rafael.

Hoisery Has Hues To Compliment All

Whatever the color in fashion, new hosiery offers a hue to compliment it. Since whitened colors lead for spring, it follows that the majority of stocking shades are pale and soft—misty greens, rosy pinks, delicate beiges, cloud grays, subtle blues, hazy violets.

Along with these hues go the basics — black, often frosted; blue, deepened to blend with navy; other complementary beiges, browns and grays.

Stockings in sparkling nylon introduce a new look for spring. They are usually in pastel colors, with the built-in luster of the nylon, to coordinate with pastel luster leather shoes.

White, New Colors Sharing Popularity In Children's Shoes

White and a variety of new colors share popularity in children's spring shoes. Interest in white gets an assist from washable white leather, which can be wiped clean with a damp, soapy cloth, according to the Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

New colors, often combined with white, include smoky neutrals, sunny tans, warm browns, scarlet-to-medium reds, pewter grays and off-whites.

Boys' shoes follow Dad's lead, with washable white or suede leather plugs frequently seen in moc-front styles, and washable white combined with black or brown in wing-tip styles for older boys. There are more slip-ons, too.

Little girls' shoes are more sophisticated and more colorful. Girls as young as six or seven can now wear party shoes in patent leather or black suede, with one-inch heels that curve in like big sister's Louis heels.

Colors in patent leather range from non-cracking black to red, bronze, copper and flight blue.

Casuals for girls include new slip-on styles with variations on the moc front. School shoes feature heart-shaped vamp patterns, fancy instep and T straps and swivel straps that can be worn behind the heel so the shoe becomes a pump.

Girls Dress For Active Fashion Life

Little girl styles are ready for an active and fashionable spring-into-summer. Even the pretty party sheers show they can take it! They play hard; clean easily.

Dresses and sportswear flaunt a gay old-fashioned country air in new versions of Early American, Provincial, and Tyrolean themes. Quaintly demure calico and gingham checks, plaids, striped ticking, cotton bandana prints, homespuns and khaki cords shape easily into modern fashions for little girls.

MARKED BY RICK-RACK

Rick-rack braid trim makes its playful mark on many styles. Appliques, laces, embroidery, ribbons and bright buttons also accent little girls' styles, including coats, jacket-dresses, suits.

Denim is very newsy! One faded blue denim pleated skirt and boxy jacket is worn with a frisky red and white checked gingham blouse. Navy, red and white are a classic spring combination, charting a nautical course.

White is important alone or lightening spring's muted colors. There are many dressy white coats, sailor dresses and suits trimmed with colorful braid.

IMITATE MOM

Among ensembles for a well-groomed look is a heather tweed boxy coat with matching skirt and color-blended checked jacket. "Going out" dresses with matching jackets imitate Mom's costume look, and separates add up to many fashionably coordinated outfits.

There are lots of attractive pinafores, cotton knits, skinny pants, loose cropped tops, shirtwaists—some with matching weskits. Mexican duos sport fringe trim.

Coats get set for spring in worsted wools, basketweaves, wool-like cottons. Fitted checks and easy tweeds are most popular, although solid-colored coats are seen in classic boy-coat and Chesterfield manner.

'HORSE OPERA'

Suits Offer Many New Variations

The clothing picture for Spring 1960 encompasses more action and certainly more variety than a TV horse opera, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

The American Continental suit, introduced only a short time ago, has taken off with all the zip of a moon rocket. It is now worn in many interpretations, including those with square tailored shoulders as well as those with natural shoulders. There are two-button Continentals, three-button Continentals, and Continentals with lapels that are peaked, semi-peaked, notched and in the rounded "clover leaf" style.

But with all their poularity Continentals are getting some stiff competition from the classic natural shoulder Ivy styles and the trimly tailored American Ambassador models as well as the extremely popular conservative style known as the American Natural model.

As a result, the American man can select the model that best suits his tastes and still be on the fashion ball.

WIDE SELECTION

His choice is really even wider than these four popular models would suggest. Take the matter of weight, for instance. For early spring wear there is a greatly expanded selection of the newly popular midweights. These midweights, as their name indicates, are lighter than Fall and Winter suits, yet heavier than the featherweight Summer constructions.

COLORS LIGHTER

The dark shades that have been so popular in these suits have given way to the newer medium and medium-light colors.

Among the new effects are silk-like weaves with a soft sheen, self-weaves that simulate the luxurious imported tropical worsteds, miniature glen plaids and subdued hounds tooth checks.

There are also many variations of stripes — some the classic pin stripes, others the shadow stripes, cluster stripes and patterned stripes.

For wear during the dog days — especially when traveling and vacationing — are the now universally accepted wash-wear suits.

Vast improvements have been made in both the "drip-dry" type that is washed, hung to dry while dripping wet and presses itself while drying, and in the "automatic" wash-wears that can be put through the complete washing and drying cycles of home washers.

Many of the midweights are made of pure wools — others are blended of mixtures of wool and man-made fibers. There are dressy midweights, casual midweights and midweight flannels than can be dressed-up for business wear or dressed-down for less formal occasions.

Bolder patterning, in both dressy and sports suits, is one of the common denominators for spring 1960. Checks, plaids and intricate "self-patterns" are seen with increasing frequency — offering a welcome change from the plain types.

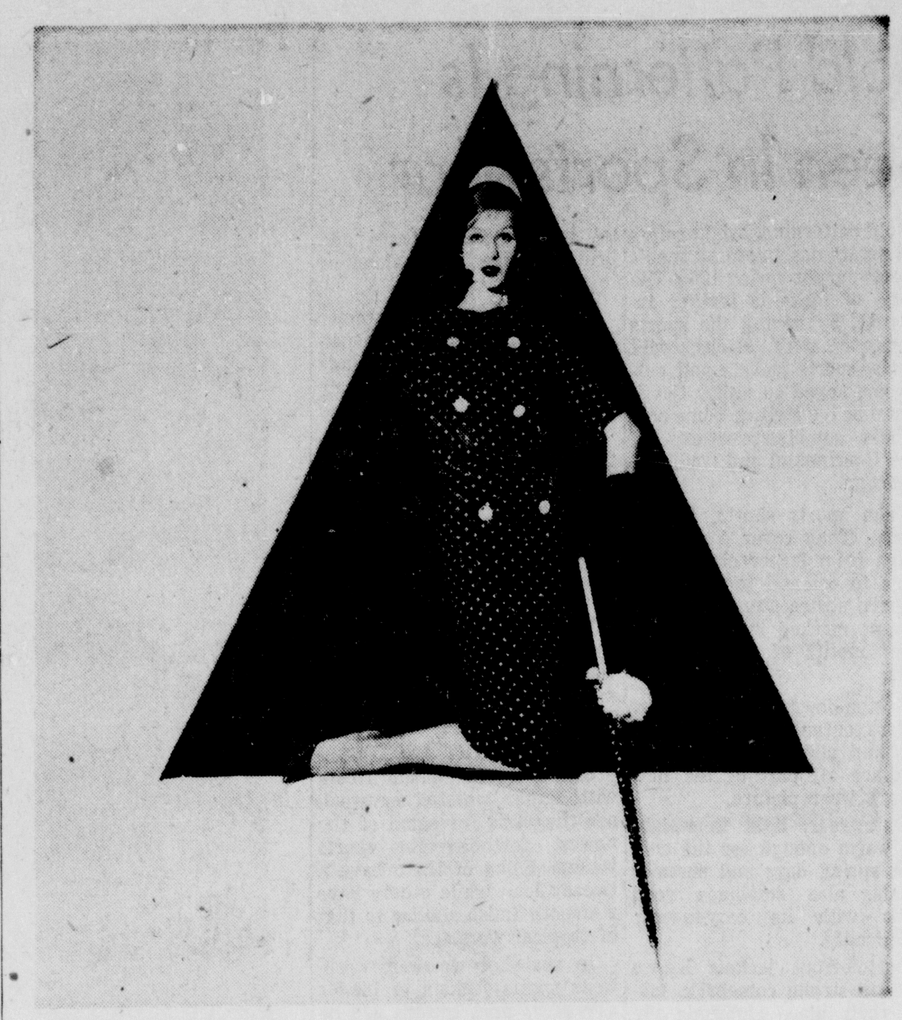

Soft shades of olive are extremely popular this spring and, according to the fashion experts, they will be here for a long time. The olive tones range from deep black-olives to olives blended with grays or soft tans to create new looking medium shades. Burnished grays, browns and blues round out the spring-like color spectrum.

Formally Correct

The Continental influence will be prominent in summer dinner jackets. Coats are shorter with more front opening, more shape, more tapered sleeves. Shawl collar models are most popular.

Well Suited

Sharkskin and gabardine make a strong comeback as fabrics for suits. Other popular choices include silk, silk-wool blends, supple crepes and jerseys and dressy ottomans.

THE BLOUSON SHEATH is a wonderful way to step into spring. Polka dots dance gaily over richly-textured linen-like silk. It features a new standaway collar, double row of pearl buttons and self-bowed belt. Available at R and M Style Shops, San Rafael and Novato.

IT'S A GOOD SUIT STORY, WITH FLATTERY, SURPRISES IN PLOT

Main plot of the spring suit story is to provide styles to please and flatter every woman.

Like all good stories, it offers some happy surprises. Hints of a lower waistline, a move toward fullness in skirts, and deep, wide, cropped-short sleeves create interest.

Some new characters are introduced, and some familiar ones appear in a new-season mood.

Crisply tailored suits with longer jackets—wrist to fingertip length—emphasize distinctive detail, such as seaming for dropped shoulder effect.

Gentle flare refreshes the tunic suit. Walking suits, with jackets long enough to double as coats, continue in popularity.

Subtle means are often used to suggest a long torso line. Cut-away jackets, dipping lower in back; jackets with peplums; and low-placed seaming or other details on suit skirts achieve this effect.

Spring Pajama Game

Pajamas, too, have their own newsmakers for the "guys." Embossed cottons have replaced seersuckers and very lightweight printed lawns for sweltering summer nights are providing a touch of luxury. Many nautical prints here; lots of boatnecks and more and more shorts styles!

Seasonless Look

The white coat on one hand and the dark tweed coat on the other epitomize a seasonless look in spring coats and answer the big demand for travel wear.

Tall, Gal?

Tall, gal? Don't wear flats. Use medium heels. They flatter legs, look dressier.

Sleep Fashions Are 'Dreamy'

It's going to be difficult this Spring to tell sleepware from sportswear or dresses.

Waltz length gowns, for example, are designed with the same look as bare-top warm-weather dresses. The fabric is just about your only clue to a difference.

The "Baby Doll" gown, though looking new for Spring, is basically the same popular style. But this fashion is going to the beach this summer, so it too has a day-time counterpart.

Pajama bottoms look like capris, toreador pants, shorts (anything but the full-legged pjs of old). Topping them are split level blouses cut full for comfort, cropped tops, jackets — all style news.

Robes are designed with lounging in mind — very attractive yet comfortable.

Long gowns come in for more fit around the bust and midriff than past seasons.

And everywhere you look — those wonderful easy-care fabrics have taken on gay, exciting, so-feminine patterns and luscious, luscious colors.

More use of trim in laces, embroideries and novelty effects add extra spice to the dream-time concoctions stirred up by fashion designers.

In Paris, the girls are wearing chains—around their waist (instead of a belt), around their finger (instead of a wedding ring), around their neck (instead of a choker, around the wrist (instead of a bracelet).

Separates, Shirtwaists Are Favored

More individuality is the fashion rule among high school and college girls this spring. Where, formerly, campus fads often led to a sameness in dressing, now the girls are putting more stress on a personally becoming, and somewhat different, look.

There is, of course, a fashion resemblance among them, since clothes for the young set reflect the general spring trends, with wide sleeves, many costumes, fuller skirts and paler colors notable. Each girl chooses from the season's favorite styles, then creates her own special air of fashion.

The differences may come from the way new "separate" separates, designed for more mixing, less matching, are put together, or it may be in the accessories chosen to accent a cropped-jacket suit, a Chanel-mood costume or a braid trimmed coat.

Both high school and college agers give a high rating to shirtwaists and separates. They lead busy lives, needing clothes for school, for dates and parties, for sports, for leisure, for varied activities. Mixable separates can fill numerous wardrobe needs, and a change of accessories makes a shirtwaist suitable for many different occasions. Costumes are liked for the same reason.

Since members of the young set always had a warm spot in their hearts, and a place in their wardrobes for some bouffant-skirted fashions, they welcome the return of wider skirts.

Cropped jackets over sheaths and Chanel-look jackets or easy tops over pleated skirts are two favorite young choices. Dressy, feminine bouffants and well-tailored casuals are mainstays of the high schooler's wardrobe. She prefers short jackets for her suits and costumes, and normal, belted waistlines.

For variety, the college girl spices her wardrobe with an occasional lowered-waistline fashion. Cutaway jackets are a well-liked way of suggesting the longer torso.

VERY MUCH IN the swim is the "La Ballade" — one of a new collection of limited editions in swim wear. The suit is black mantilla lace over lastex with a matching lace jacket. Available at Sarrae's in San Rafael.

'Chanel' Beret Stays On Top For Springtime

An important stand-out on the milinery scene is the Chanel beret. Perfect complement to the many, many Chanel-type suits on the horizon for Spring —these smart hats really rate the headlines!

Arched shoulders, dropped sleeves, deepened armholes and other silhouette influences of the new season collections call for a "high-hatted" look in millinery accents.

Besides the high-riding Chanel beret, there are lofty toques, conical crowns, high profiles brims and high-crowned cloches to set the "high-hat" mood in Spring millinery.

This beret is larger than in seasons past — also is more bloused-looking — is usually trimmed with braid for contrast —most often wears a ribbon cocarde for accent, and appears in a wide assortment of straws, straw cloths, jersies and all the new millinery fabrics!

Jewelry Plays Dramatic Role

Jewelry plays its role as fashion accent more dramatically than ever this season. Simple silhouettes, emphasis on sleeves and shoulders, and soft or light hues call fors upport from jewelry with personality.

Large earrings, bold pins, shortened necklaces and bracelets each have a share in the limelight. The out-size earrings, in floral, dome, drop or upswept shapes, are part of the fashion plan to play up the top of the silhouette.

Pins, often with big, flashing stones, make an effective show on sleeves, shoulders, collars and wide belts. Along with the upward movement go necklaces in many shortened styles — among them, the dog-collar look, bibs, chokers. Beads are important.

Since scarcely a sleeve reaches to the wrist this spring, bracelets have a good chance to shine. Bangles, chains, wide stone bracelets and new styles in charm bracelets are some of the choices.

Jewelry in subtle tones blend with spring costumes. A companion trend to the exotic look presents jewelry in rich colors, with a continuation of the Far Eastern influence and much interest in stones.

Simulated semi-precious stones, such as jade, turquoise, coral and topaz, take the limelight in many designs. Faceted stones blaze with brilliance, and sometimes combine with cascades of beads.

STYLES FROM AROUND THE WORLD SPARK INTRIGUING LEATHER WEAR

Whether you prefer to look like an exotic geisha girl, a demure English gentlewoman, or a Spanish contessa this season, you can turn the trick with new cosmopolitan leather fashions.

American leather-wear designers have created a host of intriguing new "looks" inspired from styles all over the world and adapted to the American woman's taste.

Working with unusually soft, drapable leathers, including suede, cabretta, cowhide and kid, the designers have fashioned an entire wardrobe of leather garments for all times of day, from at-home lounging slacks to full-dress evening coats.

The tunic look is seen in English-type leather and tweed walking suits and in Russian-style suede tunic-and-slacks combinations. The walking suit tunic, in smooth or suede leather, is three-quarter length with a plain or tuxedo front, narrow sleeves, roomy shoulders and a big collar.

For a more casual look, the tunic may be pulled in at the waist with a self-belt.

The Spanish look features the very feminine bolero jacket in soft crushed leathers with plain or fancy styling. For town or dressy campus wear, there are leather boleros with bone or leather buttons — or no buttons at all — combined with matching leather, tweed or gabardine skirts.

A smart notion is to add a matched pair of leather slacks or clamdiggers for glamorous informal entertaining.

From the Orient comes the kimono look. It's at its most dazzling on beautiful full-length mandarin coats in velour-lined smooth leather or silk-lined suede for wear with a formal gown or cocktail dress on a chill evening.

Pure white, icy blue, Chinese red, lavender and other colors of the season are especially vibrant and effective in these elegant leather coats.

From the British girls' schools comes the blazer look, interpreted in smart practical leathers for the American college or career girl. You can choose yours plainly tailored with no frills except a colorful emblem on the breast pocket, or fancy with ornate braid sewed down the front along the closing.

The Chanel look in boxy leather jackets and cardigans is first cousin to the blazer and, like the blazer, is often worn with a pleated skirt.

IMPACT OF TRAVEL SEEN IN FASHION

Growing interest in travel strongly influences current fashions. Though spring is the season, many of the most attractive new suits, dresses, coats and separates know no season. They are planned for any-time, any-place, any-temperature wear.

Both silks and lightweight woolens are rapidly becoming year-round fabrics. Synthetics, cottons and blends cover the calendar and the continents.

Easy care and wrinkle resistance are home-or-travel advantages. All-weather lining for coats extend their usefulness.

Styling plays a part. The versatile dress and jacket-or-coat is a favorite at home or away. Mixable separates make it easy to create many "looks."

Result can be a wardrobe right anywhere in the world with year-round practicality.

PRETTY STRAPS poised on slim fashionable heels highlight these attractive shoes for spring. "La Scala" is really a shoe that supports you gently with its vinyl panel and cushioned, hidden platform. Available at Herbert's Shoes, San Rafael.

Light, Airy Effects Lead Spring Parade

Leading the hat parade into spring are sailor shapes, looking newest with up-swept fronts, and many expressions of height, including tall pillboxes, turbans, toques which often telescope, and cloches with bell crowns.

"Hattier" hats, stressing bulk with a light and airy effect, usually show forward movement in one way or another, leaving it to the little hats to sit on the back of the head. The latter are styled in a dressy vein, with trimmings of feather wings, flowers or veils.

BERETS MOVE BACK

Attractive exceptions are large, full-blown berets which move to the back of the head. Navy and white is a favorite color combination here, and these berets are particularly recommended for wear with pleated-skirt suits, Chanel-mood ensembles and suits with short young jackets and lightly rounded skirts.

Height and "hattiness" both are helpful in complementing the many spring silhouettes that emphasize top interest, through widened shoulders and short, full sleeves.

Flower hats continue to garner bouquets. All-flower types in unusual color combinations are offered as accompaniments to white and whitened tones. The "flowers-under-glass" look —flowers seen through veiling —is a pretty one. Fruits and flowers combine for still another spring effect.

Fabric hats appear in flower prints and geometric patterns with muted tones. There are chiffons, stitched fabrics, crepes and silk jersies. Polka-dot silk is used for many turbans.

Another important group of hats abjures flowers in favor of presenting a silhouette through simplicity of line with, perhaps, a veil or a grosgrain band for the only trim. Often, such silhouettes are classically good ones that not only harmonize with this spring's fashions but might also stay in the hat wardrobe for several seasons.

Straws, strawcloths and novelty braids frequently emphasize texture. Straw bandings are featured either sewn together or, for an airy effect, stitched on net. Milan and many light and lacy braids contribute to the airy look.

In colors, white and neutrals play an important role. Very bright, clear hat hues are liked as the one colorful accent for costumes in white, misty pastels or neutrals.

Important color ranges are gold, from chamois to buttercup; blue, from ice to sapphire; and carnation pink to ruby.

Spring Suntan

In sweaters for spring, the cropped classic cardigan continues as a headliner. There's also a trend to tunic-length sweaters. The new bulkies — wool and orlon — feature lighter weight and lacier knits.

Cropping The Coat

Stopping short at seven-eighths length are spring coats that team up with a matching skirt or complete suit. Coats in this length also pair with dresses, are lined to match.

Topping Checks

Alaska fur seal, cropped to new lengths, looks smart in black over spring-favored houndstooth checks.

Short Squaw Skirts

Squaw styles have returned to fashion in shorter skirts for square dancing. The favored material is still sheer or heavy permanently crinkled cotton; the skirt in three tiers gathered to each other with bands of piping, ribbon or narrow trimming hiding the seam joining.

Pockets Grow

Lots of patch pockets around! They grow to giant size on some gardening skirts, culottes and long tunics.

Call Of The Glen

Gray, like most other colors, lighter this spring, is partcularly favored in glen plaids.

Shirts Have Wide Variety

Dress shirts made of fabrics that "breathe," sports shirts in solid shades as well as in both woven and printed bolder patterns, are all part of the men's fashion picture for spring.

There are millions of tiny "portholes" in the new dress short fabrics that act as a built-in air-conditioning unit in shirts designed for warm weather wear. Known technically as "skipdents," "lenos" and "meshes," these cool fabrics come in colors as well as in the popular whites.

Among the staple and always popular shirtings are the silky broadcloths, the end-and-end madrases and, of course, oxfords.

A great many of these shirts are made with half-sleeves this spring, a comfort feature that is increasingly accepted each year. With those short sleeves are an unusually wide choice of collar styles.

Among the newest colors are the "Golden Hues"—soft yellow tones that are often blended with new olive shades and others.

The sports shirts accent both solid shades and the newer, bolder prints and woven designs. Every man needs a good assortment of each. For wear with his new bold-pattern sports jackets, he will need solids, while he will want to wear the bold-pattern shirts with his solid-color blazer. Here, too, there is a wide choice of collar styles in both the Continental and Ivy models.

Many of the Continentals have so-called "engineered" effects—planned panels, collars and cuffs of a different fabric or color. The Ivies continue to stress button-down collars as well as tabless tabs and neat plain collars.

Perfect Figuring Foundations Aim

Perfect figuring in new fashions is assisted by foundations that take thought of spring's marked waistlines and fuller sleeves, as well as the bared backs and wide decolletage in late-day dresses.

Most important are foundations that offer control for the waist area. These include long line brassieres, bra-lettes, corselets and high-top girdles.

Cuff tops have been added to pull-on-girdles, for example, to lift the top line and thus mold the waist. Brassieres have been lengthened, to anchor below rather than just at the waistline.

There are many short, cinch-type bra-lettes along with the long, gently shaped styles.

To avoid any illusion of top heaviness through the widened sleeve with deep underarm cut, brassieres are designed to shape a high and rounded line, with no hint of accentuation.

Princess cuts, eliminating underbust seams, create a smooth subtly shaped line for the deep-armhole fashions.

Brassieres with elastic framing the cups are numerous, too, giving the new styles an air of ease.

For late-day fashions, with wide-necked bodices and low back cuts, there are many bandeaux which fasten around the waist, brassieres with wide-set straps, and strapless foundations.

A FAVORITE with westerners is this 100 per cent virgin wool topster. In new spring colors and plaids, it is superb for sports or for the spectators. Available at Louis George Men's Fine Apparel, Corte Madera Shopping Center.

'BANDERO,' new Princess line ovals the toe of this delightful shoe. With the strap back, it's a pump; swivel the strap forward and it's a traditional buckle-up. Crisp patent leather with a pert button on draped calf band. Available at McKenzie's Children's Bootery, San Rafael.

Shorter Sleeves Draw Interest To Fresh Glove Style, Colors

Spring fashions with their new shorter sleeves draw interest to the hands. Spring gloves keep it there.

Gloves in soft, handsome leathers are seen in muted, misty colors that match suits and dresses, or in sharp, spicy tones that flavor an ensemble.

One favorite cool color is a pale yellow shade. Other hues include delicate bone, light green and an understated coral. Strong tones lean to bright fuchsia, deep brown and red in smooth and sueded leathers.

As always, white gloves are a basic spring item.

Keyed to the soft, fluid look of spring dresses, daytime gloves are decorated in a variety of ways — eyelet embroidery, diamond-shaped cutouts, self-leather bows and covered buttons. Tiny pearl buttons adorn shorties as well as four and six-button gloves.

Leather shorties are frequently seen with scalloped cuffs, while long gloves sometimes have horizontal shirring up the back.

Tailored and casual gloves favor saddle-stitched effects and corded seam cuffs.

Jewelry Is The 'Frosting' On The Fashion 'Cake' This Spring

Jewelry is literally the "frosting" on the fashion "cake" this spring! New styles demand jewelry of all types to give them excitement and drama — reports the Fashion Coordination Institute.

Jewelry will be playing the leading role for eye appeal, color accent and glamour.

Here are some big, important jewelry fashion specifies:

Necklaces are shorter and higher; bracelets have a new chunky look and a newly important role; earrings are bigger; pins of all sizes have new roles, and the color story provides a new, elegant accent to the clothes and the woman.

The biggest spring color story in all fashion is the "look of white." It ranges from pure dead-white clothes to the softly whitened look of pastels and the strong, clean note of white to accent solids and prints. The same color story is repeated in jewelry.

There is a dazzling array of "the white look" in spring jewelry. Frosty pearls of all sizes . . . clear, cool crystal beads . . . beads with streaks of white running through them . . . white touches on gold and color, and a new summer importance for rhinestones tell the color story.

In addition, the soft beiges, grays, driftwood and oatmeal shades rank with a lovely darkened, softened green. Neutral dress and suit colors are repeated in spring jewelry to lend a smart one-color touch to ensembles.

Shorter and wider sleeves have dictated a whole new cluster of jewelry trends. The long, bare expanse of arm demands bracelets and more bracelets. Both rigid bangles and flexible bracelets are notably important, and the trick is to wear several on both arms — or a whole line of them on one arm.

Rings, too, come into new prominence in this season of spotlight attention on the "jeweled look" for arms and hands.

Wide-spreading sleeves, including the "lampshade," the kimono and the nostalgic "batwing," have sparked a wide and dramatic use of pins. They are worn perched out on the shoulder seam to emphasize width.

A duet of matching pins, one used on the shoulder and another at the belt line, draw the eye straight along the fashion-significant shape of the sleeve.

Fabrics Are Crisp, Airy Textured And Polished

Fabrics for spring fashions range from crisp to airy, from subtly textured to smoothly polished.

Ottomans, in silk, wool, or cotton, exemplify the discreet look in texture. The subtle ease of new styles leads to prominence for crepes—wool, silk, rayon and other synthetics — knits and knit effects.

Widely-popular silk is all things to all fashions — sometimes smooth and satiny, sometimes rustling-crisp, and, again sheer and airy. As for surface texture, silk has every kind, from the slubs of shantung to the ribs of ottoman.

Interest in worsteds spurs increased use of twill, covert, sharkskin, gabardine and other smooth-of-surface, crisp-to-touch fabrics. Although most are derived from menswear, they're given the feminine feeling through lighter weight.

Many wools have the airy look — basketweaves, hopsackings, tweeds. Boucles and petit point effects carry out the trend to feminine refinement in fabrics.

Lustrous zibelines stand out among the polished fabrics. Blending of fibers, natural and man-made, continues at a great rate.

Whether alone or in blends, both the man-made fibers and cotton concentrate on making a fresh, different appearance.

Preference for the supple and airy in fashion fabrics is responsible for two unusual developments. Supple wool and worsted jerseys are present in quantities surprisingly large for this season of the year, while airy cotton sheers such as voile and lawn are on hand earlier than customary.

The Silhouette

Spring millinery moves to the back of the head. The important silhouettes are the roller, breton, puffed-up beret and the "halo" — all, leaving the forehead in view.

JUST A BACKWARD GLANCE AT PAST FASHION DECADE

As the world of fashion looks ahead to a new era—it might be fun to refresh our memories of "what has been . . . "

How quick we are to accept the new and quickly forget the past . . . Dior's "New Look" . . . Balenciaga's "Relaxed Look" and everybody's "Chemise Look" . . . and others.

But as the 1960's begin, let's review the old (because sooner or later, we'll see variations on all these themes)—fashions like history repeat themselves.

1949—a most conservative year. The battle of Dior's almost ankle-length full, full skirts and nipped-in waistlines had resolved itself into a hesitant acceptance of the fitted suit, the narrow skirt and the somewhat shorter "length." 1950—Out of the billowing ruffles underskirts, circle skirts, etc., etc., a shape began to emerge slowly. Skirts began to dome or bell, and the midriff came into its own.

The early '50's—fashion went into a dither about the bustline! High round bosoms, built-in boning to accent the bosom, and low-cut revealing necklines—became the rallying fashions.

The later '50's—waistlines went up, went down and finally disappeared into the "chemise."

Hemlines climbed up, up . . . and the form feminine became a form of conjecture! After a hectic year of mass-acceptance, the chemise just faded away—however, fashion continued to stress the relaxed look.

And through the past decade, myriads of designers put the American woman through the ups and downs of rising and descending waistlines and hemlines . . . straight skirts, tight skirts and hobble skirts as well as voluminous skirts, full skirts and barely-full skirts.

Fashions have been pouffed and draped, or pared down and "scraped" . . . pleats have been in and they have been out . . . colors have been "high" and they have been in a low key. Throughout it all, three important names emerged triumphant . . . the House of Dior, Balenciaga and the great Chanel.

Regardless of what happened to the silhouette, fashion's plateau continued high . . . "wash and wear" . . . "drip dry" . . "machine washable" — all have become household words to the nation and the fashion world

The most expensive lavish creations today are often "washable." Fabrics have never been more wonderful, as the miracles of science and nature blend together in rich weaves, true colors and shape-holding finishes.

INSPIRED BY TAHITI are these new muu muus. From the first collection of fun fashions, the floor length muu muu has side-slits for freedom of movement. The "Tonga" and "Oceania" prints on the fine combed cotton are in vibrant colors pirated from the South Seas. Available at Geller's, San Rafael.

Fitted, Belted Slim Designs Have Favor

Versatile coats, with massive sleeves, curved shoulders and a fullness that makes them practical to wear over many fashions, are growing ever more popular for the spring '60 season.

While fullness is the dominant trend, there's a distinctive variety of fitted, easy-fitted and belted coats, for those who prefer a slimmer silhouette. Double-breasted coachman styles are prominent. Roomy wrap coats show graceful gentility.

A favorite version of fullness is the cape-backed coat with flat front. In some interpretations, shoulder seams are set forward, providing extra width for the back.

Fashionable bell shaping distinguishes many of the full coats. Others taper to a modified flare in front, with a straight, loose back.

Reversible coats appear importantly, with new fabrics and colors to give them spring airs. Check and solid, tweed and solid, and two solids are interplayed in muted hues.

There are various wide sleeve effects: dolman cuts, deep underarm fullness, pouffed push-up versions, kimono styles and many other adaptations.

BLOSSOM IN BELL

Deep Sleeve, Cinched Waist Creates Drama In Dresses

Newsiest style trends in this spring's lovely florescence of dresses are the deep sleeve, cinched waist and rounded hipline. Enchancing the costume look, jacketed dresses are very impressive. The coat dress is a great favorite.

Silk has a major fashion fabric role. Variations on the shoulder width theme, some lowering of waistlines and adjusting of hems, belling of shirtwaists and rippling of pleats all add to spring fashion drama in dresses.

Highlighting top width, sleeves blossom big in bell, three-quarter puffed and wide batwing shapes. There's ample under-arm fullness emphasized in dolman sleeves or loosely draped over-the-shoulder styles. Lower setting of sleeves adds to the popular "dropped shoulder" idea.

This designer technique is also played up with removable capelets, large round collars and bi-color sectioning, especially effective on the more popular slim skirts.

Black and white is a leading color combination for spring. White lace ruffles at cuffs and necklines are pretty and feminine. Ruffles have generally gained importance, showing on hemlines and cuffs of after-five dresses and set in tiers on party and evening dresses.

Black dress costumes have white inset bodices and white lined jackets, some reversible.

Spring is truly a silk season with tweeds, surah, linen-like silks, taffeta and chiffon showing up beautifully. Cotton and silk blends, along with many novelty fabrics that have a silken effect, register an easy informal note for daytime wear.

Silk print costumes feature muted florals in subtle tones of blue, brown and cocoa including fine brushstroke plaids and splash prints. There are more vivid tones too, such as sapphire blue and raspberry red.

Wools are often lacy and sheer.

Dominant neckline is round and high, using large collars, very small ones or none at all. Waists are taut, either belted or inset midriffs. Some hems are lowered to or just below the calf for better balance with the top-interest silhouette.

In The Swim

The new season's swimwear will feature multi-color knitted wools in off-beat cololrs, such as olive, gold and brown paisleys. Blue, green and gray wide vertical stripes will also be popular.

Hold The Press

Look for more wool slacks with "permanent creases" this spring. A new process impregnates the crease into the wool. Trousers with this process are said to regain their press even after a drenching April shower.

Men's Shoes Are Lighter And Brighter

Men's leather shoes are marching in a more leisurely rhythm this spring, according to the Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America. The great increase in leisure and leisure clothing has inspired an abundance of new casual footwear in light airy leathers and bright spring and summer shoe color.

White is the most striking spring and summer shoe color. Washable white leather, usually in a distinctive pebble grain, is used on casual tie styles and slip-ons. White, in either washable or suede or brushed leathers, is also combined with brown or black in both casual and dress-casual shoes.

The brown leather colors new this spring include: hawthorn, darkish brown shade usually seen in grain leather; dark oak, a blackened brown with a subtle bronze undertone; maverick, a medium brown with a very slight greenish undertone; gaucho, a cool tan tobacco tone, especially popular combined with white; American burgundy, a deep cordovan that goes with almost any color.

Slip-ons, once limited to the unlined moccasin, today are seen in polished, waxy-finish fine-grain and shrunken grain leathers. Casual weekend slip-ons have moc toes with raised stitching limited to the vamp or traveling on back to the heel.

Silk Shirtwaists Shimmer Smartly

This Spring silk sparkles everywhere — but with no more elegance or distinction than in the new shirtwaist dresses.

Silk shirtwaists express themselves best in pure silks, silk shantungs or in silk organzas. They are most often appearing in checks, shadow plaids, novelty prints or vibrant solid hues.

Collars are most often shawl-styled; skirts are full and flattering . . . sleeves are generally three-quarter length.

Yes, the shirtwaist story is best told in silk this season.

For-Fun Hats

Fun hats are fashion headlines! Casual and sports headwear feature country raffias, cocoanuts and fringed panamas. Bands range from thin ropes to wide, bndana types in Caribbean prints and Madras types. All colorful conversation pieces for a man's wardrobe.

Look Out, Brigette! Now U.S. Males Take To Bikinis

This year's bevy of bathing "beauties" come in two sexes —male and female!

Yes, this summer as many eyes will be focused on the American male in his fun-styled swim wear as on the "mermaids."

At long last, the bikini has been adopted by the American man. Long a favorite at popular European and other foreign seaside resorts — the bikini now tempts the men to dare to bare in this — the briefest of briefs!

Or — he'll find fun and fashion both in the to-the-knee length striped knit pants. Their gay colors and novelty styling, make these reminiscent of the "Twenties."

For the more conservative, most swim trunks continue to hold their own in more conventional lengths but come alive in bright colors, fanciful patterns and novelty motifs.

Cover-ups topping the pants styles will be in a wide variety of novelty meshes, knits, printed cottons and blends — in pullovers, cardigans, jack-shirts and others.

Topmost for fun are a wide variety of novelty straw hats and "just-for-kicks" caps.

THE SANDALS that made history when Barrie Chase danced on the Fred Astaire television show employ all the Grecian simplicity to make you, too, have the look of a dancer. Available at The Sandal, Sausalito.

How To Gather Skirt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gathering the top of a cotton skirt is easy when you use the sewing machine. Make a slight adjustment in the stitch length or in the upper tension. Use a normal length of stich and a loose top tension, or a long stitch with normal tension. Stitch once on the seamline and again ¼ inch away, toward the seam edge. Pull the under threads to draw up the gathers.

Belts Are Back In Fashion Focus

The well-defined waistline is back in all its beauty this spring, and white leather belts help focus attention to it! Not only all-white belts but black, pastel and brilliant-hued leathers are accented liberally with white to encircle the waist with flattery!

Though waistlines are slightly lower this season, traces of the high Empire line still linger! Hence, many leather belts are pleated, cuffed and softly sashed to give wanted waistline variations.

Ranging from the narrowest sliver of fabric, leather of metal, newest belts flash imaginative detailing and colors, right into the wiset sash-types!

All blacks and all whites, and the two combined, are in the lead — however every tint and color value—from creamy vanilla to the sunniest brown — are smart and new!

Dresses Are More Feminine Looking For Season Ahead

In gay cottons, lots and lots of elegant sheers, soft and supple silks, jacquards, linens . . . plain, embroidered, patterned, textured or printed . . . dress news is one of variety and elegance.

Top width created by the many new sleeve and shoulder handlings is the dominant silhouette. Kimona, batwing and flaring cape-like sleeves are the more newsy sleeve detailings.

Waistlines are definitely defined with belts, sashes, inset midriffs and other 'round the middle emphasis.

Hiplines are rounded; sheath shaping, easy fullness, slim-pleated skirts; below-the-waist shirring and other detail help suggest the new somewhat lower waistline.

Jackets, sweater, tunics, coats and other grace notes when added to the new dresses create the important ensemble look, so dominant throughout the Spring fashion scene.

The overall look to dress fabrics is prettier, softer, more feminine — with more sheers shown.

Pale colors lead the pre-Easter dress parade and will follow through summer — especially in beige, smoky pearl grey and ivory. Black and white is the most popular combination; with a big hooray for red, white and blue; a bright navy stays on the spring scene, too.

In the classic styles, countless checks, miniature plaids, assorted geometrics, muted stripes — all vie for attention.

Subteen Has Pick Of New Spring Ideas

Into a subteen's spring wardrobe might go:

Plenty of shirtdresses, in madras-type plaids, batik prints or new "no-color" hues for a '60 look; a Chanel-influence suit, perhaps in a check or a glen plaid; a white wool coat, Chesterfield style, for ultra-fashion; and, always, sportswear, from active crop-tops and deck pants to skirts and jackets to switch about for all manner of suit looks.

This is just another way of saying that the junior high girl will have her spring choice of the fashion items she especially favors (shirtdresses and separates, for instance) together with the cream of the season's new ideas in what-to-wear.

"Cream" might be the guiding word, since there's an abundance of pale-beige and white fashions around.

Many of these are in washable fabrics, but, easy care or not, white-and-light wearables for the subteen are a flattering assurance to her that she's growing up and can be counted on to take good care of her clothes, being cautious about smudges.

In addition to the all-white Chesterfield, another popular coat for the junior high schooler shows wide pastel plaid on white ground. Deep sleeves, big collars, cape effects and Chanel-mood braid trims and brass buttons give spring freshness to many young coats.

Suits, whether acquired as such or assembled from separates, develop two principal themes—the Chanel look with brass-buttoned cardigan skirt, and the double-breasted suit with brief jacket, slim or pleated skirt.

Checks, glen plaids, madras-type plaids and red-white-and-blue nautical coloring permeate subteen fashions from coats and suits to dresses and costumes to sportswear, with the madras types and nautical ideas particularly stressed in sportswear.

THE NEW FRONT seam treatment on this season's Slip-ons shows the American look at its finest. In soft, flexible Walnut calf, soft and shape retaining. At Kramar's Shoes, Corte Madera Shopping Center.

DREAMER is the name of this soft illusion style shoe in gleaming patent leather, ornamented with a dainty faille bow. The lightweight, flexible construction is a special feature and the actual weight is only five ounces. Available at Chapman's Shoes, San Rafael and Novato.

All Lengths In Gloves Meet Up, Down Sleeves

Fashion is declaring a "welcome to arms" this spring, and the new leather glove styles are answering with a smart salute.

A host of new feminine and tailored gloves in washable American leathers flatter the bare arms revealed by the season's new short-sleeve silhouettes.

Gloves are pale and pretty confections of white, bone or pastel leather decorated with frilly femininity or tailored sophistication.

Washable white leather leads the field, especially in the shortie length. Light airy styles are a-bloom with floral embroidery in white or pastel colors, or sprinkled with eyelets all over or along the cuff, or fringed with a scalloped edge of lace.

For a more tailored look, tiny pearl or leather buttons are placed along the cuff or at the side of the wrist. Touches of black thread on white leather add up to dramatic effects. Other tailored white shorties take a trim of contrasting binding at the cuff, or stitching outlining the fingers.

Colors in spring leather goves start with the neutrals — beige, greige and gray — and blossom out into soft flower tones, misty greens, lilac, yellow tulip and Paris rose.

Creamy tones of smoke brown and light coffee are favorites among the growing family of high-fashion brown tones in leather accessories.

Longer leather gloves—from "long shorties" to glamorous styles reaching above the elbow—are preferred by women who want to set off the short sleeves of an afternoon dress or cocktail sheath.

Men's Top Coats For Spring Are Shorter, Lighter, Bolder

Spring topcoats for 1960 are short in length, long on fashion, light in weight and heavy on pattern. These trends, impart a fresh new look to these handsome and practical garments which are designed to brave the chilly days before summer.

Shorter topcoats—the newest vary from 42½ inches to 41 inches in "regular" sizes — offer all the protection needed without that cumbersome extra length that has proved a source of annoyance to motorists as well as walkers.

In addition to the classic set-in sleeve models and the raglans, there will be an increasing number of the split-raglans that look like set-in sleeves at front and raglan sleeves at the back.

Spring days are apt to be chilly in the morning and quite warm during the middle of the day. In view of this, the stylists have created an entirely new type of topcoating fabric in what are known as "suiting weights." Some of these fabrics are sleek worsteds, such as sharkskins; others are tweeds, cheviots and gabardines. All are in the weights custmarily used in tailoring regular weight suits. Warm enough to take the chill out of nippy mornings, they are light enough to be no burden as the day grows warmer.

The first thing that men will notice about many of the new topcoats are the patterns. No longer confined to quiet shades and modest herringbones, the new patterns include big bold plaids, district checks, houndstooth checks and some strong overplaids.

Two of the outstanding models in the new Spring topcoats are the Continentals, aimed for wear with those smart dressy suits, and the Ivies, geared to complement the classic natural shoulder outfits.

Spring Ahoy!

Red, white and navy combine for a nautical mood in sportswear using white rope belts and trim sailor-type horizontally striped T shirts in red and white combined with blue slacks or shorts.

Jackets Go Dressy

Dressier sports jackets for boys are present in increasing numbers.

Green Ahead

Green appears importantly in spring hats, to complement the many fashions in this color.

Consider Growth When Buying Togs For Daughters

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—A child does not always grow proportionately in height and width and this should be kept in mind when shopping for a rapidly growing girl, Gerda Peterson, clothing specialist at the University of Nebraska, said.

She said that jumpers and skirts and blouses help to solve the school clothes problem for the growing youngster. A jumper with a straight line is a good example of the type that can grow in length as the girl grows in height.

When there is no waist-line, a belt can be moved up or down an inch or more to adjust to the girl's waistline seam.

Other tips on clothes for the growing child:

—A skirt may be purchased in one size and a blouse in another to allow for variations in growth proportions.

—A generous hem on a skirt may be let down and faced.

'BATHING BEAUTY'

Swim Fashions Run Gamut From Bikinis To Tank Suits

No matter whether you take your plunge into the sea, lake, or pool—you're bound to be a "bathing beauty" in one of the many exciting new swim suit styles!

The "Maillot" — a sheath-smooth suit with fitted or "boy" legs—is in boldly striped knits, elasticized fabrics and novelties.

The two piece swim suit is making a strong comeback performance and it's going to be a real hit!

From the briefest of "real" bikinis to modified versions of it—bra-tops and shorts go together in many smart adaptations.

Another old favorite that is returning to the swim scene—is the tank suit. It will be especially popular with small-sized women, the juniors and the young teen crowd.

Unlike its all-wool antecedents, it is now newer and smarter in Helanca knits, cotton and lastex combinations in stripes and patterns.

Many of the swim suits come to low "-s" or deep "U-s" in the front, and bare as low as possible in the back.

Boy-shorts styles continue to lead . . . this year, they pop up in polished cotton prints, in delicate fabrics like embroidered cottons, and batik type prints.

Sheath suits are especially interesting in their many exotic prints . . . high-colored lastex and novelty cottons are preferred. These styles are often shirred, sarong-draped and shaped for added glamour.

The swim ensemble is most important—the swim suit now earns dividends with the greatest possible variety of cover-ups! Matched or contrasting — shirts, jackets, full skirts, hooded shirts, Hawaiian-type teatimer tops, overblouses of every style and variety and baby-doll shifts are significent "go-withs" in mermaid ensembles.

Hat Fashions Soar To New Heights

The Spring season calls for a "hattier hat" with a stress on the bulky look — not heavy — but light!

One of the important silhouettes for spring 1960 is the Breton; the innovation: the upswept front. The newest version is banded about the crown with an upswinging brim.

There is a definite trend toward large full-blown berets worn to the back of the head or on profile. These are right for many of the suits and ready-to-wear with short, young jackets and skirts lightly gathered or rounded at the sides or for the Chanel-inspired ensembles.

Height is featured in tall pillboxes, turbans and toques which often telescope, and fezzes that keep to the back of the head are shown in many collections.

Ready-to-wear seems to demand this "high hat" silhouette because of the short bell sleeves cut just above the elbow featured in coats, suits and dresses. It gives perfect balance to the total look.

There's a great use of hand-sewn braids which are lustrous and opalescent. This medium seems to be the perfect accompaniment for the white tones (banana, cream, ivory, etc.) endorsed by fashion-conscious women.

Novelty straw bandings are featured either sewn together, or for an airy effect, stitched on net, which gives a soft, light look to many of the fuller silhouettes.

Panamalac, bali - buri and strawcloth are found in every line. There is an emphasis on texture both in hat bodies and novelty braids. For contrast there are the fine braids — sewn milan for example, and novelty lacy and light braids.

Fabrics emphasize geometric patterns with muted tones and flower prints. There are chiffons, stitched fabrics, crepes and silk jersies.

Colors are gold shades, ranging from chamois to bright buttercup yellow; blues, from ice to riviera to sapphire; reds, carnation pink to ruby; and whites and neutrals.

Foundation Underscores New Styles

Spring 1960 will be one of the most important seasons in several years for foundations.

Women are more than ready to embrace the new styles which feature the return of the fitted waist . . . and in most cases, slim skirts too. And this of course means good foundations.

One of the biggest items of news along this line is fabric, a special fabric called "Lycra." It's a wonder stretch fabric which will be found to some degree in most every foundation garment.

Here's a short summary of what to watch for in foundations if you like to try new things:

The longline bra features newly dressed up midriffs . . . trimmed with lace, sheer or embroidery. Deft shaping of the midriff sections gives the bras a more slender look too.

Elastic bras feature wings of elastic . . . and if they don't stretch with you, you are not wearing the newest.

Select your bra with special care this year as fashion is emphasizing the top . . . with new and fuller sleeves and many new innovations on the neckline. There is a bra designed for every major silhouette.

If the waist is not controlled by a cinch or a longline bra, it is of course up to the girdle to take care of this moulding job.

Girdles will do a good job this year too . . . most are designed to curve upward, many as high as to within a few inches below the bosom.

The all-in-one, as always, the best bet for complete and proper figure-control . . . and this Spring they are easier than ever to wear.

Long panties are still to be popular . . . with capris, for young figures, or whenever the firmer girdle is not needed.

Color variety will be greater this Spring too . . . with just about any color you could want for matching to other lingerie.
